Particulars as to the objects, powers, capital stock, &c., of the companies incorporated or granted Supplementary Letters Patent during the twelve months will be found in my report of the work of the Registrar's Branch of the department.

My last previous report for the period ended March 31, 1908, included a complete list of all companies to which charters either original or supplementary, or both, had been granted under the various joint stock companies acts of Canada from as far back as 1851 to that date. This list is not contained in the present report, the intention being to publish it at intervals of five years, each yearly report in the meantime to contain an annual list of the charters and supplementary charters issued in the twelve months which it covers.

NATURALIZATION OF ALIENS.

In my report as Deputy Registrar General above referred to, full particulars are given of all naturalizations effected throughout the Dominion for the twelve months since the date of the last return, viz., to December 31, 1908. Complete returns showing the names, places of residence, and former nationalities of all Canadian naturalized subjects of His Majesty are tabulated and recorded in the Registrar's Branch of the department and are always available for reference.

It affords me much pleasure to state that the returns furnished since my last report show that the number of naturalized aliens, mostly in the farming section of western Canada was more than double that of the last previous year whilst the record of cases of re-admission to British nationality indicates a fresh activity in the field of repatriation. It is also a source of gratification to note that the instructions and directions issued by this department for the preparation of returns are from year to year more closely followed by the officers required to perform that duty. The large increase in the number of naturalizations registered necessitated a corresponding increase in the cost of the returns, the payments to the returning officers, details of which will be found in the report of the Auditor General, amounting to $5,492.50. All the correspondence in connection with the returns and all the accounts for the same were dealt with in this branch.

It may not be out of place to note the amendments to the Act which, as you are aware, were made during the session of 1907 and 1908, and which may be summarized as follows:—

1. Chapter 31, 6-7 Edward VII, enables any person resident in Canada or in the service of the government of Canada or of any province of Canada, who already holds letters of naturalization obtained in the United Kingdom or in any British colony or possession, which are still in force, to apply, in the manner prescribed by this chapter, for a certificate of naturalization without having complied with the condition as to residence required under section 13 of Chapter 77 of the Revised Statutes, 1906.

2. Chapter 41, 6-7 Edward VII, amends the statute in regard to its application to the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta by providing for additional courts, known as "district courts" which are authorized to grant naturalization in accordance with the procedure therein defined.

3. Chapter 48, 7-8 Edward VII, restores to the Court of King's Bench of Manitoba the power of granting naturalization in conjunction with the county courts of that province. It also deals with the recording of oaths taken by certain aliens entitled to privileges of British birth, as well as with the presentation to the courts of oaths of residence and allegiance, which are intended to complete the court record connected with the application of aliens for naturalization.

CANADA TEMPERANCE ACT.

One election under the Canada Temperance Act took place during the year covered by this report, viz.: in the county of Westmorland, N.B., where a vote was taken on December 17, 1908, upon a petition to revoke the Order in Council by which the Act was brought into force in that county. The result was in favour of the Act by a vote of 3,923 for, to 3,241 against, the Act thus being sustained by a majority of 682.

At this date the Canada Temperance Act is in force in the following counties and cities:—

Nova Scotia.

Counties of Annapolis, Cumberland, Digby, Guysborough, Hants, Kings, Pictou, Queens, Shelburne and Yarmouth.

New Brunswick.

Counties of Albert, Carleton, Charlotte, Kings, Northumberland, Queens, Sunbury, Westmorland and York, and City of Fredericton.

Manitoba.

Lisgar and Marquette.

The Act is not in force anywhere in any of the other provinces or territories.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE.

Subjoined is a statement of the revenue of the department for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1909.

Charters, supplementary charters and licenses	$87,120 00
Commissions	738 00
Passports	740 00
Certified copies	639 10
Certificates of incorporation	75 00
Certificates of deposit	70 50
Exemplifications	10 00
Certificates of legalization	84 00

Certificates	25 00
Sundries	12 15
	$89,514 45

Of the foregoing account the sum of $5,610.90 was transferred to the King's Printer for advertising notices of letters patent under the Companies Act in the Canada Gazette.

The revenue again exceeded the expenditure of the department for salaries and contingencies by nearly forty thousand dollars and also, after covering all other expenditure including the collection of returns under the Naturalization Act, the cost of providing the library of the High Commissioner's office in London with Canadian books and periodicals; the expenses in connection with the election under the Canada Temperance Act, the annual subscription of the Government to the International Catalogue of Scientific Literature, &c., left a balance of over twenty thousand dollars to the good.

GENERAL.

Satisfactory progress has been made in the work of classifying and indexing the books and papers, the accumulation of the forty-two years since confederation, and a draft catalogue is in course of preparation. The greater part of this mass of documents has now been arranged in the several rooms in what, prior to the transfer of the earlier documents to the Archives Branch of the Department of Agriculture, was the Records Branch of this department. A draft catalogue of the books constituting the library of reference has been completed. During the year 9,587 imperial and foreign publications were received, of which 7,615 were distributed among the several provincial governments, the universities and other institutions, the remainder being added to the library.

The usual information for the benefit of the travelling public concerning the requirements of this and other countries with regard to the issue of passports will be found in this report, together with a list of those to whom such documents have been issued during the twelve months.

My report of the work done in the Registrar's Branch of the department follows this. In addition to the lists of charters of incorporation and supplementary charters, and the returns of naturalization already mentioned, it contains a list of all boards of trade registered in the department, trades unions, loan companies, licenses granted to British and foreign companies, commissions issued to public officers, and other useful information.

The Civil Service List of Canada for the year 1909 showing the names, dates of appointments, and promotions, ages and salaries of all persons permanently employed in the several departments of the service and in the two Houses of Parliament on April 1, 1909, is now in course of preparation.

The report of the Board of Civil Service Examiners for 1908 required by section 107 of the Civil Service Act has been published and distributed. Hereafter this report will be embodied in that of the Civil Service Commission of Canada.

I have pleasure in expressing my satisfaction with the manner in which the staff of the department have performed their duties during the year.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

J. POPE,

Under Secretary of State of Canada.

OTTAWA, April 1, 1909.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING PASSPORTS.

1. Applications for passports should be made in writing and inclosed in a cover addressed to 'The Honourable the Secretary of State, Ottawa.'

2. The charge for a passport, whatever number of persons may be named in it, is two dollars. The fee payable must accompany the application. Postage stamps will not be received as payment.

3. Passports are granted only to British-born subjects or to persons naturalized in the Dominion of Canada. A married woman is deemed to be a subject of the state of which her husband is for the time being a subject.

4. Passports are not valid after five years from the date of issue. Fresh passports must then be obtained. When the party is a naturalized British subject he will be so designated in his passport.

5. Passports are granted to all persons either known to the Secretary of State or recommended to him by some person who is known to him; or upon the production of a declaration by the applicant, a blank form of which may be obtained at this department, verified by a declaration made by any banking firm or by any mayor, magistrate, justice of the peace, minister of religion, physician, surgeon, solicitor, or notary resident in the Dominion of Canada. In certain cases, the applicant's certificate of birth must be produced in addition to the declaration.

6. If the applicant for a passport be a naturalized British subject, his certificate of naturalization must be forwarded to the Department of the Secretary of State with the declaration; and his certificate of naturalization will be returned with the passport to the person who has communicated with this department in the applicant's behalf for delivery to the latter.

7. A passport cannot be issued by the Department of the Secretary of State on behalf of a person already aboard; such person should apply for one to the nearest British Mission or Consulate.

8. Travellers who may have any intention of visiting the Russian Empire, the Turkish Dominions, the Kingdom of Roumania, Persia, Colombia, Venezuela, Hayti, or Eritrea, at any time in the course of their travels, must first have their passports visés at the nearest Russian, Turkish, Roumanian, Persian, Colombian, Venezuelan, Haytian, or Italian consulate as the case may be. For the information of travellers proceeding to any of these countries via Great Britain, it may be stated that the addresses in London of these consulates are respectively as follows:—The Russian Consulate-General, Windsor Chambers, 20 Great St. Helen's E.C.; the Consulate-General of the Sublime Porte, 140 Leadenhall Street, E.C.; the Roumanian Consulate-General, 40 Parliament Street, S.W.; the Persian Consulate-General, 82 Victoria Street, S.W.; the Colombian Consulate-General, 6 Holborn Viaduct, E.C.; the Venezuelan Consulate, Finsbury Pavement House, Finsbury Pavement, E.C.; the Haytian Consulate, 32 Fenchurch Street, E.C.; the Italian Consulate-General (for Eritrea), 44 Finsbury Square, E.C. Passports may also be visés at any of the other Consulates of Russia, Turkey, Roumania, Persia, Colombia, Venezuela, Hayti, or Italy in the United Kingdom. Travellers about to proceed to any other country need not obtain the visa of the Diplomatic or Consular Agents of such country.

N.B.—Although travellers are now free to enter most foreign countries without passports, colonial British subjects travelling abroad are recommended not to omit to provide themselves with passports, for even in those countries where they are no longer obligatory, they are found to be useful as affording a ready means of identification in case of need. British subjects intending to reside in Germany or in Switzerland provide themselves with passports.

NOTE.—Naturalized British subjects should bear in mind that their naturalization has no effect within the limits of the Foreign State to which they originally belonged, unless they have ceased to be subjects of that state, in the manner prescribed by the laws thereof, or in pursuance of a treaty or convention to that effect.

PERSIA. —A passport bearing the visa of a Persian Consular officer must be produced on entering Persia, and the passport should be countersigned by the Persian passport officer before leaving the country.

PERU, ECUADOR AND BOLIVIA.—A passport is not actually necessary, but it is desirable to possess one in order to be able to obtain from a British Diplomatic or Consular officer the certificate of nationality required in the event of civil disturbances.

PORTUGAL.—Travellers are advised to provide themselves with passports. For residence in Portugal or Portuguese Colonies, a passport or otherproof of nationality is required in order to obtain the necessary permission.

Azores.—The possession of a passport is advisable.

Cape Verde Islands.—Passports are not actually required, except in times of public danger, but they are useful in view of the fact that all foreigners have to personally register themselves at the Mayor's Office as soon as possible after arrival.

Loanda.—Passport necessary.

Madeira.—No regulations in force.

Mozambique.—Travellers should be provided with passports.

ROUMANIA.—Persons travelling to Roumania must be provided with passports bearing the visa of a Roumanian Consul in the United Kingdom. A fresh visa must be obtained for each journey. On arrival, they should at once obtain the visa of the British Legation or of a British Consulate, and then, within twenty-four hours of arrival, apply to the Roumanian authorities for a permit to reside in the country. For a stay of less than eight days, this formality may be dispensed with, and the permit will be stated upon the passport by the police officials at the frontier.

RUSSIA.—Visitors to Russia must be provided with passports bearing the visa of a Russian Diplomatic or Consular officer. Without such visa they will not be allowed to enter the country. To persons of the Jewish faith the visa will not be granted unless they are bankers or persons of the highest social standing.

The passport will enable the holder to reside in Russia for six months, when it must be exchanged at the Prefecture of St. Petersburgh, or at the Chancery of a Provincial Governor, for a Russian 'Billet de Séjour,' to be renewed annually.

The cost of such a 'Billet de Séjour,' varies from 7 r. 15 c. to 1 r, 29 c. Each 'Billet de Séjour,' on first issue or renewal must be delivered to the local police officer for inscription or visa. For non-renewal of a 'Billet de Séjour,' at the time of its expiration a fine is exacted.

On leaving Russia a police certificate must be obtained, which is granted on the first visit of the traveller to Russia at a cost of 75 c. On subsequent visits 6 r. 50 c. is charged. If a 'Billet de Séjour' has been obtained it must be returned, when the passport will be handed back to the owner with the necessary authorization to leave.

In the case of persons travelling through Russia, without stopping at any point within the Empire, the visa of a Russian Consular officer 'to travel through Russia' will be accepted as sufficient, both for the purpose of entering and leaving the country, without obligation to obtain the police authorization to leave necessary in case of a stay in Russia.

Travellers to Russia should on each journey obtain a new passport to avoid the necessary of obtaining a 'Billet de Séjour' on arrival, which they will be required to do when a passport is used six months after the date of the Russian visa attached to it.

SERVIA.—Travellers must be provided with passports

SIAM.—No special regulations in force, but British subjects are required to register themselves at the British Consulate-General within one month of arrival. For travelling in the interior a passport must be obtained from the Siamese Government. Fee for registration, 2s. 6d., and for passport 2s.

SPAIN.—It is most advisable for travellers to be provided with passports. The visa of a Spanish Consul is not necessary, but will be found useful in travelling in provincial towns and country districts.

In the Province of Barcelona, British subjects should, upon arrival, personally show their passports to His Majesty's Consul, who will thereupon furnish them with a certificate, which they are required to present, within twenty-four hours after their arrival in Barcelona, at the Office of the Civil Governor (in country towns and villages at the office of the Mayor) in order that their names, description, &c., may be registered. A fine, and possibly expulsion, may result from non-compliance with this regulation.

Canary Islands.—No regulations in force.

Ceuta.— British subjects desiring to visit Ceuta should apply through the British Vice-Consul at Algeciras for an order from the Commandante-General.

SWEDEN.—No regulations in force.

SWITZERLAND.—A passport is necessary in order to obtain a 'Permis de Séjour,' which must be taken out, after their arrival, by persons intending to reside in Switzerland. Children sent to schools in Switzerland should carry passports.

TURKISH EMPIRE.—Persons travelling to Turkey must be provided with a passport bearing the visa of a Turkish Consular officer. Without such passport they will be refused admission to the country. A fresh visa must be obtained for each journey. British subjects desiring afterwards to travel within Turkey must obtain a permit through a British Consul. On leaving Turkey the visa of a British Consul should be obtained.

Tripoli.—Regulations similar to Turkey.

UNITED STATES.—No regulations in force.

Hawaiian Island.—No regulations in force.

Philippine Islands.—Passports not required.

Porto Rico.—Travellers are advised to carry passports.

URUGUAY.—No regulations affecting Europeans in force. Travellers are, however, advised to have passports as evidence of nationality, in case of need.

Ward and to your Government in the warmest terms the feelings of appreciation and gratitude with which His Majesty's Government have received the offer so generously and patriotically made. So far as the coming financial year is concerned, the provision and powers for which sanction is being asked in the Naval Estimates now before Parliament afford ample security. In view of the uncertainty that exists as to the character and extent of the demands which may be made on the national resources in the following years, the offer of the New Zealand government to bear within that period the cost of providing one first-class battleship of the latest type and of a second of the same type should subsequent events show it to be necessary is most gratefully accepted by His Majesty's Government. Your Government will doubtless understand that it is impossible to enter into detail by telegraph, but you will receive at an early date full communication by despatch, as His Majesty's Government desire to consult with the New Zealand Government as to the time when it may become appropriate to give effect to their public-spirited proposal.—CREWE.

Therefore, if the Commonwealth Parliament resolves to make the offer of a Dreadnought to the Imperial Government, Governments of New South Wales and Victoria have agreed to contribute proportionately to the cost of the same. Despatch has been addressed to Prime Minister of Commonwealth of Australia embodying above views. Prime Minister of the Commonwealth has asked me to submit to your Lordship, for consideration of His Majesty's Government, the following memorandum on the question of Naval Defence:—

'Whereas all the Dominions of the British Empire ought to share in the most effective way in the burden of maintaining the permanent naval supremacy of the Empire:

'And whereas this Government is of opinion that, so far as Australia is concerned, this object would be best attained by encouragement of naval development in this country so that people of Commonwealth will become a people efficient at sea and thereby better able to assist United Kingdom with men as well as ships to act in concert with the other sea forces of the Empire:

'The views of the present Government, as a basis of co-operation and mutual understanding, are herewith submitted:—

'(1) The Naval Agreement Act to continue for the term provided for;

'(2) The Commonwealth Government to continue to provide, equip, nd maintains the defences of naval base for use of the ships of the Royal Navy;

'(3) In order to place Australia in a position to undertake the responsibility of local naval defence, the Commonwealth Government to establish a Naval Force;

'(4) The Commonwealth Government to provide ships constituting the torpedo flotilla and maintain them in a state of efficiency, wages, pay, provision, and maintenance of officers and men;

'(5) The sphere of action of the Naval Force of the Commonwealth to be primarily about the coast of Commonwealth and its territories;

'(6) The administrative control of the Naval Force of the Commonwealth to rest with the Commonwealth Government. The officer commanding to take his orders from the Commonwealth Government direct, proper sequence of command by officers appointed by the Commonwealth being maintained. The forces to be under naval discipline administered in same way as in the Royal Navy;

'(7) Whilst employed about the coast of Commonwealth or its territories, whether within territorial limits or not, the vessels forming the Naval Force of the Commonwealth to be under the sole control of Commonwealth. Should the vessels go to other places, the said vessels to come under the command of the naval officer representing the British Government, if such officer be senior in rank to the Commonwealth officer. Provided that, if it be necessary to send these vessels or any of them on training cruises outside the waters referred to, arrangements shall be made with the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty through Naval Commander in Chief on the Australian station;

'(8) In time of war or emergency or upon a declaration by the Senior Naval Officer representing British Government, that a condition of emergency exists, all the vessels of the Naval Force of the Commonwealth shall be placed by the Commonwealth Government under the orders of Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. The method by which the vessels shall come under the orders of the Senior Naval Officer would be by furnishing each Commander of an Australian vessel with sealed orders and instructions (to) the effect that upon the declaration to him by the Senior Naval Officer representing British Government that a state of war or emergency exists, such sealed orders shall thereupon be opened and, in pursuance of their provisions, he shall thereupon immediately place himself under the orders of the Senior Naval Officer representing British Government;

'(9) It is, however, to be understood that if the services of any of the Coast Defence vessels be desired in seas remote from Australia, the approval of the Commonwealth Government shall first be obtained to their removal;

'(10) To ensure the highest efficiency, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to be asked to agree to the Naval Commander in Chief on the Australian Station making, at request of the Commonwealth Government, periodical inspection of the vessels of the Naval Force of the Commonwealth, Naval School of Instruction and Naval Establishment.

'(11) Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to be asked also to approve of the service on the flotilla of such officers of the Royal Navy as may be mutually agreed to for service as Instructors and Specialist officers and to receive officers of the local flotilla for instruction at the torpedo, gunnery, and other schools in the United Kingdom;

'(12) Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to be asked to give opportunities from time to time for officers and men specially selected by the Commonwealth being attached to battle fleets or torpedo flotillas in European waters for special instruction, the expense to be borne by Commonwealth; and

'(13) For special facilities to be given, by arrangement with the Naval Commander-in-Chief on the Australian Station, for the vessels of the flotilla being exercised in conjunction the ships of the Royal Navy on the Australian Station, subject to the command of such combined exercises being held by the Naval Commander-in-Chief of the Royal Navy on the Australian Station.'

In concluding his memorandum, Prime Minister assures me that Commonwealth Government would highly appreciate the receipt, at earliest possible moment, of the views of His Majesty's Government on the foregoing proposals.—DUDLEY.

The Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, as President of the Imperial Conference, has desired me to ask you to convey the following message to the Prime Minister of (the Commonwealth of Australia) (the Dominion of (New Zealand) (Cape Colony) (Newfoundland).)

'It will, no doubt, be within your knowledge that on the 29th March the Canadian House of Commons passed a Resolution to the following effect:—

'Resolution begins: That this House fully recognises the duty of the people of Canada as they increase in numbers and wealth to assume in larger measure the responsibility of National Defence.

'The House is of opinion that, under the present constitutional relations between the Mother Country and the self-governing Dominions, the payment of regular and periodical contributions to the Imperial Treasury for naval and military purposes, would not, so far as Canada is concerned, be the most satisfactory solution of the question of defence.

'The House will cordially approve of any necessary expenditure designed to promote the speedy organization of a Canadian Naval Service in co-operation with, and in close relation to, the Imperial Navy along the lines suggested by the Admiralty at the last Imperial Conference, and in full sympathy with the view that the Naval supremacy of Britain is essential to the security of commerce, the safety of the Empire, and the peace of the world. The House expresses its firm conviction that whenever the need arises the Canadian people will be found ready and willing to make any sacrifice that is required to give to the Imperial authorities the most loyal and hearty co-operation in every movement for the maintenance of the integrity and honour of the Empire. Resolution ends.

'I understand that the Dominion Government proposes that its Defence Ministers should come here at an early date to confer with the Imperial Naval and Military Authorities upon technical matters arising upon that Resolution.

'His Majesty's Government have also before them recent patriotic proposals made by Australia and New Zealand, proposals most highly appreciated by the Mother Country, and demanding very cordial and careful consideration both as to principle and detail.

'I desire, therefore, to commend to you the following important suggestion, namely, that a Conference of representatives of the self-governing Dominions convened under the terms of Resolution I. of the Conference of 1907, which provides for such subsidiary conferences, should be held in London early in July next. The object of the Conference would be to discuss the general question of Naval and Military Defence of the Empire with special reference to the Canadian Resolution, and to the proposals from New Zealand and Australia to which I have referred.

'I assume that as the consultation would be generally upon technical or quasi-technical naval and military matters the other Governments of the self-governing Dominions would elect to be represented as in the case of *Australia, New Zealand, Cape of Good Hope and Newfoundland.

Canada by their Ministers of Defence, or failing them by some other member of the Government assisted by expert advice, but it is entirely for the Government of { the Commonwealth / New Zealand / Cape Colony / Newfoundland } to decide the precise form of its representation.

'The Conference would, of course, be of a purely consultative character, it would be held in private and its deliberations would be assisted by the presence of members of the Committee of Imperial Defence, or of other expert advisers of His Majesty's Government. I am addressing a similar message to the other members of the Imperial Conference.'

I am strongly of opinion that an early confidential exchange of views between His Majesty's Government and the Governments of His Majesty's self-governing Dominions beyond the seas will be of the greatest mutual advantage, and I therefore trust that your Prime Minister and his colleagues will see their way to adopt the proposal.

(To Newfoundland only: At present juncture I presume your Prime Minister will suspend definite answer until the elections are over.)

(To Cape only: I recognize that at the present time the Government of Cape Colony in common with the other South African Governments which are contemplating the probability of early union may not be in a position to take an active part in such a Conference, but the absence of any representatives of the South African Dominions from its deliberations would be a serious detriment to the completeness of the Conference.)

To enable Ministers to attend as requested, an early Session of Parliament would be necessary, with the object of obtaining supplies and adjourning during the absence of Ministers in England; this adjournment being absolutely necessary inasmuch as this is a new Parliament and is the first Session of that Parliament. If it is necessary that New Zealand should be represented, it would be desirable that the date should be fixed not earlier than the last week in July. On receipt of reply from the Home Government, Parliament will be called for the 10th June for the purpose of considering the matter, that being the earliest possible date under the existing prorogation. The opinion of Ministers here is that the representation of all parts of the Empire at the Conference is essential, and that the course the Home Government is taking is the right one and is in the best interests of the Empire. They recognize that it would be a matter of much regret if, through not being able to postpone the meeting of the new Parliament, New Zealand could not be represented at the Conference.

May 10th. Defence Conference. With reference to Prime Minister's invitation* to representatives of South Africa Governments, General Botha writes that along with colleagues he deeply appreciates courtesy of invitation, and is anxious to accept it on behalf of Transvaal Government. He points out that, as you anticipate, in view of impending changes here it will not be possible for any of South African Premiers to take very active part in Conference or to adhere to any policy by which future Union Government might seem to be bound. At the same time it is agreed by General Botha and his colleagues that the presence of South African representatives at Conference will make it more complete, and may help future Union Government in formulating some general scheme of South African defence as far as possible in harmony with systems in other parts of the Empire. They suggest that delegates from Conference who have to go to London in connection with South Africa Bill should leave South Africa end of June, and arrive in London middle of July. Arrangements would then be made by members of the Government who are on the delegation for the proper representation of the Transvaal at sittings of the Defence Conference.

I should add that I have not yet received from President of Convention a formal reply to my letter expressing hope that delegation will arrive in London not later than July 17, but I believe your invitation for that date will be accepted.—SELBORNE.

PRIME MINISTER'S OFFICE,
BLOEMFONTEIN, ORANGE RIVER COLONY, May 11, 1909.

Ministers have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of His Excellency the Governor's minute, No. 572, of the 3rd instant, forwarding copy of a telegram from His Excellency the Governor of Cape Colony, dated the 3rd instant, and to state that they have discussed with the Prime Ministers of the other South African Colonies the Secretary of State's invitation therein contained to representatives from the South African governments to the Conference on the Naval and Military Defences of the Empire.

Ministers appreciate deeply the courtesy of His Majesty's government in extending this invitation to this government, and need not assure His Majesty's government how anxious they are to accept it. It will, of course, be understood, as indeed the Secretary of State clearly anticipates, that it will not be possible for any of the self-governing South African colonies, in view of the great political change now pending in South Africa, to take a very active part in such a conference or to adhere to any policy which might seem to bind the Union Government which will so soon replace the present Colonial Governments.

Ministers, however, at the same time agree that the presence of South African representatives at the Conference will not only give it greater completeness but may help the future Union Government towards formulating some general scheme of South African defence which may as far as possible be in harmony with the systems prevailing in other parts of the Empire.

With reference to the question as to when delegates from this Colony could attend the Conference, Ministers have to state that it was the view of the Prime Ministers that the delegates from the South African Governments who have to go to London in connection with the passage of the South African Act through the British Parliament should leave South Africa at the end of June and so arrive in London in the middle of July. The members of the Governments who are on this delegation could then make the necessary arrangements to attend also, as far as possible, the sittings of the Defence Conference.

The Conference was convened in accordance with the telegram from the Secretary of State for the Colonies of the 30th of April, under the terms of Resolution I of of the Conference of 1907, which provides for such subsidiary Conferences, as a subsidiary Imperial Conference of a consultative character to be held in private. At the final meeting it was agreed that a general statement of the results should be made in the House of Commons, and that the publication of any papers should be arranged with the concurrence of each Dominion.

At the close of the proceedings, the following resolution was carried on the motion of Sir Frederick Borden:—

> 'That the members of this Conference representing the self-governing Dominions desire before they separate to convey to Lord Crewe their warm and sincere appreciation of the manner in which he has presided over their deliberations as well as of the courtesies which they have received from him. They desire also to place on record the deep sense of gratitude which they feel for the generous hospitality which has been extended to them by the Government and people of the United Kingdom.'

A statement was made in the House of Commons by the Prime Minister, the Right Honourable H. H. Asquith, M.P., on 26th August, in these terms:—

> 'The Conference, which has just concluded its labours, was convened under the terms of Resolution I. of the Conference of 1907. In the invitation sent by His Majesty's Government at the end of April to the Governments of the Dominions, it was stated that the object of the Conference would be to discuss the general question of Naval and Military Defence of the Empire, with special reference to recent proposals from New Zealand and Australia, and to the Resolution passed on 29th March by the House of Commons of the Dominion of Canada. It was further stated that the Conference would be of a purely consultative character, and that it would be held in private. It follows that all Resolutions come to and proposals approved by the Conference which has now been held, must be taken, so far as the delegates of the Dominions are concerned, to be ad referendum, and of no binding force unless and until submitted to their various Parliaments.

I should add, in special reference to the delegates from South Africa, that they did not feel themselves in a position, in regard to either naval or military defence, to submit or to approve positive proposals until the Union of South Africa was an accomplished fact. With this preface I will briefly summarize the main conclusions of the Conference in regard, first to Military, and next to Naval Defence.

MILITARY DEFENCE.

After the main Conference at the Foreign Office, a Military Conference took place at the War Office, and resulted in an agreement on the fundamental principles set out in Papers which had been prepared by the General Staff for consideration by the Delegates. The substance of these Papers (which will be included among the Papers to be published) was a recommendation that, without impairing the complete control of the Government of each Dominion over the military forces raised within it, these forces should be standardized, the formation of units, the arrangements for transport, the patterns of weapons, &c., being as far as possible assimilated to those which have recently been worked out for the British Army. Thus, while the Dominion troops would in each case be raised for the defence of the Dominion concerned, it would be made readily practicable in case of need for that Dominion to mobilize and use them for the defence of the Empire as a whole.

The Military Conference then entrusted to a Sub-Conference, consisting of military experts at headquarters and from the various Dominions, and presided over by Sir W. Nicholson, acting for the first time in the capacity of Chief of the Imperial General Staff, the duty of working out the detailed application of these principles.

I may point out here that the creation early this year of an Imperial General Staff, thus brought into active working, is a result of the discussions and resolutions of the Conference of 1907. Complete agreement was reached by the members of the Sub-Conference, and their conclusions were finally approved by the Main Conference and by the Committee of Imperial Defence, which sat for the purpose under the presidency of the Prime Minister. The result is a plan for so organizing the forces of the Crown wherever they are that, while preserving the complete autonomy of each Dominion, should the Dominions desire to assist in the defence of the Empire in a real emergency, their forces could be rapidly combined into one homogeneous Imperial Army.

NAVAL DEFENCE.

Naval defence was discussed at the meetings of the Conference held at the Foreign Office on the 3rd, 5th and 6th August. The Admiralty memorandum, which had been circulated to the Dominion representatives, formed the basis of the preliminary conferences.

The alternative methods which might be adopted by Dominion Governments in co-operating in Imperial Naval Defence were discussed. New Zealand preferred to adhere to her present policy of contribution; Canada and Australia preferred to lay the foundation of fleets of their own. It was recognized that in building up a fleet a number of conditions should be conformed to. The fleet must be of a certain size, in order to offer a permanent career to the officers and men engaged in the service; the personnel should be trained and disciplined under regulations similar to those established in the Royal Navy, in order to allow of both interchange and union between the British and the Dominion Services; and with the same object, the standard of vessels and armaments should be uniform.

A remodelling of the squadrons maintained in Far Eastern waters was considered on the basis of establishing a Pacific fleet, to consist of three units in the East Indies, Australia and China seas, each comprising, with some variations, a large armoured cruiser of the new Indomitable type, three second-class cruisers of the Bristol type, six destroyers of the River class, and three submarine of C class.

The generous offer, first of New Zealand and then of the Commonwealth Government, to contribute to Imperial naval defence by the gift each of a battleship was accepted with the substitution of cruisers of the new Indomitable type for battleships —these two ships to be maintained one on the China and one on the Australian station.

Separate meetings took place at the Admiralty with the representatives of Canada, Australia and New Zealand, and general statements were agreed to in each case for further consideration by their respective Governments.

As regards Australia, the suggested arrangement is that with some temporary assistance from Imperial funds the Commonwealth Government should provide and maintain the Australian unit of the Pacific Fleet.

The contribution of the New Zealand Government would be applied towards the maintainance of the China unit, of which some of the smaller vessels would have New Zealand waters as their headquarters. The New Zealand armoured cruiser would be stationed in China waters.

As regards Canada, it was considered that her double seaboard rendered the provision of a fleet unit of the same kind unsuitable for the present. It was proposed, according to the amount of money that might be available, that Canada should make a start with cruisers of the Bristol class and destroyers of an improved River class— a part to be stationed on the Atlantic seaboard and a part on the Pacific.

In accordance with an arrangement already made, the Canadian Government would undertake the maintenance of the dockyards at Halifax and Esquimalt, and it was a part of the arrangement proposed with the Australian representatives that the Commonwealth Government should eventually undertake the maintenance of the dockyard at Sydney.

Papers containing all the material documents will be laid before Parliament in due course, and, it is hoped, before the conclusion of the Session.'

B.

(I.)—NAVAL DEFENCE.

The question of Naval Defence was specially discussed at meetings of the Conference held at the Foreign Office on the 3rd, 5th, and 6th of August, the Earl of Crewe, K.G., being in the chair. The memorandum of the First Lord of the Admiralty dated 20th July, which had been circulated to the members of the Conference, formed the basis of the discussion, and, as anticipated in that Memorandum, the subject was approached from a somewhat different point of view by the representatives of each Dominion. It was agreed that further discussion of new arrangements and provision for naval defence should take place between the Admiralty and the representatives of those Dominions (Canada, Australia and New Zealand) who had come to the Conference with that object in view.

No conference was held with the representatives of the South African Colonies. The position in which they were placed pending the formation of the Government and the election of the Parliament of the Union of South Africa rendered any authoritative expression of opinion by them impracticable. Meanwhile the new Union Government would take over the obligation to continue the existing contributions to the Navy which are paid by the Colonies of the Cape of Good Hope and Natal.

Similarly the representative of Newfoundland indicated that the existing provision made by that Colony would be continued.

Separate meetings accordingly took place at the Admiralty with the representatives of Canada, Australia, and New Zealand, when the following general statements were agreed to in each case ,it being recognized that in the time available it was impossible that all details should be thoroughly gone into and settled. Several administrative and financial points remained still to be decided.

(II.)—ADMIRALTY MEMORANDUM.

On the 16th March of this year statements were made on the growing strength of foreign navies by the Prime Minister and the First Lord of the Admiralty on the introduction of the Navy Estimates for 1909-10.

On the 22nd March the Government of New Zealand telegraphed an offer to bear the cost of the immediate construction of a battleship of the latest type and of a second of the same type if necessary. This offer was gratefully accepted by His Majesty's Government. On the 29th March the Canadian House of Commons passed a resolution recognizing the duty of Canada, as the country increased in numbers and wealth, to assume in a larger measure the responsibilities of national defence, and approving of any necessary expenditure designed to promote the speedy organisation of a Canadian naval service in co-operation with, and in close relation to, the Imperial Navy. On the 15th April Mr. Fisher, the Prime Minister of the Australian Government, telegraphed that, whereas all the British Dominions ought to share in the burden of maintaining the permanent naval supremacy of the Empire, so far as Australia was concerned this object would be best attained by the encouragement of naval development in that country. (On Mr. Deakin succeeding Mr. Fisher as Prime Minister a further telegram was sent on the 4th June, offering the Empire an Australian 'Dreadnaught,' or such addition to its strength as may be determined after consultation in London.)

In view of these circumstances, His Majesty's Government considered the time was appropriate for the holding of a Conference to discuss afresh the relations of the Dominions to the United Kingdom in regard to the question of Imperial defence, and on the 30th April sent an invitation to the Defence Ministers of the four Dominions and the Cape Colonies to attend a Conference under the terms of Resolution 1 of the Conference of 1907, to discuss the general question of the naval and military defence of the Empire, with special reference to the Canadian resolution and to the proposals from New Zealand and Australia.

2. If the problem of Imperial naval defence were considered merely as a problem of naval strategy it would be found that the greatest output of strength for a given expenditure is obtained by the maintenance of a single navy with the concomitant unity of training and unity of command. In furtherance, then, of the simple strategical ideal the maximum of power would be gained if all parts of the Empire contributed, according to their needs and resources, to the maintenance of the British Navy.

3. It has, however, long been recognized that in defining the conditions under which the Naval forces of the Empire should be developed, other considerations than those of strategy alone must be taken into account. The various circumstances of the oversea Dominions have to be borne in mind. Though all have in them the seeds of a great advance in population, wealth, and power, they have at the present time attained to different stages in their growth. Their geographical position has subjected them to internal and external strains, varying in kind and intensity. Their history and physical environment have given rise to individual national sentiment, for the expression of which room must be found. A simple contribution of money or material may be to one Dominion the most acceptable form in which to assist in Imperial defence. Another, while ready to provide local naval forces, and to place them at the disposal of the Crown in the event of war, may wish to lay the foundations upon which a future navy of its own could be raised. A third may think that the best manner in which it can assist in promoting the interests of the Empire is in undertaking certain local services not directly of a naval character, but which may relieve the Imperial Government from expenses which would otherwise fall on the British Exchequer.

4. The main duty of the forthcoming Conference as regards naval defence will be, therefore, to determine the form in which the various Dominion Governments can best participate in the burden of Imperial defence with due regard to varying political and geographical conditions. Looking to the difficulties involved, it is not to be expected that the discussions with the several Defence Ministers will result in a complete and final scheme of naval defence, but it is hoped that it will be found possible to formulate the broad principles upon which the growth of Colonial naval forces should be fostered. While laying the foundations of future Dominion navies to be maintained in different parts of the Empire, these forces would contribute immediately and materially to the requirements of Imperial defence.

5. In the opinion of the Admiralty, a Dominion Government desirous of creating a navy should aim at forming a distinct fleet unit; and the smallest unit is one which, while manageable in time of peace, is capable of being used in its component parts in time of war.

6. Under certain conditions the establishment of local defence flotillas, consisting of torpedo craft and submarines, might be of assistance in time of war to the operations of the fleet, but such flotillas cannot co-operate on the high seas in the wider duties of protection of trade and preventing attacks from hostile cruisers and squadrons. The operations of destroyers and torpedo boats are necessarily limited to the waters near the coast or to a radius of action not far distant from a base, while there are great difficulties in manning such a force and keeping it always thoroughly efficient.

A scheme limited to torpedo craft would not in itself, moreover, be a good means of gradually developing a self-contained fleet capable of both offence and defence. Unless a naval force—whatever its size—complies with this condition it can never take its proper place in the organization of an Imperial navy distributed strategically over the whole area of British interests.

7. The fleet unit to be aimed at should, therefore, in the opinion of the Admiralty, consist at least of the following:—

1 Armoured cruiser (new 'Indomitable' class, which is of the 'Dreadnought' type.
3 Unarmoured cruisers ('Bristol' class),
6 Destroyers,
3 Submarines, with the necessary auxiliaries, such as depot and store ships, &c., which are not here specified.

Such a fleet unit would be capable of action not only in the defence of coasts, but also of the trade routes, and would be sufficiently powerful to deal with small hostile squadrons should such ever attempt to act in its waters.

8. Simply to man such a squadron, omitting auxiliary requirements and any margin for reliefs, sickness, &c., the minimum numbers required would be about 2,300 officers and men, according to the Admiralty scheme of complements.

9. The estimated first cost of building and arming such a complete fleet unit would be approximately £3,700,000, and the cost of maintenance, including upkeep of vessels, pay, and interest and sinking fund, at British rates, approximately £600,000 per annum.

10. The estimated cost of officers and men required to man the ships does not comprise the whole cost. There would be other charges to be provided for, such as the pay of persons employed in the subsidiary service, and those undergoing training, sick, in reserve, &c.

11. As the armoured cruiser is the essential part of the fleet unit, it is important that an 'Indomitable' of the 'Dreadnought' type should be the first vessel to be built in commencing the formation of a fleet unit. She should be officered and manned as far as possible by Colonial officers and men, supplemented by the loan of Imperial officers and men who might volunteer for the service. While on the station the ship would be under the exclusive control of the Dominion Government as regards her movements and general administration, but officers and men would be governed by regulations similar to the King's Regulations, and be under naval discipline. The question of pay and allowances would have to be settled on lines the most suitable to each Dominion Government concerned. The other vessels when built would be treated in the same manner.

12. It is recognized that to carry out completely such a scheme as that indicated would ultimately mean a greater charge for naval defence than that which the Dominions have hitherto borne; but, on the other hand, the building of a 'Dreadnought' (or its equivalent), which certain Governments have offered to undertake, would form part of the scheme, and therefore, as regards the most expensive item of the shipbuilding programme suggested, no additional cost to those Governments would be involved.

13. Pari passu with the creation of the fleet unit, it would be necessary to consider the development of local resources in everything which relates to the maintenance of a fleet. A careful inquiry should be made into the shipbuilding and repairing establishments with a view to their general adaptation to the needs of the local squadron. Training schools for officers and men would have to be established; arrangements would have to be made for the manufacture, supply, and replenishment of the various naval, ordnance and victualling stores required by the squadron.

14. All these requirements might be met according to the views of the Dominion Governments, in so far as the form and manner of the provision made are concerned. But as regards shipbuilding, armaments and warlike stores, &c., on the one hand, and training and discipline in peace and war, on the other, there should be one common standard. If the fleet unit maintained by a Dominion is to be treated as an integral part of the Imperial forces, with a wide range of interchangeability among its component parts with those forces, its general efficiency should be the same, and the facilities for refitting and replenishing His Majesty's ships, whether belonging to a Dominion fleet or to the fleet of the United Kingdom, should be the same. Further, as it is a sine quâ non that successful action in time of war depends upon unity of command and direction, the general discipline must be the same throughout the whole Imperial service, and without this it would not be possible to arrange for that mutual co-operation and assistance which would be indispensable in the building up and establishing of a local naval force in close connection with the Royal Navy. It has been recognized by the Colonial Governments that in time of war the local naval forces should come under the general directions of the Admiralty.

The Hon. Sir F. BORDEN, K.C.M.G., Minister of Militia and Defence.

The Hon. L. P. BRODEUR, K.C., LL.D., Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Rear-Admiral C. E. KINGSMILL.

Captain J. R. CHANCELLOR, D.S.O., Assistant Secretary to the Imperial Conference.

The Canadian representatives explained in what respect they desired the advice of the Admiralty in regard to the measures of naval defence, which might be considered consistent with the resolution adopted by the Canadian Parliament on the 29th March, 1909.

While, on naval strategical considerations, it was thought that a Fleet Unit on the Pacific, as outlined by the Admiralty, might in the future form an acceptable system of naval defence, it was recognized that Canada's double seaboard rendered the provision of such a Fleet Unit unsuitable for the present.

It was represented on the part of the Admiralty that it would be difficult to make any suggestions, or to formulate any plans, without knowing approximately the sum of money which Canada would spend. The Canadian representatives then suggested that two plans might be presented:—one incurring an annual expenditure of £400,000, and the other an expenditure of £600,000, omitting in both cases the cost of the present fishery service and hydrographic surveys but including the maintenance of Halifax and Esquimalt dockyards, and the wireless telegraph service, estimated at some £50,000 a year.

Taking, first, the plan for the expenditure of £600,000, after discussion the Admiralty suggested that the Canadian Government might provide a force of cruisers and destroyers comprising four cruisers of improved 'Bristol' class, one cruiser of the 'Boadicea' class, and six destroyers of improved River class. As regards submarines, it would be advisable to defer their construction because they required a highly-trained and specialized complement.

The 'Boadicea' and Destroyers might be placed on the Atlantic side, and the 'Bristol' cruisers divided between the Atlantic and Pacific Ocean. The number of officers and men for this force of 11 ships would be 2,194, and the cost of the vessels suggested, including repairs and maintenance, interest and sinking fund on capital expenditure, and pay, &c., of personnel, at Canadian rates, would not, it was anticipated, exceed £600,000 a year.

If it was decided to limit the plan to an expenditure of £400,000 a year, the Admiralty suggested that one 'Bristol,' the 'Boadicea,' and two Destroyers should be omitted, in which case only 1,408 officers and men would be required. Two 'Bristols' would then be placed on the Pacific, and one 'Bristol' and four destroyers on the Atlantic coast.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 29a

Summaries are attached to this memorandum, giving the estimated details of the expenditure at British rates.

Pending the completion of the new cruisers, which should be commenced as early as possible, an arrangement might be made for the loan by the Admiralty of two cruisers of the 'Apollo' class, so that the training of the new naval personnel might be proceeded with at once. The vessels would be fitted out and maintained at the expense of Canada, and the officers and men provided by volunteers from the Royal Navy, but paid by the Canadian Government. They would be lent until they could be replaced from time to time by qualified Canadian officers and men. The Admiralty would be willing also to lend certain officers for organizing duties and for the instruction of seamen, stokers, &c.

Arrangements would be made to receive Canadian cadets at Osborne and Dartmouth.

In any consideration of the question of providing new docking facilities the Admiralty suggested that the docks should be designed of sufficient size to accommodate the largest ships whether for war or commerce, as apart from the mercantile advantage such docks might be used in case of an emergency by armoured cruisers and battleships. Docks of this kind might be placed on the Pacific, the Atlantic, and the River St. Lawrence.

The question of the Flag also was discussed, and it was arranged that the Admiralty would give the matter consideration and would communicate its views at a later date to the Canadian Government.

Any necessary Acts of Parliament which would have to be passed should be considered so as to place the discipline and general regulations of the naval forces as much on Admiralty lines as possible, having due consideration to local requirements. This legislation should also provide for the formation of a naval reserve and naval volunteer force.

In order to encourage a good class of men to make the naval service their profession for life, it has been found advisable in Great Britain to provide for pensions.

Other details, such as the training of officers and men, organization, discipline, &c., were discussed, and a general agreement was arrived at that the wishes of the Canadian Government would be met as far as possible.

(i.)—MILITARY DEFENCE.

The question of miltary defence was discussed at the second meeting of the Conference held on July 29 at the War Office, particularly with reference to a paper circulated for the consideration of the Conference, entitled: 'Proposals for so 'organizing the military forces of the Empire as to ensure their effective co-operation 'in the event of war.' The representatives of th self-govrning Dominion were understood to signify their general concurrence in the proposition 'that each part of 'the Empire is willing to make its preparations on such lines as will enable it, 'should it so desire, to take its share in the general defence of the Empire,' and it was agreed that a sub-conference of experts should be formed to deal with the various questions raised in the above-mentioned memorandum, and to make a report to the full Conference, the sub-conference to meet under the chairmanship of General Sir W. G. Nicholson, G.C.B., Chief of the General Staff. The sub-conference held three sittings on 30th July, 4th August, and 10th August. The report dated the 10th of August was duly submitted to the Conferene at its final meeting on the 19th of August, and was endorsed by its members, excepting the representatives from South Africa, who were unable to express adherence to any policy which might seem to bind the Government and Parliament of the Union of South Africa, in anticipation of their establishment.

The representatives of the self-governing Dominions at the Imperial Defence Conference having signified their general concurrence in the proposition—'That each part of the Empire is willing to make its preparations on such lines as will enable it, should it so desire, to take its share in the general defence of the Empire,'—the Sub-Conference on Military Defence, appointed to consider in detail the 'Proposals for so Organizing the Military Forces of the Empire as to ensure their Effective Co-operation in the event of War' prepared and submitted by the Chief of the General staff, submit the following recommendations:—

1. That the War Establishments of the Home Regular Army should be accepted as the basis on which the organization of units of the Dominion Forces should, as far as possible, be modelled.

It is highly desirable that the 1st Line Transport of units should follow, as closely as possible, the Imperial pattern.

The 2nd Line Transport, for Home defence purposes, may well be of the pattern most suitable to local conditions. But, in any case where Dominion forces share in an expedition over-seas, provision should be made on mobilization to modify the local pattern transport, when necessary, to meet the special conditions of the case.

2. That, in the event of a Dominion despatching a force for Imperial expeditionary purposes, it should be accompanied by a due proportion of administrative units, both with and in rear of, fighting troops.

3. That the Dominions should, as far as practicable, adopt the Field Service Regulations and Training Manuals issued to the Home Regular Army as the basis of the organization, administration, and training of their troops. In this connection it was agreed that in subsequent editions, or in revisions, the Dominions would be consulted in regard to any alterations or amendments which they might wish to propose.

4. That the Dominions should adopt, as far as possible, Imperial patterns of arms, equipment and stores.

5. That the officers performing General Staff duties throughout the Empire, whatever the force to which they belong, and while remaining responsible to, and under the control of, their own Governments, should be members of one body, the Imperial General Staff.

In Dominions where there are not enough qualified officers to fill General Staff appointments, the local Headquarters should be first completed, and the duties in districts be performed by Staff Officers as at present, who should be termed "attached to the General Staff" until qualified, or until gradually replaced by qualified General Staff Officers as they become available.

6. That, the proposal for the formation of sections of the Imperial General Staff in the several Dominions having been accepted, it will devolve on those sections to work out the details of the preliminary and higher education of officers of the Local Forces, in communication, so far as may be necessary, with the central body. In this connection the proposals set forth in Appendix C to the paper prepared by the Chief of the General Staff, regarding the further training of officers after leaving the Staff College, should be borne in mind.

7. That the Local Headquarters of the Imperial General Staff should study, in consultation with the Chief of the Imperial General Staff, the various strategical problems affecting their respective Dominions which may present themselves.

8. That when the services of any qualified General Staff Officers of the Home Regular Army are required by any of the Dominions, either on loan or interchange, or when the services of any qualified General Staff Officers of the Local Forces can be utilized for employment in General Staff appointments in the Home Regular Army on interchange, the procedure proposed in Appendix D to the paper prepared by the Chief of the General Staff should be followed. In regard to finance—

(a.) In the case of Loan, the country employing the officer to defray all travelling expenses (including passage to and fro), pay and allowances;

(b.) In the case of Interchange, passage to and fro should be defrayed by the country to which the officer belongs, all other pay and allowances (travelling or otherwise) being defrayed by the country employing the officer.

(c.) Efforts should be made to assimilate the rates of pay attaching to equivalent grades of General Staff appointments.

In cases (a) and (b), if any special addition to the rates of pay attaching to the several grades of General Staff appointments is thought requisite to meet local conditions, it should be made by local rates and allowances payable by the country to which the officer belongs.

9. That the views advanced in Part III. of the paper prepared by the Chief of the General Staff on the subject of the interchange of General Staff Officers should be adopted, but it is recognized that, for some time to come, interchange to the extent ultimately contemplated must be limited, as regards each Dominion, by the number of properly qualified officers available.

10. That the system of intercommunication between the various sections of the Imperial General Staff proposed in Part III. of the paper prepared by the Chief of the General Staff should be adopted, and that the organization and duties of a Local Headquarters of the Imperial General Staff should follow, as closely as local conditions admit, those in force at Imperial Army Headquarters, as indicated in Appendix E, Table V., of the same paper.

11. As a means of providing a military education for persons who desire to become officers of the Local Forces, either those on a permanent or those on a militia basis, the establishment of local military colleges on the general lines of the Royal Military College, Kingston, Canada, which also provides a general and technical education useful in civil life, presents many advantages. Such colleges might also, as in the case of Kingston, provide for the higher military education of officers already in the forces.

The establishment of Officers' Training Corps, or other organizations having for their object the provision of additional officers required in the event of war, deserves serious attention.

12. In the opinion of the Sub-Conference the recommendations submitted above, while enabling the Dominions to take their share in the defence of the Empire, will also conduce to their territorial security and to the fighting efficiency of their forces for Home Defence.

The War Office,
10th August, 1909.

MEMORANDUM BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR WAR ON THE PROPOSALS OF THE CHIEF OF THE GENERAL STAFF FOR SO ORGANIZING THE MILITARY FORCES OF THE EMPIRE AS TO ENSURE THEIR EFFECTIVE CO-OPERATION IN THE EVENT OF WAR.

In laying these proposals before the Members of the Conference the War Office is well aware that the representatives of the Over-sea Dominions cannot at the Conference pledge their Governments, or undertake in any way to bind the officers and men composing Over-sea Dominion forces to engagements beyond the shores and boundaries of their own countries. It is hoped, however, in view of the great importance of organizing on identical principles and with a common purpose, that this fact will not prevent full consideration being given at the Conference to the objects proposed.

To organize local forces so that in a time of supreme emergency they may concentrate and act together as one army in any part of the Empire does not lessen but actually tends to increase the efficiency of these forces for the local defence of their homes.

No one can predict the time or place where concentration for the protection of some threatened part of the Empire may be required. It is only by considering in time of peace and, so far as local political conditions render this possible, working out practicable plans for general mobilization that the military forces of the Empire as a whole can be made really effective.

R. B. HALDANE.

17th July, 1909.

INTRODUCTION.

1. The British Empire extends over more than a fifth of the earth's surface, and the King's subjects number more than a fifth of the inhabitants of the globe.

The military forces of the British Empire, including the Indian Army, the troops of the Over-sea Dominions, and the garrisons of colonies and stations all over the world, amount to-day to a total of nearly 1,200,000 officers and men who can be called to arms in the event of war; but of these troops the Native Army of India is to a great extent localized by political and military considerations, while the Territorial Force at home and the forces of the Over-sea Dominions are only liable to serve within their own areas, though if they volunteer to serve in time of war outside those areas, their offer may be accepted by His Majesty. Moreover, the British Regular Army has to provide a large garrison for India, and smaller garrisons for defended ports and naval bases abroad. Consequently, not only is the aggregate military force of the Empire small in proportion to the extent, population, and defensive requirements of the Empire, but the force available by its terms of service for expeditionary action in any part of the world, whether offensive or defensive in its nature, is almost insignificant when compared with the vast armies of the Continental Powers and Japan.

2. To produce an army which will be an effective instrument of war, so far as its numerical strength admits, its component parts should be organized and trained on a system which will render them capable of combined action in war. To produce an army which can promptly bring its full power to bear at the decisive point, its component parts should, as far as possible, be capable of employment in time of war in any theatre of operations where their services may be required. Only a fraction of the Military Forces of the Empire at present fulfils these conditions.

It is believed that the necessity for co-operation between the Over-sea Dominions and the Mother Country in case of a war threatening the integrity of the Empire is fully realized by all concerned, and definite proposals are submitted to the Conference in the following paper for the establishment of an Imperial military organization with that object in view.

3. The paper is divided into three parts—

Part I. contains general remarks on the military defence of the Empire.

Part II. suggests certain general principles on which the forces of the Over-sea Dominions might be organized, trained and administered, so as to be capable of forming a more effective part of an Imperial Army. Definite proposals are put forward for the consideration of the Governments of the Dominions as a first step in this direction.

Part III. deals with the development of the Imperial General Staff.

4. This paper is based on the clear understanding that, while the mother country confidently hopes to obtain the support and assistance of the over-sea Dominions in the event of a war in defence of the Empire, she does not ask for any specific undertaking from any one of the Dominions in regard to the strength and composition of the military force which that Dominion may decide to place at the disposal of the Empire in time of need.

W. G. NICHOLSON, General,
July 17, 1909. Chief of the General Staff.

PART I.

GENERAL REMARKS ON THE MILITARY DEFENCE OF THE EMPIRE.

1. At the Imperial Conference of 1907 the General Staff submitted a paper dealing with the 'strategical conditions of the Empire from a military point of view.' In it they endeavoured to enunciate the principles upon which the military organization of the Empire should be based, and emphasized the importance of adopting some common ideal for which all could work. It was pointed out that this ideal involved acceptance of the following principles:—

1st.—That without superiority at sea our Empire cannot be maintained.

2nd. That it is the duty of each self-governing portion of the Empire to provide, as far as possible, for its own territorial security.

3rd.—That schemes of mutual assistance in time of need should be prepared upon a definite system.

It appears to be generally recognized that these three principles of sea command, self-defence, and mutual support must be the basis of any sound system of Imperial Defence.

2. The mother country has recognized these needs—

(a) By the maintenance of a navy which is designed to keep command of the sea.

(b) By the provision of territorial forces for home defence.

(c) By the creation of an expeditionary force ready to proceed to any threatened part of the Empire.

The Dominions have shown their appreciation of two of the foregoing principles by their recently expressed desire to share in the burden imposed by naval armaments, and by their endeavour to organize efficient local forces.

3. The assembly of this Conference is a signal proof, if proof were needed, that the citizens of Greater Britain are now alive to the vital necessity of sea power, and that they realize that without it co-operation in war would be impossible, and the dissolution of our scattered Empire inevitable.

The risk of such a disaster must be avoided at all costs. It seems almost certain that, if the United Kingdom, with the aid of her daughter nations, can successfully maintain her maritime position, if the Empire continues to increase in military strength proportionately to its growth in wealth and population, and if we can organize some comprehensive system of Imperial strategy based upon the idea of mutual support by land and sea, the time cannot be far distant when we shall be practically unassailable.

4. In the case of a world-wide power like the British Empire, our armies, without naval protection, would be chained to their own shores, unable to move to the point of danger or to co-operate in any way. Similarly, our fleets, without the support of sufficiently numerous and adequately trained defensive armies, would be fettered in their action by the want of naval bases and by the fears of a defenceless population, whilst, without strong and well-organized military forces available for expeditionary action, we should be powerless to protect our land frontiers, to co-operate with an allied power, to carry a war into an enemy's country, or to bring it to a decisive issue.

The whole history of the British Empire is an illustration of the fact that the two services are inter-dependent, and that its safety hinges upon their combined action and cordial co-operation.

5. It is to the question of the most suitable military organization for such combined action that the General Staff desire upon this occasion to direct attention.

Owing to conditions peculiar to the British Empire, the Regular Forces of the Crown, which are raised in the United Kingdom, differ in two essential respects from those of nearly every foreign country, service in them being voluntary and of comparatively long duration. The system of enlistment and the terms of service in the Regular Army do not, therefore, admit of the accumulation of those vast reserves of trained men, which are at the disposal of Continental nations, and they compel us to look outside the Regular Army for that expansion which would become necessary directly we were engaged in a serious war. Outside the Regular Forces the troops are raised upon a non-permanent basis, and are only liable, as a rule, for service in defence of their own portion of the Empire. Consequently, we are likely to find ourselves face to face, in time of national emergency, with the necessity, subsequent to the outbreak of war, of supplementing the Regular Forces by means of improvised organizations and units for service over-sea. The adoption of this expedient may perhaps be unavoidable in certain cases under the peculiar conditions of the British Empire, but the General Staff can only look upon such a procedure as involving the acceptance of risks dangerously prejudicial to success. The evils which arise from it were made evident in the long drawnout struggle in South Africa, a conflict wherein our need for a proper Imperial military organization was plainly revealed. 'The true lesson of the war' (so runs the report of the Royal Commission) 'is that no military system will be satisfactory which does not contain powers of expansion outside the limits of the Regular Forces of the Crown, whatever that limit may be.'

The opinion then expressed is now generally accepted, and the efforts of those responsible for military organization have since been directed to the task of creating some system by which our comparatively small Regular Army can be supported and expanded to the extent which is necessary in time of war.

6. The most important of the measures recently adopted in the United Kingdom has been the reorganization of the Militia as a Special Reserve capable of making good the wastage of war, either as drafts or as complete units. Beyond this it has been made possible both for units and for individuals of the Territorial Force to undertake liability on an emergency for foreign service.

Since the last Confefence in 1907 progress has no doubt been made in all the self-governing Dominions in regard to the provision of military forces for local defence, increased attention is being paid to military training and education, and the importance of similarity of armament and organization has been recognized, whilst the foundations have been laid of an Imperial General Staff which, it is hoped, will direct the military policy of the Empire upon accepted principles.

In one direction, however, little or no progress has been made. In the over-sea Dominions no organization has yet been devised for rendering assistance to other parts of the Empire in an emergency. The time seems to have arrived when this important question should be considered.

7. It is fully realized that in the hour of danger the ties of kinship and affection which bind the self-governing Dominions to the Empire will prompt them to rally with enthusiasm to its aid. There seems, however, some reason to fear that an idea prevails that this help may be organized at leisure after hostilities have broken out. In certain circumstances no doubt this might be the case, but the conditions of modern warfare make it probable that great naval and military events will immediately follow, even if they do not precede, a declaration of war. If, therefore, organizations have to be improvised, staffs created, transport and equipment provided, and plans matured, after the outbreak of hostilities, the value of any assistance, however willingly and enthusiastically given, will be greatly lessened, even if such assistance be not altogether belated.

Modern warfare seldom admits of deliberation and improvization after the outbreak of hostilities. It demands such a peace system that mobilization and concentration, directly they are ordered, can proceed smoothly and rapidly. Our ability to render prompt assistance to any threatened part of the Empire, and the value of our friendship to possible allies, depend upon the number of men available for over-sea service, and the rapidity with which they can be conveyed to the decisive point.

The present situation of the Empire demands a frank and free interchange of views upon this subject.

8. It is not suggested that any one of the Dominions should be asked to undertake a definite obligation. Whatever is done must be done spontaneously and with due regard to the circumstances in which each one of them is situated. It is also realized that there are many obstacles to be surmounted before any system of mutual support can be satisfactorily elaborated. War, however, can only be brought to a decisive and successful conclusion by the offensive action of military force, combined in our case with naval superiority; and just as the British Government maintains such military force as its resources permit ready and able to proceed, in the furtherance of Imperial aims and interests, to any part of the world, so also might the forces of the Dominions be organized in such a way that their Governments would be ready, when the necessity should arise, to co-operate with the Mother Country and with each other to such extent as might seem good to them, without hasty improvization, but with speed and certainty.

9. Under the existing Militia and Defence Acts of the various Dominions their governments have no power to employ military forces outside their territories in furtherance of Imperial interests.

Moreover, the forces raised over-seas are maintained on a militia basis. They have been so raised and organized in order to provide economically for the local defence of young nations whose development would be retarded by the much higher cost of maintaining regular forces. Citizen forces so constituted usually undertake responsibility for home defence only, but it is hoped that it may be within the power of the Self-governing Dominions so to organize their forces as not only to provide for local defence, but also to be in a position to share to the extent of their will and resources in the defence of the Empire as a whole.

10. It is confidently anticipated that co-operation will be forthcoming from all parts of the Empire in time of need. But, in order to utilize these resources from over-seas to the best advantage, it is urged that the arrangements for organizing, training, and mobilizing the troops of the Over-sea Dominions, while primarily directed to local defence, should also include the possibility of the employment of a portion of such troops in a wider sphere.

11. The General Staff are well aware that in discussing the question of co-operation they are treading upon difficult and even delicate ground. They feel sure, however, that nothing but good can result from a clear statement at this Conference of the position of the Mother Country which, being responsible for the defence of the Empire is faced with a problem of great complexity. Within the limits of her financial capacity she has, whilst keeping command of the sea, to maintain a citizen force for home defence; she has to provide an expeditionary force ready to proceed over-sea at a moment's notice and capable of meeting a highly trained enemy; finally, she has to garrison India, most of the Naval Bases, and other Dependencies with professional troops both in peace and war. The Dominions are, at any rate, free from this third obligation, and such freedom simplifies for them the military task of rendering assistance to any part of the Empire which may require it. Free from the administrative difficulties which are inseparable from the work of providing reliefs and drafts of trained men for Indian and Colonial service, and from the financial burden which this implies, their task is reduced to one of so adjusting their organization for home defence as to admit of the despatch, without delay and without dislocation, of whatever forces they may be prepared to send to the aid of the Mother Country or of any other portion of the Empire.

12. The necessity for early consideration of this great question of Imperial military policy is increased by the fact that in proportion as danger threatens the heart of the Empire and compels the Mother Country to concentrate her naval and military forces, the immediate responsibility for the safety of the outlying portions of the Empire must tend to be delegated to her daughter nations, whose possession of alternative lines of communication might enable them to send prompt and efficient aid to some threatened point or to reinforce or relieve the regular forces of the Mother Country.

For instance, Australia and New Zealand are so situated that they might be able to send troops to reinforce India, or the garrisons of defended ports in Asiatic waters, at a time when it would be unsafe to despatch them from the United Kingdom by way of the Mediterranean. Similarly, a United South Africa might be able to raise a force not merely sufficient for home defence, but capable of giving effective assistance in the solution of any military problems which might arise upon the African Continent. Canada is in the best position, perhaps, to render aid promptly should trouble arise nearer home, or to reinforce Australia.

As time goes on and the Empire gathers strength, it will no doubt be possible to define more clearly the military responsibilities and spheres of activity which should be undertaken by each of its component parts, but the foundations of a sound system of Imperial organization must be laid as a preliminary to the development of such an ideal.

13. The value of the assistance which can thus be afforded to the Empire by the troops of our Over-sea Dominions depends to a great extent upon the actual fighting efficiency of the troops at the moment when their services are required. Except in a purely defensive role, it would not be prudent, at the commencement of a great war, to employ a large proportion of troops raised upon a non-permanent basis against a highly trained and well disciplined enemy.

14. We have in the British Empire a large number of armed men, but they have been raised under varying conditions of service, their standards of efficiency differ widely, and some of them are imperfectly organized for the work which they may be called upon to perform. The task which lies before this Conference is the foundation of a workable system which will enable us, should necessity arise, to employ the potential military strength of the Empire for a common Imperial purpose.

PART II.

PROPOSALS FOR THE ORGANIZATION, TRAINING, AND ADMINISTRATION OF THE FORCES OF THE OVER-SEA DOMINIONS, SO THAT THEY MAY FORM PART OF AN IMPERIAL ARMY.

1. In this part, certain general principles are suggested on which the forces of the Over-sea Dominions might be organized, trained and administered, in order that they may be capable of assisting in the military defence of the Empire in accordance with the requirements indicated in Part I. Certain definite proposals are also formulated for giving practical effect to the acceptance of these principles.

2. A common system of war organization implies that the general methods—

(1) Of organization of units and formations,
(2) Of drill and training,
(3) Of staff and administrative duties,
(4) Of maintenance with personnel, supplies and equipment, are identical, so that, whenever officers and men are concentrated together into a unit, they will be capable of forming an effective part of the forces in the field.

3. As regards the organization of units and larger formations, attention is invited to the organizations, which at present exist for Imperial defence in the United Kingdom, India and the Dominions, and also the fields of action for which they are available.

From a study of these organizations it appears that, while some progress has certainly been made, much remains to be done before it can be said that the forces of the Empire are organized on a common pattern.

At present, except in the case of Canada and Australia, which have a certain number of brigades, no higher organization than that of the regiment exists in the Dominions. Again, in none is it at present legally possible for a military unit to volunteer, as such, for service over-sea as part of an Imperial Army. As regards the existing units, we find mounted regiments with five to two squadrons, field artillery brigades with three or two batteries, infantry in regiments and battalions with a widely varying number of companies to each, and often single companies without a higher organization. The number of infantry units is, as a rule, out of proportion to that of units of the other arms, and there is a great deficiency in the administrative services, such as supply, transport, and medical units.

4. If the Dominions wish to have the power of affording prompt and effective help in the defence of the Empire, their military forces should be organized and trained in peace on a standard system, so that, when the necessity arises, complete units and formations may be available for combined action over-seas, as part of a homogeneous Imperial Army.

The first step towards rendering such an Imperial Army effective for combined action in war is the adoption of Imperial War Establishments, i.e., tables showing in detail the numbers of personnel, animals, guns and vehicles, and the scales of ammunition, tools and explosives, and supplies, with which the various formations and units composing an army take the field on mobilization. These might be based on Home War Establishments, but should contain different scales for transport, supply, &c., to suit campaigns in different countries.

5. At home and in India, previous defects in war organization have recently been remedied, as far as the Regular troops are concerned. At home, the organization of the troops allotted to the Field Army in Brigades and Divisions has been carried out, so that from the Regular Army at home and in the Colonies and Egypt, 7 Cavalry or Mounted Brigades, and 7 Divisions, exclusive of Lines of Communication troops, can be mobilized for over-sea service in the defence of the Empire.

From the British and native troops in India, a field army of 8 Mounted Brigades, and 9 Divisions, is available by its terms of service for employment in war.

In addition to the above, the Territorial troops of the United Kingdom have received a Divisional and Brigade organization practically identical with that of the Field Army, and legislation has recently been passed by which complete units of the Territorial Force are enabled to volunteer, as such, for service abroad.

6. The Dominions are, therefore, asked to consider and work out a policy by means of which the units of their existing forces may be so organized as to be capable of mobilizing at the war establishments of corresponding units in the United Kingdom, so that, should circumstances demand it, a proportion of these forces could be made available for Imperial purposes.

It is hoped that the development of the forces of the Dominions during the next few years will enable their respective Governments to consider the whole question of the numbers that might be made available for Imperial Service, always remembering that a passive defence is no defence.

7. When a number of units can be furnished, they should be grouped in the same manner as shown in Home War Establishments. That is, mounted troops as Mounted Brigades, other units as Divisions if sufficient in number—if not, as Infantry Brigades—with a due proportion of Divisional Troops.

8. Whatever may be the size of the force despatched, it should be accompanied by the requisite number of administrative units and Lines of Communication troops, so that its requirements may be met with respect to ammunition, supplies, medical and veterinary services, &c. It must be noted that no organization exists in the United Kingdom for supplying these units to the contingents which the Over-sea Dominions may be willing to contribute for Imperial Service.

As regards Lines of Communication units, the following are requisite:—

(1.) General Hospitals	2 per Division. 1 per 2 Mounted Brigades.
(2.) Stationary Hospitals	2 per Division. 1 per 2 Mounted Brigades.
(3.) Clearing Hospitals	1 per Division.
(4.) Hospital Ships	1 per Division.
(5.) Advanced Depot of Medical Stores	1 per 2 Divisions.
(6.) Base Depôt of Medical Stores..	1 per 2 Divisions.
(7.) Depôt Units of Supply	6 per Division. 2 per Mounted Brigade.
(8.) Bakery Sections	1 per Division 1 per 3 Mounted Brigades.
(9.) Veterinary Sections	1 per Division. 1 per Mounted Brigade.
(10.) Base Accounts Unit	1 per Contingent.
(11.) Advanced Depôt Post Office..	1 per Division. 1 per 3 Mounted Brigades.
(12.) Base Record Office	1 per Contingent.
(13.) Ordnance Depôt Units.. ..	3 per Division. 1 per Mounted Brigade.

(Vide 'War Establishments, 1908-9.')

9. The same military terms should be adopted throughout the Empire, especially as regards names of similar bodies of troops, e.g., 'Cavalry Regiment,' 'Field Company,' 'Infantry Battalion.' Confusion in staff and administrative arrangements is the inevitable accompaniment of a varied nomenclature for units whose functions in war are identical.

10. In view of the above proposals, the need for a book of Imperial War Establishments is apparent, and the most simple course would be to adopt the War Establishments in force in the Home Regular Army with modifications to suit campaigns in different countries.

11. As regards training, it is hoped that the principles of training laid down in the training manuals of the British Army may be adopted throughout the Empire. In some parts of the Empire, owing to climatic differences, some slight modifications may be necessary in the application of the principles to suit local conditions.

This year three important manuals have been issued to the Army, viz., 'Field Service Regulations,' Parts I and II, and 'Training and Manœuvre Regulations.'

Field Service Regulations, Part I (Operations), deals with the general principles which govern the leading of the Army in war, and upon it the training manuals of the various arms are based.

Field Service Regulations, Part II (War Organization and Administration), gives the principles and rules which govern the duties of the Staff and Administrative Services respectively, as well as the system of maintenance in personnel, supplies and matériel, of an army in the field.

Training and Manœuvre Regulations give the principles and instructions for peace training, both individual and collective, as well as the rules governing the conduct of staff tours, regimental exercises and manœuvres.

In addition to the above, there are the separate training manuals in use by the various arms of the Service, e.g., Cavalry, Artillery, Engineers, Infantry, &c.

12. For all staff and administrative work it is suggested that the Governments of the Dominions should accept and adopt the principles in the three manuals quoted above.

13. Reference has already been made to the matter of personnel. As regards supplies and equipment, it cannot be expected that the Dominions should at once adopt the patterns in use in the Home Regular Army in all particulars, though they can adopt its methods. At the same time it must be pointed out that serious inconvenience and difficulty in the administration of an army in the field is invariably caused by departures from uniformity in matériel. In the case of arms and ammunition such a lack of uniformity may have the gravest effects on the issue of an action.

It is hoped, therefore, that the Dominions may see their way to adopt, as soon as possible and as far as possible, the pattern of all stores, equipment, arms and ammunition in use by the British Army in the field.

14. In order that the various parts of the Empire may be in a position to place an efficient Imperial Army in the field, should circumstances require it, it is suggested that a constructive policy should at once be adopted, and that a plan, suited to its own special conditions, should be laid down as a starting point by each Dominion.

The following questions are submitted for consideration in pursuance of such a policy:—

1st. Is each part of the Empire willing to make its preparations on such lines as will enable it, should it so desire, to take its share in the general defence of the Empire?

2nd. Shall the war establishments of units of the Dominion forces be assimilated as far as possible to the approved war establishments of units of the Regular forces?

3rd. Will the Dominions endeavour to organize their existing forces so as to be capable of mobilizing in accordance with the above establishments for a common Imperial object?

4th Will the Dominions adopt, as far as practicable, the Field Service Regulations and Training Manuals issued to the Home Regular Army as the basis of the organization, administration, and training of their troops?

5th. Are the Dominions prepared to adopt, as far as possible, Imperial patterns of arms, equipment and stores?

If the foregoing questions are answered in the affirmative, the details could be worked out by the local General Staffs under the orders of the Governments of the Dominions, the War Office being referred to when necessary.

PART III.

PROPOSALS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE IMPERIAL GENERAL STAFF.

1. His Majesty's Government, in December, 1908, submitted to the Governments of the Over-sea Dominions proposals in regard to the formation of an Imperial General Staff. These proposals have now been accepted in principle. Local conditions in each Dominion are so dissimilar, and differ so widely from those which obtain at home, that it is felt that, having accepted the principles, it now lies with the Governments over-sea to take the next step, and to put forward the proposals they advocate for giving practical effect to the scheme in their respective countries.

2. Attached as an appendix to this paper (marked A.) will be found summaries of the proposals recommended by the Canadian Government, and of a memorandum written by Major-General Hoad, Inspector-General, Commonwealth Military Forces, with General Sir William Nicholson's comments thereon. Major-General Hoad's memorandum has, however, not yet been considered by the Government of Australia.

It is hoped, however, that these summaries may serve as a basis for an examination of the problem, and that by discussing the proposals, and considering the essential details by which practical effect may be given to the principles already enunciated, both the home and the Over-sea governments may be enabled to assist each other towards the common end, which is the formation and growth of an Imperial General Staff, and its establishment on a firm and business-like footing.

3. It will be noticed that education is the keynote of both the proposals—not only that higher education at a Staff College which is essential if the Imperial General Staff is to be composed of a body of officers trained to think alike on all matters of principle, but the preliminary education, by which officers can be so grounded and prepared as to be able to profit by the Staff College training when their time comes to be selected to go through the course at Camberley or Quetta, or, in the future, at the local Staff Colleges.

4. The necessity for both preparatory and higher education is so apparent that its importance need not be further insisted upon, but the manner in which it should be conducted is just one of those essential details which requires the closest attention of the Conference. It is suggested that the home authorities may be able to assist the Over-sea Dominions in this connection by the loan of qualified officers, should their Governments—as in the case of Canada—require help in the staffing of their educational establishments until they possess sufficient qualified instructors of their own.

5. Intimately connected with the subject of the loan of officers from the Home Regular Forces to the Over-sea Dominions is the question of the temporary interchange between officers for General Staff duties in different parts of the Empire.

It is a question which needs consideration from the following points of view:—

(1.) The fitness of the officers proposed for exchange in respect of the duties they will be required to perform,

(2.) The financial aspect,

(3.) The most satisfactory way of commissioning officers in order to give them the necessary status and authority,

(4.) The determining of the authority with whom shall rest the proposals for the interchanges.

(1.) In regard to the first point—

This is mainly a matter of education. Some years must necessarily elapse before the forces of the Over-sea Dominions can count on having in their ranks a number of officers whose General Staff training will enable them to interchange on terms of professional equality with those of the Home Regular Army.

This disparity in numbers will be less apparent among officers of the junior ranks in proportion to the number of officers who are selected to go through the Camberley and Quetta Staff Colleges—though the fact must be borne in mind that, at both of these Colleges, the accommodation is limited—but in the senior ranks it would appear that, with some exceptions, the system of interchange must, for some considerable time, give place to a system of loan.

It might even be possible to shorten this time, in fact, to bridge over this period, as regards senior officers, by sending to the Over-sea Dominions selected officers from home for a limited period to help officers in General Staff methods when the local sections of the Imperial General Staff are first formed.

Until, however, some progress has been made in applying the same system of General Staff organization throughout the Empire, so that it can be reasonably assured that General Staff duties will be performed on the same principles,—subject to such modifications in detail as local conditions may dictate—a regular interchange of officers of senior rank seems hardly practicable.

(2.) The second point is one of considerable difficulty.

If the 'Comparative statement of rates of pay, Home, India and the Colonies' (see Appendix B) be studied, the bearing of the financial aspect on the subject will be at once apparent. In India, for example, the rates of pay and allowances are largely in excess of those allotted to similar appointments at home, the reason being that in order to induce officers to serve in that country there needed to be not only pecuniary advantages, but also compensation for the higher cost of living and for climatic disadvantages.

The rates of pay in the Over-sea Dominions have been framed, no doubt, in accordance with local conditions and requirements.

It may be difficult to assimilate the rates of pay for General Staff appointments throughout the Empire, but at an informal conference held by the Chief of the General Staff in London on 30th April, 1907, at which, however, the only representative from the Over-sea Dominions was Sir Frederick Borden, it was agreed that, 'As regards the pay of officers exchanged, it was desirable that for the same grades of appointment there should be a universal scale of pay, any difference to meet local conditions being made upby local rates and allowances.'

In Major-General Hoad's memorandum it is recommended that, in Australia, there should be three grades of General Staff Officers, paid as in England. The Chief of the General Staff made the following comment on this proposal: 'Similarity of grading would facilitate matters, but a universal rate of pay would not work with local conditions'; and Sir W. Nicholson drew attention to the guiding principle that 'Officers sent to serve far from their homes must be adequately paid.'

Thus, while we must be prepared to assess the value of appointments and fix a rate based upon responsibility and local conditions, we must not neglect to appraise at their true value the additional allowances which should be apportioned to those appointments when it is desired to fill them by officers from abroad.

This question of allowances applies equally to an officer going out from home to an Over-sea Dominion, and to an officer from an Over-sea Dominion coming to England.

It cannot be expected that an officer whose qualifications lead him to hope that home appointments at 800*l.* per annum are open to him will willingly serve abroad at a smaller, or even equal, emolument, taking into consideration the necessary initial outlay and the unfamiliar conditions of living.

There must, in fact, be some inducement to offer, or the services of officers of the right type may not be found available when needed.

(3.) In regard to the third point, it is submitted for the consideration of the Conference that the issue of a temporary commission to the officers concerned will meet the case. For example, an officer of the Australian Military Forces on duty in England would receive a temporary commission in the Home Regular Forces; similarly an officer belonging to the latter would, while on duty in the Commonwealth, receive a temporary commission in the Australian Forces.

This arrangement, which appears to be simple and safe, has been found to work satisfactorily in the past, and is considered to be a sound arrangement to continue in the future.

(4.) The final point in connection with the question of interchange of officers is to decide with whom the initiative in the matter should rest.

It might perhaps be contended that the Chief of the Imperial General Staff would be the proper person to recommend and order the moves, but this procedure, if followed, would affect the principle of the full local control which, throughout the Imperial General Staff Memorandum, is so rightly insisted upon. It would seem best, therefore, to arrange that the initative in regard to making proposals for the interchange of officers should be vested in the Governments of the Over-sea Dominions, and provision made for notification to the Chief of the Imperial General Staff through the Governments concerned of each proposed exchange.

(NOTE.—In this connection it must be recollected that though the financial year ends on the same date in Canada as in England, viz., 31st March, the dates in Australia and New Zealand are, respectively, 30th June and 31st December.)

6. It is laid down in the Imperial General Staff Memorandum that 'While the Chiefs of the local sections of the Imperial General Staff keep in close communication with the Chief of the Imperial General Staff, they cannot receive orders from him.' Thus, at the outset, is established the principle of the full control of the local Chief by his own Government. There are, however, certain matters of routine, and questions of a purely ephemeral nature, regarding which the several Ministers of Defence may be disposed to authorize direct communication being established between sections, and between the central body and sections, of the Imperial General Staff.

7. In order to assist in the development of the Imperial General Staff, the views of the Governments of the Over-sea Dominions are invited on the following points:—

1st. In what manner is it proposed to arrange for the preliminary and higher education of officers of the local forces?

2nd. Are the services of any qualified General Staff Officers of the Home Regular Army required by any of the Dominions? If so, what number of officers would be required, when, what would be their duties, and what emoluments would be offered? What should be their grading?

3rd. Do the views advanced on the subject of the interchange of General Staff Officers meet with general concurrence?

4th. Is the principle of direct communication to the limited extent indicated in paragraph 6 generally acceptable?

APPENDIX A.

SUMMARY OF THE REPLIES TO THE PROPOSALS FOR AN IMPERIAL GENERAL STAFF.

A.—CANADA.

Accepts principles enunciated in Imperial General Staff paper, and considers that those principles can best be applied 'by an extension of the functions of Royal Military College, Kingston, and by including among its instructing staff specially selected officers from the educational branch of the Imperial General Staff.' Their efforts are to be directed towards raising the standard of professional proficiency and promoting uniformity of thought among the officers of the Dominion forces who, in due course will compose the local section of the Imperial General Staff.

(1) To send Canadian candidates for Imperial Staff College to Royal Military College, Kingston, for 6 months before the entrance examination. (Not to compete unless fully recommended by Commandant.)

(2) New Commandant to be a General Staff Officer, 1st Grade, belonging to the Home regular army with previous instructional experience.

(3) To obtain the services of two General Staff Officers, 2nd Grade, from the Home regular army. Their duties—to prepare Imperial Staff College candidates, assist education generally at Kingston, attend staff rides, regimental tours, and war games; lecture at Universities where military instruction is provided, serve on General Staff at annual camps, and take part in the training of the Permanent Force at the central camp, prepare schemes, set papers and act as examiners.

(4) To organize Canadian General Staff in such a manner as to—

(a) Provide Militia Council with materials with which to formulate a general policy in military matters.

(b) To secure uniformity and continuity in the execution of that policy.

(c) To advance the formation of an Imperial General Staff.

(5) To organize Canadian General Staff in three Divisions—

(a) General Staff at Militia Headquarters to perfor mduties assigned by Order in Council dated December 7, 1904.

(b) General Staff in Commands and Districts to perform similar duties under the officers on whose staff they are serving.

(c) General Staff Officers at Royal Military College (instructional duties).

No officer from the Canadian General Staff to be eligible for Imperial General Staff unless p.s.c. or qualified by service in the field.

(6) Canadian Section of Imperial General Staff to consist for the present of Chief of Canadian General Staff.
Commandant, Royal Military College.

The necessity of a Staff College is admitted, but the establishment of one is not within the range of practical politics for some time to come. Meanwhile Canada is prepared to bear her proportion of any increased expense at Camberley if officers may continue to go there.

B.—AUSTRALIA.

Accepts principles enunciated in Imperial General Staff paper.

Major-General Hoad, in a memorandum, dated 3rd February, 1909, sets forth certain proposals with regard to the formation of a section of the Imperial General Staff in Australia. These proposals have not yet received the sanction of the Commonwealth Government. They are as follows:—

(1) The Commonwealth Section of Imperial General Staff to comprise—(a) Headquarters Section.
  (b) The General Staff in Districts.

The Headquarters Section to consist of two Directorates—
  (i.) Defence Organization Directorate.
  (ii.) Military Training Directorate.

The proposed establishment is given in I.

Their duties are analogous to our Director of Military Operations, Director of Staff Duties, and Director of Military Training.

The duties of the General Staff in Districts correspond as far as possible to those of the two Directors at Headquarters.

The proposed establishment is given in II.

(2) Only specially qualified officers, including those of the Citizen Forces, to be appointed to the Commonwealth Section Imperial General Staff in Districts.

(3) No appointments to Imperial General Staff to be made other than provisionally, except —

Chief of Commonwealth Section Imperial General Staff, 2 Directors.

(4) When provisional appointments are confirmed, General Staff officers to be sent to England for further experience, either for attachment or in exchange for p.s.c. officers.

(5) A specially qualified officer always to be employed on, or attached to, Central Staff in London.

(6) Appointments to Commonwealth Section Imperial General Staff to be for 4 years.

(7.) To be three grades of General Staff officers, paid as at present in the War Office in England, viz:—

1st Grade	£800	per annum.
3rd "	500	"

(8.) A Conference to be held at the War Office after the Scheme has been under trial a reasonable time and, subsequently, once in every 3 years under the Chief of the Imperial General Staff.

(9.) To establish a Permanent School of Military Instruction, with a staff of highly qualified officers, under the supervision of the Chief of the Commonwealth Section of the Imperial General Staff, its object being to train officers for the Imperial General Staff, and to hold Courses of Instruction periodically for the education of officers of the Permanent and Citizen Forces in the accepted principles of modern training.

The detailed proposals for this school are contained in III.

PROPOSALS FOR INSTITUTION OF A SCHOOL OF MILITARY INSTRUCTION.

1. Objects in view—

(a.) To prepare candidates for the Staff College: to fill temporary General Staff appointments at Headquarters and in Districts, until Staff College graduates are available; to enable officers to qualify for higher appointments on the Administrative and Instructional Staff.

(b). To give officers, upon first appointment to all branches of the Permanent Forces, a uniform grounding in the rudiments of their profession.

(c.) To provide courses of instruction at the School and in Districts for officers of the Permanent and Citizen Forces, in order to disseminate throughout the forces of the Commonwealth, approved principles as regards organization and training, and the best method of applying these principles to local conditions.

2. School to be supervised by Chief of Commonwealth Imperial General Staff—
2 Instructors, 2nd Grade Imperial General Staff } .ps.c. officers obtained
Commandant, 1st Grade Imperial General Staff } from home in the first case, assisted by temporary qualified officers.

3. A.—A senior class for more advanced students.
B.—A junior class for officers on first appointment.
C.—Courses to be held at, and away from, the school at various military centres.

4. From 6 months to 1 year.
5. For A Course. . . . . .10 officers (two to be selected for Staff College).
For B Course. 10
For C Course. . . . . .10 at the School.

Total. . . . . .30 officers.

It would therfore appear, if a suitable building could be hired as a temporary measure, that the ultimate erection and location of the school might be left for future consideration.

COMMENTS BY THE CHIEF OF THE GENERAL STAFF ON MAJOR-GENERAL HOAD'S PROPOSALS.

1. Principles in full accord with War Office Memorandum.

2. Suggests postponing for the present the appointment of General Staff Officers in Districts.

3. Draws attention to General and Administrative staffs working in unison.

4. Major-General Hoad's proposals as to the constitution and duties of Commonwealth Section, Imperial General Staff, in accord with War Office Memorandum.

5. Questions whether officers of Citizen Forces would be sufficiently qualified to perform duties of General Staff Officers in Districts. Points out necessity of highly-trained officers.

6. Interchange of officers and necessity of an Australian Officer being at Army Headquarters approved.

7. Similarity of grading throughout the Empire would facilitate matters, but universal rate of pay would not work in with local conditions. Draws attention to guiding principle "Officers sent to serve far from their homes must be adequately paid."

8. Notes that Major-General Hoad's proposals recognize that adequate military education essential, and offers to give any assistance or advice possible in the formation of a School of Military Instruction in Australia.

C.—NEW ZEALAND.

Accepts principles enunciated in Imperial General Staff paper. No proposals as yet received.

D.—SOUTH AFRICA.

Has not yet accepted principles enunciated in Imperial General Staff paper, owing to Transvaal, Cape Colony, Natal, and Orange River Colony all being in agreement that, owing to the possible unification of South Africa, the present would be an inopportune time for the several Colonies to commit themselves to any engagement.

APPENDIX C.

PROPOSALS REGARDING THE FURTHER TRAINING OF OFFICERS OF THE FORCES OF THE OVER-SEA DOMINIONS AFTER LEAVING THE STAFF COLLEGE.

1. On page 10* of the Imperial General Staff paper the following propositions are put forward, viz.:—

> 'After graduating at a staff college, an officer should return to regimental duty with troops for a time, in order to refresh his knowledge of their wants and feelings in the light of his wider experience. This period should, if possible, be for at least 1 year's duration.'
> 'After this, officers selected as likely to be suitable for General Staff work should undergo, under the eye of the Chief of the local section of the General Staff, a probationary course of practical staff training with troops and at headquarters, during which they would be fully reported on, with regard to their fitness for the Imperial General Staff. Under present conditions this course of staff training should be carried on under the supervision of the Chief of the Imperial General Staff in London, or in India under that of the Commander-in-Chief of the Forces in that country.'

2. It is a question for consideration whether, in the case of officers belonging to the forces of the Over-sea Dominions, the probationary period alluded to above should not precede the return of the officer to regimental duty in his own Dominion.

It has been acknowledged that, for some time to come, the higher training necessary to fit an officer for work on the General Staff must, in the case of officers from the Over-sea Dominions, be carried out at the Camberley or Quetta Staff Colleges, i.e., until the Dominions establish Staff Colleges of their own.

3. It is suggested, therefore, that after the 2-years' course at the Staff College opportunity might well be taken for the attachment of these officers for 1 year to the different Directorates of the General Staff at Army Headquarters in England or India as the case may be, and also for a period to the staff in commands, where they could be initiated into the practical working of General Staff methods with troops.

This probationary period might be arranged as follows:—

AT HEADQUARTERS UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THE CHIEF OF THE IMPERIAL GENERAL STAFF.

In the Military Operations Directorate—
Two months.

In the Staff Duties Directorate—
Two months.

In the Military Training Directorate—
Four months (to include attachment to the staff in a command, and attendance at manœuvres and training, under arrangements to be made by the Director of Military Training and under the supervision of the Brigadier-General of the General Staff of the command).

4. As, moreover, it is very necessary that a prospective General Staff Officer should be given the opportunity of studying the administrative work of the Army, the officers, allowing 1 month for leave, should be attached for the remaining 3 months to the Adjutant-General's and Quarter-Master-General's branches of the Staff at Army Headquarters.

5. After this probationary period, which it is submitted will greatly enhance the value of the Staff College training, the officers should return to their respective Dominions and revert to regimental duty with troops, as indicated in the extract from the Imperial General Staff paper quoted in paragraph 1 of these proposals.

PROPOSALS REGARDING THE PROCEDURE TO BE FOLLOWED IN ARRANGING THE INTERCHANGE OF STAFF OFFICERS BETWEEN THE DIFFERENT SECTIONS OF THE IMPERIAL GENERAL STAFF.

On page 11* of the Imperial General Staff paper a question of the temporary interchange between officers for duty in different parts of the Empire is discussed. In the 'Proposals for so organizing the military forces of the Empire as to ensure their effective co-operation in the event of war,' Part 3 (pages 42-43), the subject is further considered.

It remains to suggest a means by which these interchanges can be most conveniently arranged. It is suggested the following procedure will meet the case, viz.:—

In the first instance, the Chief of the Local Headquarters Section concerned, under the authority of his Government, should communicate with the Chief of the Imperial General Staff at the War Office informing him of the needs of the Dominion Forces in regard to the officer required for interchange, the rates of pay, duties of the appointment, and when and where required. The Chief of the Imperial General Staff will then send the names of suitable officers, who are available, to the Chief of the Local Headquarters Section. The latter must then arrange the matter with his Minister, and a formal application for the services of the officer selected by the Minister should then go forward from the Government of the Dominion to the Colonial Office.

In the same manner, when the Chief of the Imperial General Staff is desirous of obtaining the services of an officer of the local forces for employment in a General Staff appointment in the Home Regular Army, he should communicate with the Chief of the Local Headquarters Section concerned, who, with the concurrence of his Minister, would submit the names of suitable officers who are available to the Chief of the Imperial General Staff.

The latter would then apply, through the Colonial Office, for the services of the selected officer to the Government of the Dominion concerned.

As pointed out, however, in paragraph 5 (1) of Part III. of the 'Proposals for so organizing the military forces of the Empire as to ensure their effective co-operation in the event of war,' equality of interchanging cannot be expected until the military education and higher staff training of the officers of the local forces have been assimilated to those of the officers of the Home Regular Army.

A procedure based on similar lines will be applicable when the Government of a Dominion desires to obtain the services of a general staff officer either of the Indian Army, or of another Dominion, in exchange for one of her own officers.

APPENDIX E.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM, WITH TABLES, SHOWING GENERALLY THE PROPOSED ORGANIZATION AND DISTRIBUION OF THE DUTIES OF THE IMPERIAL GENERAL STAFF.

1. Table I. shows broadly the organization and principal duties of the General Staff at Imperial Headquarters in Peace.

All questions, which affect the war organization, training, equipment and fighting efficiency of the army in general, are initiated by, or submitted to, the Department of the Chief of the General Staff.

If these questions involve principles, or are otherwise of importance, the views of the three Directors are obtained by means of personal interviews, conferences, and minutes, and these, whether unanimous or not, are referred to the Chief of the General Staff for his decision and approval. The decision thus reached represents the official view of the General Staff, and serves as a foundation on which the other Departments in the War Office base their administrative policy.

2. Table II. shows the distribution of Staff Duties in war at General Headquarters of the forces in the field. It should be noted that Field Service Regulations, Part II., lay down that the authority of the Commander-in-Chief of the forces in the field is to be exercised through his Chief of the General Staff, who is his responsible adviser on everything that affects military operations. In the case of a smaller formation this adviser is the senior officer of the General Staff.

Although charged with the general co-ordination of staff work at General Headquarters, the Chief of the General Staff is not concerned with the detailed working of th Adjutant-General's and Quarter-Master General's branches of the Staff.

3. Table III. shows the organization in war of the General Staff for the Headquarters of an Army, i.e., a Group of two or more Divisions.

4. Table IV. shows graphically how the system of command in the field is built up, and the manner in which responsibility is decentralized amongst subordinate commanders.

5. Table V. has been drawn up with a view to showing in tabular form the duties which would fall to Local Headquarters Sections of the Imperial General Staff under the scheme which was foreshadowed in the paper submitting the proposals for the formation of an Imperial General Staff to the self-governing Dominions.

It has been generally agreed that questions affecting the Empire as a whole should be decided by the Central Body at Imperial Headquarters. The functions which have therefore been allotted to the Local Headquarters Sections are confined to the study of local needs and local possibilities, and to the supervision of the application of general principles under local conditions.

Summary of result of meetings:—

PRESENT:

The Right Honourable R. K. McKENNA, M.P., First Lord of the Admiralty, in the Chair.

Admiral of the Fleet Sir JOHN FISHER, G.C.B., O.M., First Sea Lord of the Admiralty.

Rear-Admiral the Hon. A. E. BETHELL, C.M.G., Director of Naval Intelligence.

W. GRAHAM GREENE, Esq., C.B., Assistant Secretary of the Admiralty.

Rear-Admiral Sir C. L. OTTLEY, K.C.M.G., M.V.O., Secretary to the Committee of Imperial Defence.

Australia—

Colonel the Hon. J. F. G. FOXTON, C.M.G., Minister without portfolio.

Captain A. R. CRESWELL, C.M.G.

Captain J. R. CHANCELLOR, D.S.O., Assistant Secretary to Imperial Conference.

The suggestions made in the Admiralty Memorandum formed the basis of the discussion and the following arrangements were provisionally adopted, viz.:—

Australia should provide a Fleet Unit to consist of:—

3 Unarmoured Cruisers ('Bristol' class).
6 Destroyers (River class).
3 Submarines (C. Class).

These vessels should be manned as far as possible by Australian officers and seamen, and the numbers required to make up the full complement for immediate purposes should be lent by the Royal Navy.

In peace time and while on the Australian Station this Fleet unit would be under the exclusive control of the Commonwealth Government as regards their movements and general administration, but officers and men should be governed by regulations similar to the King's Regulations, and be under naval discipline, and when with vessels of the Royal Navy, the senior officer should take command of the whole. Further, when placed by the Commonwealth Government at the disposal of the Admiralty in war time, the vessels should be under the control of the Naval Commander-in-Chief.

The Australian Fleet unit should form part of the Eastern Fleet of the Empire to be composed of similar units of the Royal Navy, to be known as the China and the East Indies units respectively and the Australia Unit.

The initial cost of such a Fleet unit was estimated to be approximately:—

1 Armoured Cruiser (new 'Indomitable' class)	£2,000,000
3 Unarmoured Cruiser ('Bristols') at £350,000	1,050,000
6 Destroyers (River class) at £80,000	480,000
3 Submarines (C. class) at £55,000	165,000
Total	£3,695,000

The annual expenditure in connection with the maintenance of the Fleet Unit, pay of personel, and interest on first cost and sinking fund, was estimated to be about £600,000, to which amount a further additional sum would have to be added in view of the higher rates of pay in Australia and the cost of training and subsidiary establishments, making an estimated total of £750,000 a year.

This annual cost should be disbursed by the Commonwealth, except that the Imperial Government, until such time as the Commonwealth could take over the whole cost, should assist the Commonwealth Government by an annual contribution of £250,000 towards the maintenance of the complete Fleet unit.

The annual subsidy of £200,000 under the existing agreement should be paid as heretofore by the Commonwealth to the Imperial Government up to the time when the existing Australian Squadron should be relieved by the new Australian Fleet unit.

When desired, officers and men of the Australian service might be sent for training and service to vessels and training schools of the Royal Navy and their places taken by officers and men of the Royal Navy who, with the approval of the Admiralty, should volunteer for service in vessels of the Australian Navy.

The dockyard, &c., at Sydney, should on the completion of the fleet unit be handed over to the Commonwealth Government free of charge, on condition that it is to be maintained in a state of full and complete efficiency, and that it shall not be diverted from its original purpose.

The construction of the Armoured Cruiser should be undertaken as soon as possible, and the remaining vessels should be constructed under conditions which would ensure their completion, as nearly as possible, simultaneously with the completion and readiness for service of the Armoured Cruiser, which it is understood would be in about 2½ years.

Training Schools for officers and men should be established locally and arrangements made for the manufacture, supply, and replenishment of the various naval, ordnance, and victualling stores required by the Squadron. Until stores and munitions of war are manufactured in Australia the vessels of the Australian unit should be supplied as far as possible with stores, ammunition, and ordnance stores in the same manner, and at the same cost, as other vessels of His Majesty's Service.

Great stress was laid upon the maintenance of the same general standard of training, discipline, and general efficiency both in ships and officers and men.

11th August, 1909.

DEAR MR. MCKENNA,

At to-day's meeting you explained that the general idea underlying the Admiralty memorandum was that the present East Indies, China, and Australian Squadrons should be treated strategically as one Far Eastern or, as you thought as a preferable term, Pacific Station, and that each of the principal portions of this station should have a complete Fleet unit, the Commonwealth Government maintaining one unit in Australian waters, in lieu of the present Australian Squadron, and the Imperial Government providing the remainder, the 'Dreadnought' cruiser presented by New Zealand forming the flagship of the China unit. If Canada found herself able also to come into this agreement, her contribution to the Pacific Station would be a fourth unit.

I think it will conduce to clearness if I state my views in writing, hence this memorandum.

I expressed myself as generally satisfied with this arrangement as a strategic plan, but I would point out that if, as I understood, Australia is providing an independent unit, it means the superseding of the present British Australian Squadron, and the fact of that being done would, on its completion, determine the Naval Agreement with Australia and New Zealand, thus creating an entirely new position.

I favour one great Imperial Navy with all the Oversea Dominions contributing either in ships or money, and with Naval Stations at the self-governing Dominions supplied with ships by and under the control of the Admiralty. I however realise the difficulties, and recognise that Australia and Canada in this important matter are doing that which their respective Governments consider to be best, but the fact remains that the alterations that will be brought about upon the establishment of an Australian unit will alter the present position with New Zealand.

New Zealand's maritime interests in her own waters and her dependent islands in the Pacific would, under the altered arrangements, be almost entirely represented by the Australian Fleet unit, and not, as at present, by the Imperial Fleet. This important fact I consider necessitates some suitable provision being made for New Zealand, which country has the most friendly feeling in every respect for Australia and its people, and I am anxious that in the initiation of new arrangements with the Imperial Government under the altered conditions the interests of New Zealand should not be overlooked. I consider it my duty to point this out and to have the direct connection between New Zealand and the Royal Navy maintained in some concrete form.

New Zealand will supply a 'Dreadnought' for the British Navy as already offered; the ship to be under the control of and stationed wherever the Admiralty considers advisable.

I fully realise that the creation of specific units, one in the East, one in Australia, and, if possible, one in Canada, would be a great improvement upon the existing condition of affairs, and the fact that the New Zealand 'Dreadnought' was to be the flagship of the China-Pacific unit is, in my opinion, satisfactory. I however consider it is desirable that a portion of the China-Pacific unit should remain in New Zealand waters, and I would suggest that two of the new 'Bristol' cruisers, together with three destroyers and two submarines, should be detached from the China station in time of peace and stationed in New Zealand waters; that these vessels should come under the flag of the Admiral of the China unit; that the flagship should make periodical visits to New Zealand waters; and that there should be an interchange in the service of the cruisers between New Zealand and China, under conditions to be laid down.

The ships should be manned, as far as possible, by New Zealand officers and men, and in order that New Zealanders might be attracted to serve in the Fleet, local rates should be paid to those New Zealanders who enter, in the same manner as under the present Australian and New Zealand agreement, such local rates being treated as deferred pay.

The determination of the agreement with Australia has, of necessity, brought up the position of New Zealand under that joint agreement. I therefore suggest that on completion of the China unit, the present agreement with New Zealand should cease, that its contribution of £100,000 per annum should continue and be used to pay the difference in the rates of pay to New Zealanders above what would be paid under the ordinary British rate. If the contribution for the advanced rate of pay did not amount to £100,000 per annum, any balance to be at the disposal of the Admiralty.

The whole of this fleet unit to be taken in hand and completed before the end of 1912, and I should be glad if the squadron as a whole would then visit New Zealand on the way to China, leaving the New Zealand detachment there under its Senior Officer.

I remain,
Yours sincerely,

J. G. WARD.

The Right Honourable R. McKenna, M.P.,
Admiralty, Whitehall, S.W.

18th August, 1909.

DEAR SIR JOSEPH,

The suggestions made by you at the meeting on the 11th and recited by you in your letter to me of the same date have been carefully considered and concurred in by the Admiralty.

The present Naval Agreement with Australia and New Zealand will not be renewed, and in view of this fact and the other special circumstances referred to by you the part of the China Fleet unit, as set out by you, will be maintained in New Zealand waters as their headquarters. Your wish that the ships of the Fleet as a whole, or at any rate the armoured ship and the cruisers, when completed, should pay a visit to New Zealand on the way to China shall also be carried out.

I take this opportunity on behalf of the Admiralty of repeating their sincere thanks to the New Zealand Government for taking so important a part in the inception of the present Conference. The Admiralty feel that every effort should be made to work out a scheme acceptable to the people of New Zealand, having regard to the patriotic action taken by yourself and your Ministers in March last.

I remain,
Yours sincerely,

REGINALD McKENNA.

REPORT

UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE FOR EXTERNAL AFFAIRS.*

To the Honourable CHARLES MURPHY, K.C., M.P.,

Secretary of State for External Affairs.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit herewith a report on the affairs of the Department of External Affairs covering the first year of its existence.

The Act by which the Department was created was brought into operation by proclamation of the Governor General on June 1, 1909, and steps were forthwith taken for its organization and for the inception of its work. Temporary accommodation having been obtained in the House of Commons building, it was possible to begin operations early in July. About the middle of October its location was transferred to quarters in the Trafalgar building, at the corner of Queen and Bank Streets, where it is now established.

In addition to the current business of the Department, a highly important and laborious part of its work is the laying of foundations for its future usefulness by collecting and arranging the papers recording the history of Canada's external relations. Good progress has been made with this work, especially as regards the more recent papers, but much remains to be done.

The current correspondence with which the Department has been called on to deal, has been concerned with subjects of perhaps rather more than usual interest, as will appear from the following brief review.

TRADE RELATIONS.

CONVENTION WITH FRANCE.

The Supplementary Convention signed January 23, 1909, modifying the Convention of September 19, 1907, regulating the commercial relations between Canada and France, was approved by the Canadian Parliament in an Act which took effect on December 3, 1909, and both Conventions were ratified and became operative on February 1, 1910.

The general effect of these two Conventions which are to remain in force, unless previously denounced, for ten years, and thereafter until the expiry of twelve months from the day on which either of the two parties shall have denounced them, is to give to certain Canadian products enumerated in Schedule A of the Convention, the benefits of the French minimum tariff, in return for the concession to the French products specified in Schedule B, of the Canadian Intermediate tariff, and of special tariff rates to other French products named in Schedule C.

* This report is carried down to the 30th June, 1910.

ARRANGEMENT WITH GERMANY.

As a result of informal negotiations between the Minister of Finance and the Imperial German Consul for Canada, the contention of Germany that German products should receive in Canada the same treatment as the products of the United Kingdom was abandoned, and a provisional commercial agreement arranged whereby in return for the admission of a list of specified Canadian products to the benefits of the German Conventional tariff, the application of the surtax of 33⅓ per cent, imposed on German imports into Canada was suspended.

Effect as from March 1, 1910, was given to this agreement by an Order of the Governor General in Council, dated February 14, 1910, and a Notice of the German Federal Council dated February 24, 1910.

This agreement is a provisional one, made in contemplation of the negotiation of a formal Convention, and if such a Convention is not entered into within a reasonable time, may be terminated on two months' notice.

ARRANGEMENT WITH ITALY.

As in the case of Germany, an informal agreement was entered into between the Minister of Finance and the Royal Consul of Italy whereby specified Canadian products were to be admitted to Italy on payment of the Conventional import duties, in return for the admission into Canada at Intermediate tariff rates of specified products of Italy.

Effect was given to this agreement, in so far as Canada was concerned, by an Order of the Governor General in Council dated June 7, 1910.

Like the arrangement with Germany, this agreement was made in contemplation of a formal Convention, and is liable to be terminated on two months notice if such a Convention is not concluded within a reasonable time.

ARRANGEMENT WITH BELGIUM.

The tariff treatment granted to Canadian products by Belgium having been considered to warrant concessions from Canada, the Canadian Government, by Order in Council of June 7, 1910, extended the benefit of the Intermediate tariff to specified Belgian products.

ARRANGEMENT WITH THE NETHERLANDS.

On the same grounds a similar concession by Order in Council of June 7, 1910, was made to like products of the Netherlands.

UNITED STATES.

The enactment of the United States Tariff Act on August 5, 1909, by which the President of the United States was empowered to grant the benefits of the minimum tariff to the products of such countries as did not unduly discriminate in their tariff treatment against United States products, raised the question whether the Franco-Canadian Treaty, the benefits of which were automatically extended under most favoured nation clauses in certain treaties to various foreign nations, among which the United States was not included, did not effect such a discrimination.

In order to satisfy himself that he would be justified in applying the minimum tariff to Canadian products, the President invited the Minister of Finance to Albany to discuss the subject. As an outcome of this discussion Canada agreed to reduce the general tariff on thirteen named articles, on which, under the Treaty, France had been granted the Intermediate tariff, to the level of the Intermediate tariff. This agreement was carried into effect by the passing of an Act by the Canadian Parliament to amend the Customs Tariff, and the President issued a Proclamation admitting Canadian products to the benefits of the minimum tariff.

It has been arranged that the question of the commercial relations between the two countries shall form the subject of further negotiations.

WEST INDIES COMMISSION.

With the object of promoting closer trade relations and developing mutual trading facilities between Canada and the British West India Colonies, a Commission, dated August 9, 1909, was issued by His Majesty's Government appointing the Right Honourable Lord Balfour of Burleigh, K.T., the Honourable W. S. Fielding, the Honourable William Paterson, Sir John Poynder Dickson-Poynder, Bart., D.S.O., and Sir Donald Morris, K.C.M.G., to investigate and report upon the measures to be taken for this end.

In furtherance of the objects of the Commission, meetings were held at various points in Canada in the autumn of 1909; and a tour of the principal West India Islands arranged for, commencing towards the end of January. On this tour Mr. Paterson accompanied his fellow commissioners, but owing to pressure of Parliamentary duties Mr. Fielding was unable to join them.

Further meetings were held in London in June, 1910.

OTHER TREATIES.

TREATY WITH UNITED STATES re BOUNDARY WATERS.

This Treaty, as approved by the United States Senate in its Resolution of March 3, 1909, which stipulated that the Treaty should not be construed so as to affect or change existing rights at the rapids of Sault Ste. Marie, or to interfere with the drainage of swamp or overflowed lands into streams flowing into boundary waters, was accepted by Canada, and the final ratifications exchanged on May 5, 1910.

Its object is to prevent disputes regarding boundary waters which, broadly speaking, it defines as waters and connecting waterways along which the international boundary between Canada and the United States passes. Navigation of such waters for purposes of commerce is made free to the inhabitants and vessels of both countries equally, and the like freedom is extended to the waters of Lake Michigan and to all canals connecting boundary waters.

Each Government reserves exclusive jurisdiction and control over the use and diversion of all waters on its own side of the boundary line which in their natural channel would flow across the boundary; but it is agreed that any interference with such waters on either side of the line, resulting in injury on the other, shall give rise to the same rights and entitle the injured parties to the same legal remedies as if such injury took place in the country where the interference occurs.

No obstruction or diversion of boundary waters, except by special agreement, is to be made hereafter save by the authorities of the Dominion of Canada or of the United States within their respective jurisdictions, and with the approval of the International Joint Commission established by the Treaty. The approval of that Commission is also made necessary to the construction or maintenance of any remedial or protective works or dams in waters flowing from boundary waters, or in waters at a lower level than the boundary, in rivers flowing across the boundary, the effect of which is to raise the natural level of waters on the other side of the boundary. Provision is also made to prevent the pollution of boundary waters on either side to the injury of health or property on the other.

A limit is placed upon the diversion of water from the Niagara river so that the level of Lake Erie and the flow of the river may not be appreciably affected.

The diversion of water above the falls for power purposes allowed to the United States is not to exceed in the aggregate a daily diversion at the rate of 20,000 cubic feet per second.

that allowed to Canada is not to exceed in the aggregate a daily diversion at the rate of 36,000 cubic feet per second.

It is agreed that the St. Mary and Milk rivers, and their tributaries (in the State of Montana and the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan) shall be treated as a single stream for purposes of irrigation and power, and their waters shall be equally apportioned between the two countries.

An International Joint Commission is constituted to consist of six Commissioners, three appointed by the United States and three by Canada, which is to have jurisdiction over and to pass upon cases involving the obstruction or diversion of boundary waters.

It is further provided that other questions and matters of difference arising between the two countries involving the rights, obligations or interests of either in relation to the other or to the inhabitants of the other along the common frontier shall be referred to the Commission for examination and report, and that any questions or matters of difference arising, involving the rights, obligations or interests of either country in relation to the other or their respective inhabitants may be referred for decision to the same tribunal.

TREATY FOR PRESERVATION OF FISHERIES IN INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY WATERS OF APRIL 11, 1908.

Under the authority conferred by this Treaty, Joint Regulations were drawn up by Professor E. E. Prince and Professor D. S. Jordan, the International Fisheries Commissioners, and were simultaneously laid before the Canadian Parliament and the United States Congress on February 4, 1910.

NORTH ATLANTIC COAST FISHERIES ARBITRATION.

Under the General Convention of Arbitration between Great Britain and the United States of April 4th, 1908, a Special Agreement was signed on January 27, 1909, arranging for the reference to arbitration of the long-standing questions of difference in regard to the interpretation of the provisions of the Convention of 1818 relative to the North Atlantic Coast Fisheries.

The Arbitration Tribunal chosen by mutual agreement from among the members of the Permanent Court at the Hague consists of Dr. Heinrich Lammasch, President, His Excellency Luis M. Drago, Jonkheer A. F. de Savornin Lohman, the Honourable George Gray and the Right Honourable Sir Charles Fitzpatrick. The Honourable A. B. Aylesworth was appointed British Agent, and Mr. Chandler Anderson, Agent of the United States.

The pleadings were duly exchanged between the two parties as provided by the agreement and the oral argument began at the Hague on June 1.

DELIMITATION OF BOUNDARY IN PASSAMAQUODDY BAY.

The provision made in the Demarcation of Boundaries Treaty with the United States, of 1908, for the delimitation of two portions of the International Boundary in Passamaquoddy Bay by mutual agreement having expired before such agreement was reached, it became necessary, in order to give effect to a compromise arranged between the two Governments by which Pope's Folly Island was relinquished to the United States and Canada retained the Upper Middle Grounds, to conclude a new treaty. Such a treaty fixing the boundary in accordance with a description settled by the British and United States Boundary Commissioners so as to carry out the compromise was signed on May 21, 1910.

DEMARCATION OF BOUNDARIES.

Further progress was made during the season of 1909 under the Alaska Boundary Convention of 1906, in the survey and demarcation of the 141st meridian of west longitude where it forms the international boundary, so as to complete that work between a point near the Natazhat Ridge and the Yukon River, a distance of 215 miles, with the exception of the vista cutting for a distance of 57 miles and the placing of the final monuments for about 101 miles.

Correspondence has taken place with the United States Government in regard to the condition of the sealing industry and the question of the necessity of further measures for the protection of the fur seal species; and the conclusion of an agreement for settling the various outstanding pecuniary claims of subjects of His Majesty against the United States Government and of citizens of the United States against His Majesty's Government has also been the subject of negotiations.

I have much pleasure in expressing my satisfaction with the manner in which the members of the staff have discharged their duties during the past year.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,

JOSEPH POPE,
Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs

OTTAWA, June 30th, 1910.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.—Passengers for the Argentine Republic should carry Passports, and are advised to also carry certificates of birth. Persons born in His Majesty's dominions should, if they intend to become resident, even for a short time, obtain from a British Consulate in the Republic a Certificate of Nationality for purposes of identification, and to secure exemption from military service.

AUSTRIA HUNGARY.—Persons entering Hungary from Servia or Roumania must be provided with passports. Although, in other cases, passports are not legally necessary, travellers are advised to carry them. For purposes of residence a passport or other document to prove identity is necessary.

BELGIUM.—It is desirable for travellers to possess passports. For purposes of residence, registration at the Police Office of the district is required, and a passport is accepted as evidence of identity.

BOLIVIA.—See Peru.

BRAZIL.—Passports not actually required, but travellers are advised to carry them for purposes of identification. If intending to become resident they should register their names and addresses at the nearest British Consulate.

Salvador.—Travellers should carry passports, and should, in addition, obtain passports from the Government of Salvador. (Charge for latter, 25 cents.)

CHILE.—No regulations in force.

CHINA.—Passports are not required at open ports. For travelling into the interior a special passport must be obtained from a British Consul, which is valid for one year. (Cost, 3 dol. 50c. Mexican.)

COLOMBIA.—British subjects proceeding to the Republic of Colombia must provide themselves with passports, visés by the Colombian Minister or by a Consul of the Republic in Canada. For travelling in the interior it is advisable to obtain a special passport from a British Consul (charge, sixty cents.) Immigrants without resources must be provided with a passport issued gratis by the Colombian Consul at port of departure.

ECUADOR.—See Peru.

Persons proceeding south or west of El Obeid or Bara must obtain a permit from the Governor of Kordofan or his representative at El Obeid or Bara.

All Europeans are recommended to report their arrival, personally or in writing, at any place where an official holding the post of Sub-Mamur, or any superior post, is stationed.

FRANCE.—The possession of a passport may save inconvenience, since evidence of identity may at any time be required.

If produced as evidence of identity at a Post Office the passport may require to be countersigned by the British Consul for the district.

For permanent residence, or in order to exercise profession or trade, a declaration furnishing particulars with respect to the family, nationality, profession, &c., of the person making the declaration, is required to be made at the Mairie of the Commune within a few days of arrival.

Greece.—No regulations in force, except as regards persons entering the country by the land frontier, who are sometimes required to be in possession of passports.

Hayti.—A passport (visé by a Haytian Consul) must, on arrival, be shown at the Port Office. It should also be produced and registered at the nearest British Consulate. On leaving the country a Haytian permit has to be obtained, as to which the British Consul should be consulted.

Italy.—The possession of a passport is not obligatory, but travellers may at any time be required to give a satisfactory account of themselves, and to establish their identity.

British subjects producing passports at Italian post offices for purposes of personal identification may be required to obtain certified translations of the same from the British Consul.

Eritrea.—Travellers proceeding to Italian Colonies should, unless they carry special letters of recommendation to the authorities, provide themselves with passports, and obtain a visa from an Italian Consulate.

Japan.—Travellers are advised to carry passports.

Liberia.—No regulations in force, but a passport issued by the Liberian Secretary of State is required from residents leaving the country. For this 50 cents is charged.

Mexico.—No regulations in force.

Morocco.—It is advisable for travellers to be provided with passports, which are sometimes necessary, e.g., for travelling inland, or for embarking on board the French steamers for Oran. Any one wishing to travel into the interior should consult His Majesty's Minister at Tangier or the British Consul for the district through which his route lies.

British subjects residing for more than one month in Morocco are required, under the Morocco Order in Council, 1889, to register themselves at the British Consulate.

PERSIA.—A passport bearing the visa of a Persian Consular officer must be produced on entering Persia and the passport should be countersigned by the Persian passport officer before leaving the country.

PERU, ECUADOR AND BOLIVIA.—A passport is not actually necessary, but it is desirable to possess one in order to be able to obtain from a British Diplomatic or Consular officer the certificate of nationality required in the event of civil disturbances.

PORTUGAL.—Travellers are advised to provide themselves with passports. For residence in Portugal or Portuguese Colonies, a passport or other proof of nationality is required in order to obtain the necessary permission.

Azores.—The possession of a passport is advisable.

Cape Verde Islands. Passports are not actually required, except in times of public danger, but they are useful in view of the fact that all foreigners have to personally register themselves at the Mayor's Office as soon as possible after arrival.

Loanda.—Passport necessary.

Madeira.—No regulations in force.

Mozambique.—Travellers should be provided with passports.

ROUMANIA.—Persons travelling to Roumania must be provided with passports bearing the visa of a Roumanian Consul in the United Kingdom. A fresh visa must be obtained for each journey. On arrival they should at once obtain the visa of the British Legation or of a British Consulate, and then, within twenty-four hours of arrival, apply to the Roumanian authorities for a permit to reside in the country. For a stay of less than eight days this formality may be dispensed with, and the permit will be stated upon the passport by the police officials at the frontier.

Russia.—Visitors to Russia must be provided with passports bearing the visa of a Russian Diplomatic or Consular officer. Without such visa they will not be allowed to enter the country. To persons of the Jewish faith the visa is only granted in special circumstances, as to which the Russian Consular Officer should be consulted, and in any case such persons are subject to special regulations in Russia.

The passport will enable the holder to reside in Russia for six months, when it must be exchanged at the prefecture of St. Petersburg, or at the Chancery of a Provincial Governor, for a Russian "Billet de Séjour," to be renewed annually.

The cost of such a "Billet de Séjour" varies from 7 r. 15 c. to 1 r. 29 c. Each "Billet de Séjour," on first issue or renewal, must be delivered to the local police officer for inscription or visa. For non-renewal of a "Billet de Séjour" at the time of its expiration a fine is exacted.

On leaving Russia a police certificate must be obtained, which is granted on the first visit of the traveller to Russia at a cost of 75c. On subsequent visits 6 r. 50 c. is charged. If a "Billet de Séjour" has been obtained it must be returned, when the passport will be handed back to the owner with the necessary authorization to leave.

In the case of persons travelling through Russia, without stopping at any point within the Empire, the visa of a Russian Consular officer "to travel through Russia" will be accepted as sufficient, both for the purpose of entering and leaving the country, without obligation to obtain the police authorization to leave necessary in case of a stay in Russia.

Travellers to Russia should on each journey obtain a new passport to avoid the necessity of obtaining a "Billet de Séjour" on arrival, which they will be required to do when a passport is used six months after the date of the Russian visa attached to it.

Servia.—Travellers must be provided with passports.

Siam.—No special regulations in force, but British subjects are required to register themselves at the British Consulate-General within one month of arrival. For travelling in the interior a passport must be obtained from the Siamese Government. Fee for registration, sixty cents, and for passport fifty cents.

Spain.—It is most advisable for travellers to be provided with passports. The visa of a Spanish Consul is not necessary, but it will be found useful in travelling in provincial towns and country districts.

In the Province of Barcelona, British subjects should, upon arrival, personally show their passports to His Majesty's Consul, who will thereupon furnish them with a certificate, which they are required to present, within twenty-four hours after their arrival in Barcelona, at the Office of the Civil Governor (in country towns and villages at the Office of the Mayor) in order that their names, descriptions, &c., may be registered. A fine, and possibly expulsion, may result from non-compliance with this regulation.

Canary Islands.—No regulations in force.

Ceuta.—British subjects desiring to visit Ceuta should apply through the British Vice-Consul at Algeciras for an order from the Commandante-General.

A fresh visa must be obtained for each journey. British subjects desiring afterwards to travel within Turkey must obtain a permit through a British Consul. On leaving Turkey the visa of a British Consul should be obtained.

Tripoli.—Regulations similar to Turkey.

DEPARTMENT OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS, JANUARY, 1910.

DEPARTMENT OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING PASSPORTS.

NOTE. Naturalized British subjects should bear in mind that their naturalization has no effect within the limits of the Foreign State to which they originally belonged, unless they have ceased to be subjects of that state, in the manner prescribed by the laws thereof, or in pursuance of a treaty or convention to that effect.

1. Applications for passports should be made in writing and enclosed in a cover addresed to "THE HONOURABLE THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR EXTERNAL AFFAIRS, OTTAWA."

2. The charge for a passport, whatever number of persons may be named in it, is two dollars. The fee payable must accompany the application. Postage stamps will not be received as payment.

3. Passports are granted only to British-born subjects or to persons naturalized in the Dominion of Canada. A married woman is deemed to be a subject of the state of which her husband is for the time being a subject.

4. Passports are not valid after five years from the date of issue. Fresh passports must then be obtained. When the party is a naturalized British subject he will be so designated in his passport.

5. Passports are granted to all persons either known to the Secretary of State or recommended to him by some person who is known to him; or upon the production of a declaration by the applicant, a blank form of which may be obtained at this Department, verified by a declaration made by any banking firm or by any mayor, magistrate, justice of the peace, minister of religion, physician, surgeon, solicitor, or notary resident in the Dominion of Canada. In certain cases, the applicant's certificate of birth must be produced in addition to the declaration.

6. If the applicant for a passport be a naturalized British subject, his certificate of naturalization must be forwarded to the Department of External Affairs with the declaration; and his certificate of naturalization will be returned with the passport to the person who has communicated with this Department in the applicant's behalf for delivery to the latter.

7. A passport cannot be issued by the Department of External Affairs on behalf of a person already abroad; such peron should apply for one to the nearest British Mission or Consulate.

8. Travellers who may have any intention of visiting the Russian Empire, the Turkish Dominions, the Kingdom of Roumania, Persia, Colombia, Venezuela, Hayti, or Eritrea, at any time in the course of their travels, must first have their passports visés at the nearest Russian, Turkish, Roumanian, Persian, Colombian, Venezuelan, Haytian, or Italian Consulate as the case may be. For the information of travellers proceeding to any of these countries via Great Britain, it may be stated that the addresses in London of these consulates are respectively as follows: —The Russian Consulate General, Windsor Chambers, 20, Great St. Helen's, E.C.; the Consulate-General of the Sublime Porte, 140 Leadenhall Street, E.C.; the Roumanian Consulate-General, 19 Parliament Street, S.W.; the Persian Consulate-General, 82 Victoria Street, S.W.; the Colombian Consulate-General, Friars House, New Broad Street, E.C.; the Venezuelan Consulate, Finsbury Pavement House, Finsbury Pavement, E.C.; the Haytian Consulate, 32 Fenchurch Street, E.C.; the Italian Consulate-General (for Eritrea), 44 Finsbury Square, E.C. Passports may also be visés at any of the other Consulates of Russia, Turkey, Roumania, Persia, Colombia, Venezuela, Hayti, or Italy in the United Kingdom. Travellers about to proceed to any other country need not obtain the visa of the Diplomatic or Consular Agents of such country.

N.B. —Although travellers are now free to enter most foreign countries without passports, colonial British subjects travelling abroad are recommended not to omit to provide themselves with passports, for even in those countries where they are no longer obligatory, they are found to be useful as affording a ready means of identification in case of need. British subjects intending to reside in Germany or in Switzerland should provide themselves with passports.

(b) 'deputy,' 'deputy head,' or 'deputy head of the department,' means the deputy of the minister of the Crown presiding over the department, and the Clerk of the Privy Council; and includes also the Auditor General, in all cases in which such meaning is not inconsistent with his powers and duties under the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act;

(c) 'Board' means the examiners appointed for the purposes of this Act. R.S., c. 17, s. 2; 3 E. VII., c. 9, s. 1.

CONSTITUTION.

3. The Civil Service for the purposes of this Act includes and consists of all classes of officers, clerks and employees, elsewhere than in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta and in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon Territory, in or under the several departments of the Executive Government of Canada and in the office of the Auditor General, included in schedules A and B to this Act, appointed by the Governor in Council or other competent authority before the first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, or thereafter appointed or employed in the manner provided by the Civil Service Act for the time being in force; and also includes,— Of whom the Civil Service shall consist

(a) such officers, clerks or employees in the lower grades as are determined by order in council; and,

(b) such officers, clerks and employees in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta and in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon Territory, holding positions which if held in other parts of Canada would bring them under the provisions of this Act, as the Governor in Council brings under the provisions hereof.

(d) all persons now contributing to the superannuation fund; Present contributors.

(e) all persons to whom this Act is by any other Act declared to apply: Others.

Provided that the Civil Service for the purposes of this Act shall not include any person who by the provisions of Part II. of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police Act is made subject to the application of that Act instead of this Act. R.S., c. 18, s. 2; 61 V., c. 17, s. 3; 2 E. VII., c. 22, s. 17. Exception.

APPLICATION.

3. Part I. of this Act shall apply only to such officers, clerks and employees in the Civil Service as were appointed previous to the first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, and who do not come within the application of Part II. Part I.

of this Act: Provided that Part I. of this Act shall not apply to any person appointed on or after the first day of April, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, whose age at the time of such appointment exceeded forty-five years. R.S., c. 18, s. 2; 56 V., c. 12, s. 2; 61 V., c. 17, ss. 2 and 10.

Part II.

4. Part II. of this Act shall apply only to the officers, clerks and employees in the Civil Service appointed on or after the first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, and to those persons, in the Civil Service on the last mentioned date, who before the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, with the consent of the Governor in Council, elected to accept the provisions of the Civil Service Retirement Act, 1898, in lieu of the provisions of the Civil Service Superannuation Act. 61 V., c. 17, ss. 2 and 10.

Regulations.

5. In any case of doubt the Governor in Council may, by general or special regulations, determine to what persons the provisions of this Act do or do not apply, and the conditions on which, and the manner in which, they shall apply in any case or class of cases. R.S., c. 18, s. 14.

PART I.

ELIGIBILITY.

Who eligible.

6. The Governor in Council may grant a superannuation allowance not exceeding the allowance hereinafter authorized to any person who has served in an established capacity in the Civil Service for ten years or upwards, and who has attained the age of sixty years or become incapacitated by bodily infirmity from properly performing his duties. R.S., c. 18, s. 3.

Service before Confederation to be counted.

7. Service in an established capacity in any of the departments of the executive government or offices of the legislature of any of the provinces, now included in the Dominion of Canada, before such province became a portion thereof, by any person who thereafter entered the Civil Service, shall be reckoned in computing his period of service for the purposes of this Act. R.S., c. 18, s. 13.

Breaks in service not to be counted.

8. If the service has not been continuous, the period or periods during which such service has been interrupted shall not be counted. R.S., c. 18, s. 3.

Preliminary inquiry by Treasury Board.

9. The superannuation of every civil servant shall be preceded by an inquiry by the Treasury Board,—

(a) whether the person it is proposed to superannuate is eligible within the meaning of this Act; and,

(b) whether the superannuation of such person will result in benefit to the service, and is therefore in the public interest; or,

(c) whether superannuation has become necessary in consequence of the mental or physical infirmity of such person. R.S., c. 18, s. 5.

10. No civil servant shall be superannuated unless the Treasury Board reports that he is eligible within the meaning of this Act and that such superannuation will be in the public interest. R.S., c. 18, s. 5. Report of Board.

ALLOWANCES AND GRATUITIES.

11. The superannuation allowance hereinbefore mentioned shall be calculated upon the average yearly salary, during the last three years of service, of the person to whom such allowance is to be made, and shall not exceed, if such person has served for ten years, but less than eleven years, an annual allowance of ten-fiftieths of such average salary, and, if he has served for eleven years but less than twelve years, an annual allowance of eleven-fiftieths thereof, and in like manner a further addition of one-fiftieth of such average salary for each additional year of service up to thirty-five years, when an annual allowance of thirty-five-fiftieths may be granted, but no addition shall be made for any service beyond thirty-five years. Rates of allowances.

2. In computing the number of years of service for the purposes of this section, if the actual period of service includes a fraction of a year, the fraction, if equal to or greater than one half, shall be counted as a full year's service. R.S., c. 18, s. 3; 3 E. VII., c. 10, s. 1. Fraction of one-half or more equal to one year.

12. The Governor in Council may, in the case of any person who entered the Civil Service after the age of thirty years, as being possessed of some peculiar professional or other qualifications or attainments required for the office to which he was appointed, and not ordinarily to be acquired in the public service, add to the actual number of years of service of such person, such further number of years not exceeding ten, as is considered equitable, for reasons stated in the order in council made in the case, and such additional number of years shall be taken as part of the term of service on which the superannuation allowance of such person shall be computed. R.S., c. 18, s. 4. Ten years may be added.

13. If the head of a department reports with respect to any person employed in his department, and about to be superannuated, from any cause other than that of ill health or age, that the service of such person has not been satisfactory, the Governor in Council may, as to him seems fit, grant such person a superannuation allowance less than that to which he would have otherwise been entitled. R.S., c. 18, s. 9. Diminished allowance if service unsatisfactory.

Gratuity when yearly allowance not earned.

14. If any person to whom this Act applies is constrained, from any infirmity of mind or body, to quit the Civil Service before the period at which a superannuation allowance might be granted him, the Governor in Council may allow him a gratuity not exceeding one month's pay for each year of his service; and if any such person is so constrained to quit the service before such period, by reason of severe bodily injury, received without his own fault, in the discharge of his public duty, the Governor in Council may allow him a gratuity not exceeding three months' pay for every two years' service, or a superannuation allowance not exceeding one-fifth of his average salary during the then last three years. R.S., c. 18, s. 10.

Compensation if retirement compulsory.

Limited.

15. If any person to whom this Act applies is removed from office in consequence of the abolition of his office for the purpose of improving the organization of the department to which he belongs, or is removed or retired from office to promote efficiency or economy in the Civil Service, the Governor in Council may grant him such gratuity or superannuation allowance as will fairly compensate him for his loss of office, not exceeding such as he would have been entitled to if he had retired in consequence of permanent infirmity of body or mind, after adding ten years to his actual term of service. R.S., c. 18, s. 11.

Payment of allowances.

16. The allowances and gratuities granted under this Act shall, as to all persons appointed to the Civil Service previous to the first day of April, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, be payable out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada, and as to all persons appointed to the Civil Service on or after the last mentioned date, the same shall be payable out of the Civil Service Superannuation Fund, number two, hereinafter defined. R.S., c. 18, s. 15; 56 V., c. 12, s. 4.

DEDUCTIONS.

From salaries.

2 per cent. 1½ per cent.

17. A deduction towards making good the superannuation allowances hereinbefore mentioned shall be made from the salary of every person in the Civil Service appointed previous to the first day of April, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, at the rate of two per centum per annum on such salary, if it is six hundred dollars or upwards, and of one and one-quarter per centum per annum thereon if it is less than six hundred dollars, and the sum so deducted shall form part of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada. R.S., c. 18, s. 6.

3½ per cent. 3 per cent.

18. A deduction shall be made from the salary of every person appointed to the Civil Service on or after the first day of April, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, at the rate of three and one-half per centum per annum on such salary, if it is six hundred dollars or upwards, and of three per centum per annum thereon if it is less than six hundred dollars, and such deduction shall be carried to the credit of a fund called the Civil Service Superannuation Fund, number two, to which shall be added by the Government annually such a sum as, upon an estimate or valuation thereof based upon the H. M. Mortality Table of the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain and a rate of interest of six per centum per annum, may be sufficient to make the amount thereof equal to the value of the prospective annuities payable therefrom. 56 V., c. 12, s. 3.

19. The deductions mentioned in the last two preceding sections shall be made only during the first thirty-five years of service. R.S., c. 18, s. 6. Deductions during 35 years of service only.

COMPULSORY RETIREMENT.

20. Retirement shall be compulsory on every person to whom the superannuation allowance hereinbefore mentioned is offered, and such offer shall not be considered as implying any censure upon the person to whom it is made; nor shall any person be considered as having any absolute right to such allowance, but it shall be granted only in consideration of good and faithful service during the time upon which it is calculated. R.S., c. 18, s. 8. When. No absolute right to allowance.

21. Nothing herein contained shall be understood as impairing or affecting the right of the Governor in Council to dismiss or remove any person from the Civil Service. R.S., c. 18, s. 8. Right of dismissal unimpaired.

DISMISSAL.

22. The Governor in Council may, on the recommendation of the Treasury Board, pay to any person heretofore or hereafter dismissed from the public service of Canada, who at the time of such dismissal was contributing to any civil service superannuation fund under the provisions of this Act, or who has contributed to any such fund or funds during thirty-five years of service, the whole, or such portion as the Governor in Council deems expedient of the amount so contributed by such person to such fund. Deductions may be repaid.

2. The Governor in Council may also, on the recommendation of the Treasury Board, in addition, pay to such person interest to the date of such dismissal on the contributions so repaid, or any portion thereof, at such rate of interest, not exceeding five per centum per annum, and calculated in such manner, as the Governor in Council deems advisable. 60-61 V., c. 15, ss. 1 and 2. With interest.

In discretion of Governor in Council.

23. Nothing in the last preceding section contained shall be construed to confer upon any person any right to demand or enforce the repayment of any amount contributed by him to any such fund, or any interest thereon, and all payments made under the last preceding section shall be wholly in the discretion of the Governor in Council. 60-61 V., c. 15, s. 3.

FORFEITURE OF ALLOWANCE.

In what cases.

24. Every person who receives a superannuation allowance, and is under the age of sixty years, and is not disabled by bodily or mental infirmity, may be called upon to fill, in any part of Canada, any public office or situation for which his previous services render him eligible, and which is not lower in rank or emolument than that from which he retired; and, if he refuses or neglects so to do, he shall forfeit his said allowance. R.S., c. 18, s. 12.

REPORTS.

Annual to Parliament.

25. The Minister of Finance shall lay before Parliament within fifteen days after the commencement of each session thereof,—

(a) a statement of all superannuations and retiring allowances in the Civil Service within the year, giving the name and rank of each person superannuated or retired, his salary, age and length of service, the allowance granted to him on retirement, the cause of his superannuation and whether the vacancy has been subsequently filled, and if so, whether by promotion or by new appointment, and the salary of the new incumbent;

(b) a statement showing the condition of the Civil Service Superannuation Fund, number two, at the end of the last preceding fiscal year. R.S., c. 18, s. 16; 56 V., c. 12, s. 5.

Order in Council to be laid before Parliament.

26. The order in council made in any case of superannuation shall be laid before Parliament at its then current or next ensuing session. R.S., c. 18, s. 3.

PART II.

RETIREMENT FUND.

Constituted.

27. There shall be a fund to be called the Retirement Fund maintained for the retirement, subject to the conditions and qualifications hereinafter contained, of the persons to whom this Part applies, which fund shall be constituted and made up as follows:—

(a) By the reservation out of the salary of each such person of five per centum of his salary; 5 per cent reserved.

(b) In the case of any person in the Civil Service previous to the first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, to whom this Part applies, by the transfer in addition and placing to his credit in the fund of a sum equal to the amount of all deductions previously made from the salary of such person under the authority of the Civil Service Superannuation Act with interest thereon compounded half yearly, at the rate of four per centum per annum. Addition.

2. The amount reserved in the case of each person together with any sum transferred to his credit as in the preceding subsection mentioned, shall be entered in a separate account, and interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, shall on the first days of January and July in each year, be computed on all sums to the credit of the Retirement Fund, whether principal or interest, and such interest shall be credited to the said sums and form part thereof. 61 V., c. 17, ss. 4 and 6. Separate account for each person. Interest.

28. No person shall, during his continuance in office, have any claim or right to any part of the Retirement Fund. 61 V., c. 17, s. 7. No claim while in service.

29. On the retirement or dismissal of any person, the amount to his credit in the Retirement Fund shall be payable to him: Provided that if he is, in the opinion of the Governor in Council, unfit to manage his own affairs, such amount may be dealt with for the benefit of such person, or of his wife or children or other next of kin, in such manner as the Governor in Council determines. 61 V., c. 17, s. 8. Payment on retirement or dismissal.

30. If a person dies while in the Civil Service, the amount to his credit in the Retirement Fund shall be paid to his legal representatives, or to such person as the Treasury Board determines. 2 E. VII., c. 6, s. 1. Payment on death.

Qualification of candidates.

14. No person shall be admitted to such an examination unless he is a natural-born or naturalized British subject, and has been a resident of Canada for at least three years, and is, at the time of the examination, of the full age of eighteen years and not more than thirty-five years, and presents the required certificates as to health, character and habits.

Computation of number of vacancies.

15. Before holding any such examination the Commission shall require each head of a department to furnish it with the number of additional permanent officers or clerks likely to be required in his department within the next six months.

2. On this basis, and having regard also to the requirement of the several departments for temporary services, a computation shall be made by the Commission of the number of competitors to be selected at the next ensuing examination.

3. If there remain from a previous examination successful competitors who have not received appointments, their number shall be deducted in making the computation, and their names, in the order of merit, shall be placed at the top of the list to be prepared in accordance with section 17 of this Act.

Notice of examinations.

16. Thereupon due notice of the examination shall be given by the Commission, stating the character and number of the positions to be competed for.

Selections to fill vacancies.

18. From the said list the Commission, on the application of the deputy head, with the approval of the head, of any department, shall supply the required clerks, whether for permanent or temporary duty.

2. The selections shall be, so far as practicable, in the order of the names on the list, but the Commission may select any person who in his examination shows special qualifications for any particular subject.

3. The Commission shall forthwith notify the Treasury Board and the Auditor General of the name and position in the service of each clerk supplied to any department and also of the rejection of any such clerk during his probationary term.

4. Assignment for temporary duty shall not prejudice the right to assignment for permanent duty.

5. No clerk supplied for temporary duty shall be so employed for more than six months in any year.

Rejection during probation.

19. The head of the department, on the report in writing of the deputy head, may, at any time after two months from the date of assignment, and before the expiration of six months, reject any person assigned to his department.

2. The cause of the rejection shall be reported by the deputy head to the Commission, who shall thereupon select another person to take the place of the one rejected, and decide whether the latter shall be struck off the list or allowed a trial in another department.

Probationary service.

20. After a person so selected has served a probationary term of six months, he shall be deemed to be permanently accepted for the service.

Professional and specially qualified officers.

21. If the deputy head reports that the knowledge and ability requisite for the position are wholly or in part professional, technical or otherwise peculiar, the Governor in Council, upon the recommendation of the head of the department based on the report in writing of the deputy head, may appoint a person to the position without competitive examination and without reference to the age limit, provided the said person obtains from the Commission a certificate, to be given with or without examination, as is determined by the regulations of the Commission, that he possesses the requisite knowledge and ability and is duly qualified as to health, character and habits.

Messengers, packers, etc.

22. Appointments to the positions of messenger, porter, sorter and packer, and to such other positions in the lower grades as are determined by the Governor in Council, may be made by the Governor in Council upon the recommendation of the head of the department based on the report in writing of the deputy head, and accompanied by a certificate of qualification from the Commission, to be given with or without examination, as is determined by the regulations of the Commission, that the person applying for the appointment possesses the requisite knowledge and ability and is duly qualified as to age, health, character and habits.

Temporary clerks.

23. When, from a temporary pressure of work, extra assistance in excess of those whose names are on the list of successful competitors is required in the Inside Service of any department, the Governor in Council may, upon the recommendation of the head, based on the report in writing of the deputy head of the department that such extra assistance is required, authorize the employment of such number of temporary clerks as are required to carry on the work of the department.

2. Every such clerk shall, however, before appointment obtain a certificate of qualification from the Commission, to be given with or without examination, as is determined by the regulations of the Commission, that he possesses the requisite knowledge and ability and is duly qualified as to age, health, character and habits.

3. No such temporary clerk shall be employed for more than four months in any year.

PROMOTIONS.

24. Promotion, other than from the third to the second division, shall be made for merit by the Governor in Council upon the recommendation of the head of the department, based on the report in writing of the deputy head and accompanied by a certificate of qualification by the Commission to be given with or without examination, as is determined by the regulations of the Commission. Promotion by merit.

25. Except as herein otherwise provided, vacancies in the first division shall be filled by promotions from the second division. Promotion from Second Division to First.

26. Clerks in the third division shall be permitted to enter for the open competitive examination for the second division, after such term of service and under such other conditions as are determined by regulations made by the Governor in Council, on the recommendation of the Commission. Promotion to Second Division.

2. Any person placed in the third division upon the coming into force of this Act, may, by the Governor in Council, upon the recommendation of the head of the department, based on the report in writing of the deputy head, and accompanied by a certificate of qualification by the Commission, to be given with or without examination, as is determined by the regulations of the Commission, be promoted from the third division to the second division without an open competitive examination.

2. Every person now holding such a position in the service, whether permanent or temporary, shall be continued in the like position under this Act at his present salary with the same tenure of office as if appointed to the said position under this Act, and shall be eligible for annual increase as in this section provided.

Salary on appointment

33. FIRST ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION OF CANADA

FOR THE

PERIOD FROM THE 1ST SEPTEMBER, 1908, TO THE 31ST AUGUST, 1909

Establishment of the Commission.

The Civil Service Amendment Act of 1908 came into effect on the first day of September, 1908. The Civil Service Commissioners were appointed on the 4th, and took office on the 16th day of the same month.

From the first of September, all appointments to the inside service and all promotions in it were required to be made under the terms of the Act. Nevertheless, the regulations of the Commission, in accordance with which its duties in connection with appointments and promotions were to be performed, had still to be framed and approved by the Governor General in Council. Arrangements had also to be made for conducting the new system of competitive examinations.

It was fortunate, therefore, that few new appointments required to be made for some time after the first of September.

On the 17th of September an Order in Council was passed, transferring to the Commissioners the work of the Board of Civil Service Examiners, thus bringing the examinations of the outside service under the administration of the Commission.

By the same Order in Council, Mr. William Foran was appointed to be the Secretary of the Commission.

The Order in Council is as follows:—

CERTIFIED copy of a Report of the Committee of the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Deputy Governor General on the 17th September, 1908.

On a memorandum, dated 14th September, 1908, from the Secretary of State, stating that section 11 of the Civil Service Amendment Act of 1908 provides that the present Board of Civil Service Examiners shall be placed under the direction of the Civil Service Commission and, that being the case, the minister is of opinion that the office work and other administrative duties now performed by the Board of Examiners should be formally transferred to the Civil Service Commission, and he accordingly recommends that this be done.

The minister further recommends that Mr. William Foran, the present Secretary of the Board of Civil Service Examiners, and who has occupied that office and discharged its duties in an efficient and faithful manner for the past twelve years, be appointed Secretary to the new Civil Service Commission; that he be made an officer of Subdivision A of the First Division, with a minimum salary of $3,000 per annum, and that he continue as secretary to the present Board of Examiners, such appointment to date from the 1st September, 1908.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

Asst. Clerk of the Privy Council.

The Honourable

Provisions for First Appointments.

In order to provide for such appointments as required to be made in the lower grades of the service, before the new system of competitive examinations for the inside service could be provided, the Commissioners sought authority from the Governor General in Council to make use of the examinations provided for the outside service. They also recommended that provision should be made for the appointment of such clerks in the Second Division as were urgently required.

The following Order in Council was passed giving effect to the representations of the Commission:—

PRESENT:

His Excellency the Governor General in Council.

Whereas, the Civil Service Commissioners have reported that the Commission is at present engaged in the work of formulating a set of rules and regulations in connection with the system of competitive examinations prescribed by the Act 7-8 Edward VII., chapter 15, entituled 'An Act to amend the Civil Service Act,' and that this work, to be of permanent value, must be thorough and accurate; but there are so many important questions affecting matters of detail and procedure and the varying requirements of the different departments of civil government that the commission will require some considerable time before it can submit a satisfactory code of rules and regulations for the approval of the Governor General in Council.

Therefore, His Excellency the Governor General in Council, on the recommendation of the Secretary of State, acting on the advice of the Civil Service Commissioners, is pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, in order that the interests of the public service may not suffer, and in order that everything may be done in compliance with the strict requirements of the law, that until such time as the rules and regulations above indicated are established by the Governor in Council, the ordinary entrance examinations or their equivalent, heretofore accepted for the inside service and still required for the outside service, shall be the test for the employment of clerks in the Third Division of the inside service, as prescribed by the said Amendment Act; it being nevertheless distinctly understood that, even in this interim arrangement, the competitive system shall prevail in such entrance examinations, that is to say, that those having the highest percentages in passing the entrance examinations in question shall be given the preference in appointments made as above set forth, and

His Excellency is further pleased to order and it is hereby ordered, that interim appointments on probation to Subdivision B of the Second Class be made by Order in Council, on the recommendation of the Civil Service Commission, accompanied by a certificate setting forth the educational and other qualifications which the Commissioners consider to be satisfactory grounds for the appointment.

(Sgd.) RODOLPHE BOUDREAU.
Clerk of the Privy Council.

By authority of the latter part of this Order in Council, two appointments in the Second Division were recommended by the Commission, one in the office of purchasing agent of the Marine and Fisheries Department, the other in the office of the Commission itself. The Treasury Board, however, under advice from the Department of Justice, subsequently ruled that such appointments were invalid, as not being based upon the results of a competitive examination. Appointments to the Second Division were thus, for the time, rendered impossible.

On November 17, the regular annual preliminary and qualifying examinations took place, and from the list of successful candidates the Commissioners, in accordance with the Order in Council of October 16, 1908, selected, in order of merit, a number of persons to be appointed to positions in the Third Division, and as messengers, sorters, packers and porters. The appointments made from this list are given in Tables Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

First Memorandum as Basis for Regulations.

After making as careful a study as the time permitted of the Acts relating to the Civil Service and of the previous and existing conditions of the service, and after several interviews with the deputy heads of various departments, the Commissioners drew up a memorandum setting forth their views as to the essential features involved in the operation of the new system providing for appointments and promotions connected with the inside service. This memorandum gave expression to the general principles in accordance with which the Commissioners proposed to draw up their regulations to be submitted for the approval of the Governor in Council. The memorandum is given as in Appendix D.

On a few points in this memorandum, subsequent experience proved that the views expressed required some amendment. In the matter of the application of Sec. 21 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, it has been found that in order to secure suitable candidates having special technical or professional qualifications, and requiring a certain range of practical experience, it might be advisable to dispense with the limitations as to age and residence in the country. Hence, even where it is desired to make use of the competitive principle in the selecting of candidates, the appointment may nevertheless be made under section 21, which permits of dispensing with the special limitations as to age, residence and citizenship which are prescribed in section 14, covering the regular competitive examinations, and evidently intended to apply primarily to those entering the service with ordinary qualifications. Thus, in article 15 of the regulations as finally approved by Order in Council, provision is made for conducting special competitive examinations or tests where the appointment of the successful candidates may nevertheless be made under section 21. This employment of the competitive system in connection with the other features of section 21 is likely to ensure the selection of competent and experienced candidates available for immediate duty in important executive positions. It is sufficiently obvious, however, that in the case of appointments under section 21 where the competitive principle is not introduced, the selection may be very satisfactory, or a minimum qualification only may be ensured.

The appointments which have been made under section 21 are given in Table 8, distinguishing between those selected as the result of open competition and those selected without competition.

Basis of Appointment to Lower Grade Offices.

Section 22 of the Civil Service Amendment Act refers to the appointment of persons in the lower grade offices, such as messenger, porter, packer, sorter, &c. As indicated in the memorandum, it was the opinion of the Commissioners that appointments to the lower grade positions might be made either as the result of competitive examinations, or, as in the cases under sections 21 and 23, by Order in Council on the recommendation of the minister, based on a report in writing by the deputy minister, for special reasons given, and as an exception to the general rule laid down in section 13, which prescribes appointment by a competitive examination as the normal method for all positions under that of deputy minister. By an interpretation of the Department of Justice, however, it was declared that, although section 22 provides an exception to the general rule given in section 13, it is, nevertheless, such an exception as entirely disposes of the general rule, and itself becomes the rule in all cases. The opinion of the Department of Justice is here given:—

OTTAWA, February 1, 1909.

MEMORANDUM FOR CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

Upon the reference of the Commissioners, dated January 27, 1909, for an opinion with regard to certain questions as to the interpretation of section 22 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, 1908, the undersigned has the honour to state as follows:—

Question No. 1 is as follows:—

1. Are messengers, porters, sorters and packers included in the regular Civil Service, as described in clause 30 of the Civil Service Act, and clause 13 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, 1908? If not, on what grounds are they excluded?

In the opinion of the undersigned they are included in the 'Civil Service' within the meaning of the sections referred to, subject to possible exceptions; for example, in the case of some of the lower grade employees in the Post Office Department.

2. If messengers, porters, sorters and packers are included in these clauses, does not clause 22 of the Civil Service Amendment Act constitute simply an exception to the general rule prescribed in clause 13 of the same Act.

In the opinion of the undersigned section 22 of the Civil Service Amendment Act does constitute simply an exception to the general rule prescribed in clause 13 of the Amendment Act, i.e., it excepts the classes of employees with which it deals from the general rule as to appointments to the inside service, and provides another mode of appointment which, in my opinion, must be regarded as exclusive.

The third question is as follows:—

3. If clause 22 constitutes such an exception, should not nominations to the Civil Service Commission for certificates under clause 22 of the Civil Service Amendment Act specify the reasonable grounds for making an exception to the general rule under clause 13 of the same Act?

The answer to the second question renders unnecessary an answer to the third. It will be seen that I regard section 22 not as merely authorizing an alternative procedure, but as providing a procedure in such cases, which is not only exceptional, but is inconsistent with and exclusive of the procedure prescribed by section 13 and the following sections.

I am to state that the Minister of Justice concurs in this view.

(Sgd.) E. L. NEWCOMBE.

As, however, this limitation is put upon the method only of selecting persons for positions in the lower grades, the heads or deputy heads of departments, when so minded, may select the persons to be appointed to these positions from the list of successful candidates who have taken the regular examination for this grade of the service. The result is that while all appointments to the lower grade offices must be made under section 22, yet the parties selected for appointment may be chosen by either of two methods. A certain individual may be selected by the head or deputy head of the department, and a certificate of qualification requested from the Commission. This will entail the setting of a special examination for such individual candidate. Should the candidate fail to qualify, another may be named, requiring a second special examination, and so on until a candidate is chosen who posseses the requisite knowledge and ability to fill the position. Or, by the alternative method, the head or deputy head of a department may select the person to be appointed from the list of successful candidates at the last general examination. In this case, the age, character and health of the candidate having proved satisfactory, the certificate of the Commission will be issued as a matter of course. At the same time, the fact that appointments under section 22 may be made in an exceptional manner, as compared with the regular system of competitive examinations for entrance to the service, has given rise to considerable uneasiness in the minds of successful candidates and their friends. Such candidates having prepared themselves, paid their fees, and gone up for the regular semi-annual examinations, find that their success in competition does not enable them to secure the positions which fall vacant in the lower division of the Service.

The appointments under section 22 are given in Table 1, distinguishing those selected from the list of successful candidates at the regular examination, and those appointed on individual nomination and after passing a special qualifying examination.

Preparation of the Regulations.

The memorandum of the Commission was informally accepted as sufficient basis on which to proceed with the work of drawing up the regulations. The Commissioners accordingly prepared a set of regulations covering such matters as the following: The number and nature of the general competitive examinations for entrance to the inside service; the dates and places throughout the Dominion for the holding of these examinations; the subjects and standards for the general examinations for entrance to the various grades of the service; the nature of such special examinations as may be arranged for in the case of persons requiring special technical or scientific qualifications; the provisions for the selection by competition of candidates who may be appointed under section 21, or for ascertaining the qualifications of candidates who may be selected without competition for appointment under section 21; also the conditions for promotion for those in the inside service and other general features, such as the official notices to be given of approaching examinations, requirements as to certificates of health and character, the furnishing of efficiency returns as provided for in the Act, and provisions for the appointment of examiners and the fixing of fees to be allowed them.

Early in February, the first draft of the regulations was submitted to a committee of Council, and as the result of careful consideration, a number of amendments and additions were introduced. The regulations of the Commission were finally approved by the Governor General in Council on April 19, 1909, and are given in Appendix C.

Interim Examination.

While the regulations of the Commission were under discussion a number of vacancies occurred in the Second and Third divisions which the Commissioners were unable to fill for lack of adequately qualified candidates. Competent typewriters and stenographers were especially in demand. The Commissioners therefore, recommended that, pending the issue of the regulations, an interim competitive examination should be authorized by Order in Council, and this was agreed to. The memorandum on the subject submitted by the Commissioners and the Order in Council which were issued were as follows:—

To the Honourable
Ottawa.

The undersigned respectfully beg to submit that they have ascertained from reports received from different departments that a number of vacancies exist in the Second Division in certain departments of the Civil Service which, in the public interest, should be filled with the least possible delay, and that there is also a need in other departments for a number of competent stenographers and typewriters whom the Commission is unable to supply owing to the comparatively few persons possessing these qualifications who are eligible for appointment as a result of their standing at the last Civil Service examination. Accordingly, to meet those exigencies of the service, they recommend that authority be obtained from the Governor in Council to hold, at as early a date as practicable, an interim competitive examination at the city of Ottawa, under the provisions of section 13 of The Civil Service Amendment Act, 1908, such examination, in the case of the clerkships in the Second Division, to include such subjects as in the opinion of the Commissioners, after consultation with the respective deputy heads of the departments concerned, will best test the fitness of the candidates for the vacant positions. In the case of stenographers and typewriters the subjects of examination to be penmanship, orthography, copying of manuscripts, stenography and typewriting, it being expressely understood that the successful competitors in the latter examination shall be eligible for appointment only to clerkships in Subdivision B of the Third Division.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 31

CERTIFIED COPY of a Report of the Committee of the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Governor General on the 27th February, 1909.

On a Memorandum, dated 22nd February, 1909, from the Secretary of State, submitting a report from the Civil Service Commissioners, recommending that an interim competitive examination, under the provisions of section 13 of 'The Civil Service Amendment Act, 1908,' be held at the city of Ottawa, at as early a date as practicable, for the purpose of enabling them to make certain appointments which are urgently required in several departments of the public service.

The minister, in view of the representations of the Commissioners, recommends that the requisite authority to hold such interim examination be granted.

The committee submit the same for approval.

Assistant Clerk of the Privy Council.

The Secretary of State.

Under authority of this Order in Council a special interim examination was held on the 30th of March, with the result that five candidates qualified for entrance to the Second Division, and nineteen candidates for positions as typewriters and stenographers in Subdivision B of the Third Division.

First Regular Examination.

In accordance with the regulations as approved by the Council, an official announcement of the first regular semi-annual examinations was published in the Canada Gazette of April 17. The examinations took place from the 25th to the 28th May. It having been ascertained from the reports from the several departments that male clerks would be required for all the positions in the Second Division, only such clerks were advertised for in this division. The numbers of candidates who applied to take the examinations for the several grades in the service, distinguishing men and women, are given in Tables 13 and 14, and also the numbers of those who were successful.

Examiners were selected by the Commissioners, in accordance with article 29 of the regulations of the Commission, to set the examination papers and value the answers of the candidates in the examinations for the Second and Third Divisions. For list see Appendix E.

The Working of the New Act.

It was scarcely to be expected that the new system of selection, appointment and promotion for the Civil Service, involving considerable changes in the administration of the service, would work out in all respects as anticipated when the Civil Service Amendment Act was passed and the regulations of the Commission were framed to give effect to several of its provisions. The social, economic and educational conditions of Canada and the existing organization of the Civil Service, being quite different from those of Britain, have prevented the normal experiences of such a country from being exactly repeated in Canada. But, though modifications of certain features in the Act, and minor changes in the regulations, apart from the larger question of the general reorganization of the service, will undoubtedly be required, yet, on the whole, the results expected from the Act are being realized. Others not yet fully worked out are proved to be capable of realization with the aid of a few obvious amendments and the passing of some legacies from older conditions.

Supply and Demand.

As the result of the operation of the Act for the first year, certain observations and suggestions are more particularly called for. The first question which has arisen is one as to the possibility, under the existing economic conditions, of securing an adequate number of competent clerks, more particularly male clerks, for the various positions in the Third and Second Divisions, on the basis of the present minimum salaries. It will doubtless require some little time for the conditions and requirements of the new system of selection and appointment to become thoroughly familiar to the youth of the country. It is true, also, that the interval between the publication of the regulations of the Civil Service Commission and the holding of the first examinations did not permit of any special preparation on the part of the candidates. At the same time, the requirements of the Third Division examination were practically the same as for the old qualifying certificate, with the addition of typewriting as a necessary subject, and the setting of a somewhat higher minimum standard. The Second Division examination, however, was quite a new one.

One of the most significant facts connected with the examinations, as may be gathered from Tables 12 and 13, is the comparatively small number of men who went up for these examinations, and the still smaller proportion of men among the successful candidates in the Third Division examination. The small number of adequately equipped male candidates for clerkships in the Third Division is evidently due to the fact that, in the cities at least, such young men may obtain, if not always a higher initial salary, yet one whose prospects of increase are more alluring to the optimistic imagination of youth than the relatively small annual increase of $50 which is promised to the Civil Service. In times of economic depression, the greater security of both employment and income which a position in the Civil Service affords, will doubtless ensure an adequate supply of male clerks in both the Third and Second Divisions.

In this connection, one quite important feature was apparently overlooked at the time of preparing the Act of last session granting an addition of $150 to the salaries of all the clerks then in the service. This Act had the effect of raising the whole scale of salaries of those already in the service, by $150. This was done on the very sufficient ground that the cost of living had greatly increased of late years. Nevertheless, by leaving the minimum salary of all persons subsequently entering the service at the old rate, a gap of $150, equivalent to three years of statutory increase, is left between the salaries of the old and new clerks. It is further to be observed that, under the new conditions, the scale of qualification for entering the service is somewhat higher, notably in the Second Division, and, what is more important, it is now exacted from all clerks entering the Third and Second Divisions, whereas a large percentage of those receiving the special increase had never passed any examination. Further, the cost of living is just as high for the clerks entering this year as for those entering last year or previous years. The practical conclusion is that, to complete the justice of the Act of last session, at least $150 should have been added to the minimum of the Third Division, and say $200 to the minimum of the Second Division, thus placing the new clerks on a relative equality with those in advance of them, the difference remaining as formerly the amount of the statutory annual increase, according to the number of years in the service. This would also enable the service to compete more successfully with outside employment for competent candidates in the Third and Second Divisions.

Employment of Women.

Still another subject, connected with the adequate supply of suitable persons for the different branches of the service, is that connected with the relative numbers of women and men who may qualify for entrance to the service. The Act makes no specific reference to the sex of the candidates, but it does require that the Commission, on the report of the deputy heads of the different departments as to the requirements of their respective departments for additional clerks, shall arrange for such examinations as may furnish properly qualified candidates for the various positions which are likely to be vacant. In cases where the sex of a candidate might be more or less of a disqualification, the deputy heads would be at liberty to specify whether men or women were required for the special positions to be filled. In the Third Division, there is naturally much work which can be performed quite as well, and in some cases much better by women than by men. There are other cases in which it is a matter of comparative indifference as to whether men or women are selected for the appointments. As already indicated, however, under the conditions which prevail at present, a much larger number of qualified women than of men are prepared to accept the minimum salary offered. The consequence is that even to the positions for which men are preferred, women have been appointed because suitable men are not available. A large number of positions, however, in the Third Division, cannot be filled by women, even where suitable men are not available. The following are some of the reasons which render it inexpedient for women to be employed in certain branches of the service, even in the Third Division. In the first place, there is certain work incidental to clerical duties, as in the handling of large registers, carrying of files and books up and down ladders, &c., which on physical grounds is not suitable for women. There are other positions in which, from time to time, the clerk may be called upon to travel considerable distances from Ottawa, alone or in the capacity of secretary or assistant. For obvious reasons, male clerks are required in positions involving such duties. There are, in addition, many special features connected with the work or location of individual offices which render the employment of women, to a large extent, impracticable.

It is in the Second and higher Divisions, however, that the difficulties of employing women are, for the present at least, most insuperable. It is freely admitted that there are women who have quite as good executive ability as men, and who might, on the mere ground of personal qualifications, fill the higher positions in the service. It is true, also, that some of the minor executive positions, such as a number of those in Subdivision B of the Second Division, and a more limited number in Subdivision A of the Second Division, might be quite suitably filled by women. There are many others, however, especially those of the higher grades, where a number of the duties would be quite unsuitable for women. There would be difficulties also, some of them, it is true, the result of prejudice, but none the less real, were a woman to be appointed to administer an office or section of a department involving the control and direction of a number of male clerks. But even in the case of the minor executive offices of the Second Division, the most serious objection to opening these to women is that they furnish the only training ground for the male clerks who are to be selected for promotion to the higher branches of the service. If, therefore, these positions, or any considerable number of them, are held by women, the higher branches of the service would undoubtedly suffer. Nor is it merely a question of numbers. A man trained in office 'X' of the service is not, as a rule, receiving the necessary training for the higher positions in section 'Y,' so that were the lower executive positions of 'Y' filled by women, men from other sections of the service would not be available for the higher positions in section 'Y,' for lack of experience in the lower grades of that section. While, therefore, it is true that there are certain positions in Subdivision B of the Second Division for which women are quite able to qualify, yet there are at present numerous real difficulties, most of them in no way connected with sex prejudice, though some of them undoubtedly are of this nature, which prevent the employment of women in the First and Second Divisions of the service. The Commissioners have found it necessary, therefore, on the reports of the deputies as to the qualifications required in their several departments, to limit almost entirely to men, appointments in the First and Second Divisions. This has had the effect of making it still more difficult to fill the positions in the Second Division with suitably qualified men on an initial salary of $800. Were these positions open to women, there would be no difficulty in securing candidates well qualified on the ground of ability alone to fill the positions.

Promotion and Classification.

A special difficulty connected with the subject of promotion arises out of the organization of the departments, the classification of the positions in the service, and the relation thereto of the persons holding these positions, and the salaries attached to them. The essence of the matter is presented in the following questions. Is the organization of a department, involving the classification of the positions in the service, to be determined by the nature and quality of the work to be performed, or is it to depend upon the character and claims of the persons who happen to hold the offices for the time being. If the principle of classification rests primarily upon the nature and importance of the duties to be performed, then the office or position will remain in the subdivision of the service in which it is originally classed, until its essential duties are changed. If, however, the classification of the position is to follow the requirements as to salary or status of the individual who happens to fill it for any length of time, then the essential nature of the duties to be performed may not determine the grade or classification of the position.

In a country developing so rapidly as Canada, changes in the nature and importance of various offices will naturally occur. A position which at one time was of comparatively minor importance may find its duties enlarging, and their fulfilment becoming more difficult and responsible, requiring on the part of the officer in charge, higher qualifications in the way of new experience or executive ability. Such a position should naturally be raised in the scale of classification, and, in consequence, might require some rearrangement of officials. On the other hand, from similar causes, a position which, at one time, included more or less important administrative functions, may find that the administrative features have been largely absorbed by some other office, leaving the work to be performed of a relatively lower grade, so that a less highly qualified type of official may easily undertake it. Obviously, such a position should be graded in a lower subdivision than formerly. In all such cases, however, it is the nature of the position to be filled, and not the personal circumstances or characteristics of individuals which should determine the classification.

If, however, the classification of the positions may be determined by the peculiarities of the individuals who happen for the time to fill them, then the matter takes on a very different colour. A position of considerable importance may be classified in an inferior grade, while positions normally involving routine work may be classified in the upper grades of the service. Where the special ability and merit of an official are quite obvious, and the opportunity for special promotion presents itself, he is likely to be promoted to higher and more important work. In such cases, there is little tendency to promote the office along with the man. Where, however, as in the great majority of cases, it is not outstanding ability or special executive capacity which constitutes the claim to promotion, but merely length of service and faithful discharge of duty, the question is more difficult. In such cases, there is commonly no special reason for altering the duties of the officials whom it is desired to promote. Indeed, the merits of the individual usually consist in having acquired a special knowledge and experience in dealing with the duties of a particular office. To promote such a man to another office would be to lose the special advantages of his service. The tendency, therefore, is to promote the office along with the man. Otherwise, his salary cannot be increased, once he has reached the limit of the grade to which the office properly belongs. Under this process an office which is intrinsically of comparatively slight importance may be carried up by successive occupants from one subdivision to another until it is classified far above its normal grade. As contributing to this result, it has been observed that when an official who has carried an office over into a higher grade resigns, dies or is promoted to a different office, the position which he left does not revert to its former classification to repeat the ascent as an accompaniment to the increasing knowledge, experience and length of service of its new occupant, but remains in the subdivision to which the last occupant raised it, and is there taken up and carried forward by some new occupant. The inevitable result of such a system is to gradually raise a large proportion of the positions originally in the junior Second Division into the highest, or at least the second highest subdivision of the service. This has been found to have taken place in not a few cases under the old system, and now that the service is more specifically graded, and the offices more definitely and minutely defined, the process is certain to be accelerated, with a tendency towards the obliteration of real standards of relative importance as between the various positions in the service, and ultimately towards extravagance and inefficiency. Undoubtedly an adequate system of organization for the service should permit, in individual cases, of rewarding exceptionally competent officers, without the necessity for either changing the character of their work or carrying their offices over into higher subdivisions than those to which they normally belong.

For these difficulties there is doubtless no single or uniform solution, it being impossible to place the work of all the departments in the same scheme of subdivisions. The difficulties of the existing situation suggest the expediency of arranging for a more flexible organization, in which the work of the departments, in its distribution, might be assigned to those whose knowledge, ability and general experience specially fitted them to discharge the special duties required, but without classifying their functions too rigidly or minutely. In some of the departments, much of the work is more or less of a technical or scientific character, and the various sections are sharply distinguished from each other. Such departments naturally lend themselves to an organization with a fairly definite classification of duties, in the higher branches at least. But even here it does not follow that all the officers of the Second Division, for instance, should be definitely defined. There are other departments in which the work is more or less of a homogeneous character throughout, and where the organization of the office depends more upon the experience and capacity of the various officials, than upon any necessary classification of the work itself. In such cases, it is convenient to give to a particular person that combination of duties for which he is specially fitted, but when he departs, it is not necessary to preserve that combination of functions as a separate unit. Some of the duties may be distributed with advantage among other members of the staff according to their experience and ability. This would afford opportunities to recognize special capacity and merit, would vitilize the work of the departments, and prevent the existing lines of activity from being worn into conventional ruts.

But even in the branches and sections where the work is technical and most highly specialized, and therefore most easily organized, the classification of the positions of the Second Division, at least, need not be made so rigid that a particular combination of duties which one clerk has discharged for a time, must be transferred intact to his successor. Here, too, the chief of the branch should be free to distribute among his staff the various duties in such a way as to secure the greatest efficiency. Some such method of organization would escape the difficulties which threaten under the existing system, owing to the practical necessity for promoting a special combination of duties in order to permit of promoting the person who happens to perform the duties at any given time.

Passing from Third to Second Division.

Among the special questions dealt with by the Commission, as the result of the passing from the old to the new system of appointments and promotions, was that as to the character of the non-competitive promotion examinations to be prescribed for those who were classified in the Third Division after the coming into force of the Civil Service Amendment Act, and who may be recommended for promotion from the Third to the Second Division. After carefully considering the various phases of the matter, the Commissioners prepared the following memorandum, which has been submitted to the deputy heads of the various departments.

MEMORANDUM with reference to the Non-competitive Promotion Examination required to be taken by those who are recommended for promotion from the Third to the Second Division of the Public Service.

Under the Civil Service Amendment Act, 1908, and the regulations of the Commission framed in accordance therewith, any one entering the Third Division of the Civil Service after September 1, 1908, and who desires to pass to the Second Division, must take the regular open competitive examination for the Second Division. The subjects for this examination are prescribed in Article 12 of the regulations of the Civil Service Commission. Those who were already in the service prior to September 1, 1908, and were classified in the Third Division by the Order in Council of January 25, may enter the Second Division in either of two ways:—

(a) They may go up for the regular competitive examination as prescribed in Article 12 of the Civil Service regulations, and, if successful, they will be appointed by the Commission in the usual manner under section 18 of the Civil Service Amendment Act.

(b) On being recommended by the deputy head of a department, with the approval of the head of the department, for promotion from the Third to the Second Division, in accordance with subsection 2 of section 26 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, they may go up for the non-competitive qualifying examination prescribed under Article 20 of the Civil Service regulations. If successful in this examination, a person recommended for promotion will receive the required certificate of qualification from the Commission.

The Commissioners have had under consideration the question as to what would be a fair examination for those nominated for promotion from the Third to the Second Division. In determining this matter, several considerations must be kept in mind. In the first place, the new Act makes a radical distinction between the Third Division and the two higher divisions in the service. The work of the Third Division consists mainly of clerical duties, and is performed under the supervision of officials whose functions are more or less of an executive character. As the greater part of the work of the departments is of a clerical nature, a great majority of the persons employed in the government service must belong to the Third Division. Hence, even without any limitations on promotions, most of those in the Third Division could not be given higher duties to perform, or be promoted to higher classes in the service. The number who can be promoted from the Third to the Second Division being limited, it is desirable that only the best should be selected for promotion.

In accordance with the Civil Service Amendment Act, those who enter the Second Division may do so either from without the service, or from within it. Once they are appointed to positions in the Second Division, the Commissioners are of opinion that all the higher grades of the service should be open to them without a further general examination, their promotion depending upon their efficiency and executive ability as evidenced in the practical discharge of their duties. It is very necessary, therefore, that this single general examination, as a test of knowledge and ability, should be of an adequate nature. In justice to the requirements of the positions to be filled in the Second and First Divisions, and in justice to those who enter the service after September 1, 1908, it is necessary that those who desire to pass from the Third to the Second Division should prove their general capacity for higher grade work by passing a respectable and adequate examination.

At the same time, the Commissioners desire to do justice to the work and the experience gained by those who were classified in the Third Division at the time the Civil Service Amendment Act came into force. Accordingly, it is proposed as an addition to the privilege of passing a qualifying and not a competitive examination, granted in the Act to those recommended for promotion from the Third to the Second Division, to permit them to avail themselves of their special knowledge of the requirements of their respective departments and of the work to be performed in them. To this end, it is proposed to permit them to substitute two papers on the work of the department in which they are engaged, for any two of the five subjects required to be selected in sections B and C of the examination prescribed in Article 12 of the regulations of the Civil Service Commission. Should the work of the department in which they are engaged involve any special, technical, or scientific work, not covered by the list of optional subjects in groups B and C under Article 12 of the Civil Service regulations, a third paper may be substituted for another of the optional subjects in groups B and C. The privilege of taking such a third paper will be determined by the Commissioners and the Deputy Head of the department affected.

The general result will be that those recommended for promotion from the Third to the Second Division will require to be examined on all of the general subjects under group A, given in article 12 of the regulations of the Civil Service Commission, any three subjects in groups B and C, and two papers on the work and requirements of the departments in which they are employed, with the possible option of a third paper in certain special cases. The commissioners are of opinion that these concessions to those classified in the Third Division at the time of coming into force of the new Act will do ample justice to their claims, consistently with the requirements of the higher grades of the various departments of the government service.

Employment of Temporary Clerks.

In connection with the limited period of four months for which the employment of temporary clerks is authorized, certain unforeseen difficulties have arisen. The requirements in section 23 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, limiting the term of employment for temporary clerks to four months in any one fiscal year, work very well in the great majority of cases, since the normal occasions for the employment of temporary clerks are such that the need for them will seldom extend beyond that period. There are, however, a number of special cases, where the duties are undoubtedly of a temporary character, but where the period of four months is too brief to permit of the work being covered. A couple of concrete instances will illustrate the difficulties which are apt to arise under the present limitations. Owing to the volume of extra work which devolved upon the Auditor General's Office, as a result of the general elections held in October last, a staff of about fifteen extra clerks had to be appointed to deal with the accounts of the returning officers and other officials. This work was undoubtedly of a temporary character, but it could not be covered within the limit of four months. It required a couple of weeks or more to enable the temporary clerks to become familiar with the work assigned to them. At the end of four months, had not a new fiscal year opened, it would have been necessary, under the law, to dismiss the staff of temporary employees who were quite familiar with their work, and take on a totally new and inexperienced set in order to complete the work. Again, when the approaching census comes to be taken, and the returns to be compiled, a number of extra clerks will be required. This work will be unquestionably of a temporary character, but it cannot be performed within the limit of four months, and it would be quite undesirable to dismiss the special staff collected and engage a new one at the end of every four months. To provide for such exceptional conditions, it would be necessary to amend the Act so as to permit of the employment of temporary clerks for the period required to complete any special work of a temporary character. To guard against certain abuses which arose under the old system, and which the new system has successfully dealt with, it would be necessary to provide that the temporary clerks should not be transferred from the work for which they were specifically engaged to any other work or employment, whether of a temporary or permanent nature.

By an apparent oversight in the Civil Service Amendment Act, no adequate provision is made for the temporary employment of persons with expert knowledge, or of higher qualifications than those which are called for in the lower or purely clerical grades of the service. It is true that, under section 31 of the Act, persons who have been declared successful in the regular competitive examinations may be employed in a temporary capacity at the minimum salary of the grade in which they are placed. But, as already pointed out, owing to the difficulty of meeting the regular requirements of the service, there is no prospect for an indefinite period of having such persons who are available for temporary service. It is true also that under section 23 of the Act provision is made, without limitation as to grade or qualification, for the employment of temporary clerks. But section 34 of the same Act limits the salary to be paid such clerks to the scale of $500 per annum, thus practically preventing the temporary employment of persons for higher grades of the service. It is desirable, therefore, that some provision should be made authorizing the adequate payment of temporary clerks in the higher grades.

Probation.

According to section 20 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, it is provided that newly appointed clerks shall enter upon a period of probation for six months. At any time during that period, after the expiration of two months, the clerk on probation may be reported against and rejected by the deputy minister. In the majority of cases this period of probation appears to be quite sufficient. There are a number of positions in the service, however, as in the Geological Survey, the Hydrographic Survey, etc., where the most characteristic and important duties are performed during a special season of the year. Hence, no adequate or satisfactory test of the suitability of the candidate can be made until this season is past. This section of the Act might be amended, therefore, to permit of the extension of the period of probation for an additional three to six months on the request of the deputy head of the department.

Transfers.

Provision is made in section 4, subsection 3, of the Civil Service Amendment Act, for the extension of the provisions of this Act, to the whole, or any part of the outside service. Yet, until such extension takes place, the conditions of entrance to the inside service will remain very different from those which apply to the outside service. Inasmuch as section 50 of the Civil Service Act, which provides for transfers between different departments, and different sections of the same department, remains in force for both the inside and the outside srvice, this permits of the introduction of persons to the outside section of any department, and their subsequent transfer to the inside section of the same or another department, without their undergoing any examination, or otherwise coming under any of the conditions which apply to those entering the inside service in the regular manner. The Commissioners are of opinion that this apparent oversight in the new Act should be corrected.

Reinstatement.

Section 42 of the old law, and which still remains applicable to the inside service, permits of the reinstatement of an employee who had left the service, in the grade, and with the salary which he enjoyed at the time of leaving the service. While this procedure may be unobjectionable in the case of the outside service, yet, in view of the changes which have taken place in the conditions of entrance and promotion in the case of the inside service, it may be doubted whether it should unconditionally apply to that service.

Members of the Service as Examiners.

In the selection of persons to assist in preparing papers for the higher examinations for the inside service, it is desirable that the Commissioners should be able to avail themselves of the expert knowledge, skill and experience of persons within the service. Owing, however, to the conditions prescribed in section 38 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, the Commissioners hitherto have been unable to grant such persons, selected from within the service, the usual fees appointed for the work.

The new examinations, particularly those of the Second Division, and the special examinations which are prescribed from time to time, necessitate greater attention and better facilities than were formerly required. The Commissioners, in arranging for the conducting of the examinations at the various local centres throughout the Dominion, have endeavoured to provide, wherever possible, for the holding of the examinations at universities or normal schools. The Commissioners desire to acknowledge the courtesy with which the educational departments of the provincial governments and the university authorities have met their requests, and have placed the superior facilities of these institutions at their service.

The Commissioners also desire to acknowledge the loyal and efficient services rendered by their Secretary and by the members of the office staff.

2. Any person who, directly or indirectly, solicits or endeavours to influence a member of the Commission in favour of his appointment, promotion or increase of salary, shall be deemed to be unworthy of such appointment, promotion or increase, and it shall not be accorded him; and if he is employed in the Civil Service, he shall be liable to immediate dismissal.

Voting at Dominion or Provincial election.

43. No officer, clerk or employee in the Civil Service shall be debarred from voting at any Dominion or Provincial election if under the laws governing the said election he has the right to vote; but no such officer, clerk or employee shall engage in partisan work in connection with any such election.

APPENDIX C.

REGULATIONS OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

WITH REFERENCE TO ENTRANCE TO THE SERVICE AND PROMOTION IN THE SERVICE.

(Approved by His Excellency the Governor General in Council, on the 19th day of April, 1909.)

In accordance with section 10, clause 2 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, 1908, requiring that the duties of the Civil Service Commission 'shall be performed in accordance with regulations made by the Commission, and approved by the Governor in Council,' the following regulations have been prepared by the Commission:—

EXAMINATIONS FOR ENTRANCE TO THE INSIDE SERVICE.

1. In order to comply with section 13 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, which states that 'except as herein otherwise provided, appointment to positions in the inside service under that of deputy head shall be by competitive examination, which shall be of such a nature as will determine the qualifications of candidates for the particular positions to which they are to be appointed, and shall be held by the Commission from time to time in accordance with the regulations made by it and approved by the Governor in Council,' the Commission will provide for general competitive examinations for entrance to the following divisions and subdivisions of the inside service:—

(a) Clerks for Subdivision B of the Third Division.
(b) Clerks for Subdivision B of the Second Division.

2. In accordance with section 15 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, the number of competitors to be selected, for appointment to the service, from those taking the examinations for the above divisions, shall be computed by the Commission on the basis of the reports from the several departments as to their probable requirements for the ensuing six months.

3. The general competitive examinations shall be held twice a year, in the months of May and November. Forms on which applications for these examinations shall be made will be provided by the Commission, and may be had on application to the Secretary of the Commission. General competitive examinations shall be held at the following places: Halifax, Yarmouth, Sydney, Charlottetown, St. John, Fredericton, Moncton, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Hamilton, Toronto, London, Sault Ste. Marie, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Nelson, Vancouver and Victoria. The examination may also be held at such other places as may be selected by the Commission for the convenience of candidates applying for examination.

(2) Where competitive examinations are required involving technical or scientific subjects and necessitating the use of scientific apparatus, it shall not be necessary to hold such examinations at each of the above places, but the Commission shall, as far as possible, arrange for at least one place in each province where such examinations may be taken.

4. Any examination may be taken in the English or French language, at the option of the candidate.

5. A general examination for messengers, porters, sorters and packers shall be held at the same times and places as the general examinations for the Second and Third Divisions, and shall include the following subjects of the ordinary public school standard:—Reading, writing, spelling, and the first four rules of arithmetic. The minimum percentages of qualification shall be fifty per cent on each subject and sixty per cent on the whole examination.

6. Where messengers, porters, sorters and packers require certificates of qualification and fitness under section 22 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, the Commission may require any or all of these to pass an examination which shall be as nearly as may be of the same standard as that set for those who take the general examination for entering that grade of the service.

7. The general competitive examination for clerkships of Subdivision B of the Third Division shall include the following subjects of the average high school standard: Writing, spelling, arithmetic, geography, history, composition, copying manuscripts, typewriting. No candidate shall be selected for appointment to a position in the Third Division who secures less than fifty per cent of the marks assigned to each subject, and sixty per cent of the marks assigned to the whole examination.

8. Candidates may take, in addition to the foregoing subjects, either or both of the subjects of stenography and book-keeping. While the marks obtained for these extra subjects shall not affect the standing of the candidates in the compulsory subjects, yet, where a knowledge of stenography or book-keeping is required for any position in the service, those having these qualifications and otherwise on the list of successful competitors will be given the preference.

9. Persons employed in the Civil Service in the Third Division may take the competitive examination for entrance to the Second Division under the following regulations:—

(2) Such persons must have been employed at least one year in the Third Division before competing in such examination; also their records in the reports to be furnished under the Civil Service Amendment Act must be good.

(3) In case of failure in such examination any person so failing shall not compete again within a year.

(4) Persons so failing may, if their records for conduct continue good, present themselves for examination a second time, but in case of failing a second time they shall not again be allowed to take the said examination.

10. To insure the availability of a sufficient number of competent typewriters and stenographers, the Commission may appoint a special competitive examination for typewriters and stenographers, for Subdivision B of the Third Division, which shall include the following subjects:—Typewriting, stenography, writing, spelling, composition and copying manuscripts.

(2) Where a sufficient number of typewriters and stenographers are not available among those who have taken the full examination for Subdivision B of the Third Division, the requirements of the departments may be supplied by appointing, in order of merit, those who have taken the special examination for typewriters and stenographers.

(3) No one appointed as the result of such special examination shall be considered as eligible for promotion to Subdivision A of the Third Division who has not subsequently qualified in the additional subjects of arithmetic, history and geography as required for the regular examination for entrance to the Third Division.

11. Where candidates for employment as temporary clerks require certificates of qualification and fitness under section 23 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, the Commission may require any or all of these to pass an examination which shall be as nearly as may be of the same standard as that set for those who take the general examination for entering that grade of the service.

12. Candidates for the general competitive examination for clerkships of Subdivision B of the Second Division shall take all of the subjects in group A of the following list, any two in group B, and any three in group C:—

B.—Algebra, geometry, physics, chemistry, geology (including mineralogy), biology (animal and vegetable).

C.—Latin, German, history (modern), political science, economics, geography (general, physical and commercial), philosophy (scholastic or general), law (English or civil).

(2) No candidate shall be selected for appointment to a position in Subdivision B of the Second Division who secures in Group A less than 50 per cent of the marks assigned to writing, spelling, composition, literature, arithmetic and typewriting, 40 per cent of the marks assigned to French and English and 60 per cent of the marks assigned to the whole group.

(3) No candidate shall be selected for appointment to a position in Subdivision B of the Second Division who secures in Groups B and C less than thirty per cent of the marks assigned to each subject, and forty per cent of the marks assigned to the subjects selected from the two groups.

(4) The standard of examination shall require a good general knowledge of the subjects selected from the above groups. In order that due regard may be had to the different university systems in Canada, a curriculum shall be prepared by the Commission showing, with as much detail as possible, the ground to be covered under each of the subjects in the above groups A, B and C. A copy of this curriculum shall be supplied to any person on making application to the secretary of the Commission.

13. Candidates may take, in addition to the foregoing subjects, either or both of the subjects of stenography and book-keeping. While the marks obtained for these extra subjects shall not affect the standing of the candidates in the compulsory subjects, yet where a knowledge of stenography or book-keeping is required for any position in the service, those having these qualifications, and otherwise on the list of successful competitors, will be given the preference.

14. Where the deputy head of a department applies to the Commission for a nomination to a clerkship in Subdivision B of the Second Division in such department requiring special competitive examinations in technical or scientific subjects, these may be provided by the Commission, instead of the general competitive examinations for Subdivision B of the Second Division. The subjects for such special examinations shall be arranged between the Commission and the deputy head of such department.

15. Where the deputy head of a department applies to the Commission for a nomination to a position above that of Subdivision B of the Second Division, which requires to be filled by appointment from without the service, the Commission shall, after consultation with the deputy head of the department in which the appointment is to be made, provide a special competitive examination or test, which may or may not involve written answers to questions, but which shall be of such a nature as to secure a person well qualified for the position to be so filled. In determining the qualifications of candidates for such positions, the examination or test shall have special reference to executive ability and tact, such special or professional training as may be required, and a successful experience in duties similar to those pertaining to the position to be filled.

16. Where the appointment is one which is to be made under section 21 of the Civil Service Amendment Act inasmuch as the person to be appointed requires to obtain from the Commission a certificate that he possesses the requisite knowledge and ability, the Commission, with the consent and co-operation of the head and deputy head of the department in which the appointment is to be made, may arrange a form of examination or test, by which to determine whether the person is qualified. On satisfying the Commission that he is duly qualified, such person will receive the certificate of the Commission.

17. When the selection is made by the head and deputy head of the department without reference to the Commission, the Commission may make such inquiries and appoint such an examination or test to determine the qualifications of the person so nominated, as it may deem necessary for an intelligent and responsible discharge of its duties.

PROMOTIONS IN THE INSIDE SERVICE.

18. A candidate who is recommended by the head of a department for promotion, other than from the Third to the Second Division, in order to receive the prescribed certificate of qualification, must satisfy the Commission of his ability to perform the duties of the position to which he is to be promoted. For this purpose the Commission, if it considers an examination necessary, may, after consultation with the deputy head of the department in which the promotion is to take place, prescribe a promotion examination, having regard to the requirements of the subdivision to which the promotion is to be made, and the special duties of the position to be filled.

19. Where there are two or more persons in the employment of a department who are eligible for promotion to any vacant position, the Commission may, on the request of the head of the department, provide a competitive promotion examination limited to those who are declared eligible for promotion. Such an examination shall have regard to the requirements of the subdivision to which the promotion is to be made, and the special duties of the position to be filled. Upon the results of this examination, if satisfactory, the Commission shall issue the required certificate of qualification.

20. Candidates who, under subsection 2 of section 26 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, 1908, are nominated by the head of a department for promotion from the Third to the Second Division must, in order to receive the prescribed certificate of qualification, satisfy the Commission that they are qualified to enter the Second Division. To this end the Commission, after consultation with the head or deputy head of the department in which the promotion is proposed, shall prescribe a non-competitive promotion examination which, while having special reference to the requirements of the position to be filled, shall nevertheless insure a qualification substantially equivalent to that required in the open competitive examination for entrance to the Second Division.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

21. All competitive examinations for entrance to the service shall be advertised in the Canada Gazette at least four weeks before the examinations are to take place. Such advertisements shall state the number of positions to be competed for, the conditions to be complied with by the competitors, the subjects to be covered by the examinations, and the places at which the examinations may be held.

22. Within one month after the publication of the results of a Civil Service examination any candidate who considers that his answer papers have not been correctly valued may make application to the Commission to have his papers re-read. Such application must be accompanied by a fee of $3 in the case of Third Division or lower examinations, or $5 in the case of Second Division or higher examinations. In cases where the appeal is sustained the fee will be returned.

(2) The answer papers of all candidates at any Civil Service examination, after being valued by the examiners, shall be retained by the Commission for a period of six months from the date of publishing the results, and at the end of that period they shall be destroyed.

23. Every successful candidate, before receiving a permanent appointment to the inside service, must furnish the Commission with a certificate of good health, which shall be filled out on standard forms to be furnished by the Commission.

(2) There shall be appointed by the Governor General in Council in each place where an examination is held one or more medical examiners, from whom such certificates shall be obtained.

(3) The fees for the health certificate shall be:—For messengers, porters, sorters, packers, and for temporary clerks, two dollars ($2); for clerks of the Third Division, three dollars ($3); for clerks of the First and Second Divisions, five dollars ($5).

24. Every successful candidate, before receiving an appointment to the inside service, must furnish the Commission with references to at least three reputable persons who may be able to give adequate information as to the candidate's character and habits.

25. The following shall be the schedule of fees to be paid by the candidates at the several examinations held under the direction of the Commission:—

26. Copies of the reports of the 'conduct and efficiency of all officers, clerks and employees below the First Division,' which, in accordance with section 40 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, are required to be made in each department, shall be furnished to the Commission by the deputy heads of the various departments every three months.

(2) To insure uniformity these reports shall be made out on forms prepared by the Commission, which may be procured by the departments upon requisition to the Government Stationery Office.

27. As soon as practicable, after coming into force of these regulations, the deputy heads of the several departments shall furnish to the Commission, for the purpose of its establishment books, returns of the officers of their departments, with such particulars as to their past service and present employment as are provided on the form prepared by the Commission.

28. The secretary of the Treasury Board shall notify the Commission of all changes which take place in the organization of the offices in the several departments in the inside service, whether these changes result from the creation of new offices, the division or combination of existing offices, or the abolition of offices; also of all changes in the personnel of the officers holding respective offices in the several departments in the inside service, whether these changes result from original appointment, promotion, transfer, death, resignation or dismissal.

APPENDIX D.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION OF CANADA,
OTTAWA, December 15, 1908.

DRAFT of a Memorandum submitted to the Governor General in Council by the Civil Service Commission, with regard to the appointments and promotions of the members of the Inside Division of the Civil Service.

Under the Civil Service Act, as amended by the Civil Service Amendment Act, as regards the filling of positions in the inside service, the duties of the Civil Service Commission are 'to test and pass upon the qualifications of candidates for admission to the service, and for promotion in the service, and to issue certificates with respect thereto where required under this Act or regulations made thereunder;' and it is prescribed that 'such duties shall be performed in accordance with regulations made by the Commission and approved by the Governor in Council.' (Sec. 10.)

Under the new system introduced on September 1, 1908, the normal method of appointment to the Inside Service is as follows: 'Except as herein otherwise provided, appointments to positions in the inside service under that of deputy head shall be by competitive examination, which shall be of such a nature as will determine the qualifications of candidates for the particular positions to which they are to be appointed, and shall be held by the Commission from time to time in accordance with the regulations made by it and approved by the Governor in Council.' (Sec. 13.) The only exceptions to this are contained in sections 21, 22, 23 and 39.

The normal method of filling the offices in the Civil Service, below that of deputy head, may be presented before the exceptions are discussed. For all new appointments to the inside service the competitive system is plainly prescribed as the basis for selection. It is one of the duties of the Commission to hold such 'competitive examinations' (Sec. 13) or otherwise 'to test and pass upon the qualifications of candidates for admission to the service' (Sec. 10 a), and to do this 'in accordance with regulations made by the Commission and approved by the Governor in Council.' In considering the practical principles which should guide the Commission in the formation of such regulations in accordance with the spirit and intention of the Act, the Commission conceives that it should proceed on the following basis. The general examinations to be provided by the Commission cover three grades of service in an ascending order. Between these, however, no regular promotion is permitted, at least for those entering the service after September 1, 1908. Persons may, however, pass from the lower to the higher grades by taking the regular competitive examination for the grade which they seek to enter. For each of these three grades of the service a distinct general qualifying examination is required. These three grades in an ascending order are as follows:—

I. Messengers, sorters, packers, &c., for whom an examination on what may be termed a public school basis may be prescribed, and which, as regards the inside service, will take the place of the old preliminary examination.

II. Clerks of Subdivision B of the Third Division, for whom an examination on what may be termed a high school basis may be prescribed, and which, as regards the inside service, will take the place of the old qualifying examination. Clerks for Subdivision A of the Third Division will be recruited from Subdivision B of the Third Division by a system of promotion on merit in accordance with Section 24.

III. Clerks of Subdivision B of the Second Division, for whom an examination on what may be termed a college or university basis, though not necessarily implying graduation or even attendance at a university, may be prescribed. Those securing a position in this class may be advanced by promotion on merit to any of the higher grades. As already indicated, clerks of the Third Division may enter for the competitive examination for the Second Division. (Sec. 26.)

These being the three grades in the service for which general qualifying examinations are to be provided, the Commission is required to hold such examinations once every six months. (Secs. 15 and 16.) The candidates who write on these examinations shall be listed in their respective grades in order of merit, as indicated by the total number of marks assigned by the examiners to their papers. From these lists so prepared the Commission is required to select such a number of candidates securing the highest number of marks in their respective grades as will meet the needs of the departments for the next six months. (Secs. 15, s.s. 1 & 2, & 17).

When a vacancy occurs, or a new appointment is to be made in any of these three grades of the service, the deputy minister shall apply to the Commission for a person to fill the position, specifying the qualifications called for, and the Commission, from the prepared lists, shall supply the persons required, the selection being made in accordance with the needs of the department, but otherwise as nearly as possible in the order of the names on the list. (Sec. 18.)

All persons so assigned to any department of the inside service shall be on probation for at least six months, and within that time may be rejected by the head of the department for cause to be assigned to the Commission by the deputy head. (Sec. 19.)

When a vacancy occurs, or a new position is created in any grade of the service between Subdivision B of the Second Division and that of deputy head, the position may be filled in one of two ways:—

I. So far as possible such vacancy shall be filled by promotion from within the service from Subdivision B of the Second Division upwards. (Secs. 24 and 25.) Inasmuch as all promotions are required to be made for merit, and inasmuch as every recommendation for promotion must be accompanied by a certificate of qualification from the Commission, it is implied that where positions are filled by promotion the best available persons within the service shall be selected for such promotion, and this clearly involves in these promotions the recognition of the competitive principle, though not necessarily of written examination as a competitive test.

II. Where there is no person within the service suitable for promotion, any position above Subdivision B of the Second Division may be filled by appointment from without, and the basis of selection shall be by a competitive examination or test 'of such a nature as will determine the qualifications of candidates for the particular positions to which they are to be appointed.' (Sec. 13.)

Practical experience sufficiently demonstrates that the competitive examinations or tests by which persons are to be selected, either for promotion from within or appointment from without, for the higher positions in the service, should not be necessarily written or academic examinations. In certain, chiefly technical departments, written, oral or practical examinations may be prescribed with excellent results, but for other advanced positions in the same or other departments effective competitive examination should be interpreted as any reasonable and practical test, including records of work done and ability demonstrated, which will secure the selection of the best available person from a number of candidates for a position. The competitive principle would be adequately secured if an opportunity were given by public advertisement in the Canada Gazette for all those having the necessary qualifications for the particular positions in question to make application and have their qualifications duly considered. In certain of the higher and more important positions in the service the competitive principle might with advantage be further extended by inviting specially qualified persons to apply for such positions, or even, in exceptional cases, by offering the position to a person whose outstanding achievements and experience indicate very special qualifications for the duties of the position to be filled, but who, for various reasons, did not care to apply.

In the filling of all positions in the inside service between those of Subdivision B of the Second Division and that of deputy head, two parties must pass upon the qualifications of the candidates or nominees, namely, on the one hand, the head or deputy head of the department in which the position to be filled exists, and, on the other hand, the Civil Service Commission. If, however, the head or deputy head of a department makes a promotion on the basis of merit without consultation with the Commission, or the Commission passes on the merits of a person so selected without consultation with the head or deputy head of a department; or if the Commission, as the result of a competitive test, selects a person for a position, and he is afterwards rejected by the head of the department, the selection and rejection being without mutual consultation, there is likely to arise misunderstanding and friction, and even the ultimate danger of deadlock. Moreover, it is very undesirable, for many obvious reasons, to have a person selected by one party and rejected by another in a more or less public manner. It would appear to be highly desirable, therefore, that before any person is selected for appointment to the higher grades of the service, whether by promotion from within or by appointment from without, the head or deputy head of the department and the Commission should jointly consider and pass upon their qualifications, instead of doing so in independence of each other.

As to the practical method for securing competitive tests, in the case of candidates for the higher positions in the service and for whom the ordinary written or academic examinations are not suitable, it is proposed that each position of a special character should be separately advertised in the Canada Gazette, the advertisement stating the special qualifications which must be possessed by the persons making application. The applications received could then be gone over jointly by the Commission and the deputy head of the department in which such a position is to be filled, assisted where necessary by the head of any special branch to which the position in question pertains. The Commissioners and the deputy head making use of every reasonable and practicable test should be able to select from the applicants the person best qualified for the position.

Such are the principles and the methods of realizing them which appear to the members of the Commission to be involved in the normal process of appointment and promotion as prescribed in the Civil Service Amendment Act and the unrepealed portions of the Civil Service Act, so far as they apply to the inside service.

As already stated, however, certain exceptions are provided for in Sections 21, 22, 23 and 39 of the Civil Service Amendment Act.

Section 21 states that 'If the deputy head reports that the knowledge and ability requisite for the position are wholly or in part professional, technical or otherwise peculiar, the Governor in Council, upon the recommendation of the head of the department based on the report in writing of the deputy head, may appoint a person to the position without competitive examination and without reference to the age limit, provided the said person obtains from the Commission a certificate, to be given with or without examination, as is determined by the regulations of the Commission, that he possesses the requisite knowledge and ability and is duly qualified as to health, character and habits.' According to the letter of this clause there is no limitation on the exercise of the right of a deputy head to report that the knowledge and ability requisite for any position are wholly or in part professional, technical, or otherwise peculiar. And as a very large number of positions in the service are at least partly professional or technical and practically all of them are 'otherwise peculiar,' it is quite plain that the Governor in Council 'upon the recommendation of the head of a department based on the report in writing of the deputy head' may by the gradual expansion of precedents insensibly nullify the whole of the normal methods of appointment to positions below that of deputy head, which are provided for in sections 13 and 24 and the other sections dependent upon them. The only check upon this possible nullification of the Act is the provision that the person to be appointed by the Governor in Council without a competitive test shall obtain from the Commission a certificate that he possesses the requisite knowledge and ability, and is duly qualified as to health, character and habits. But, without an understanding as to the limits within which the heads and deputy heads of departments propose to exercise the indefinite powers granted by this section, the requiring of a certificate of qualification from the Commission simply invites misunderstanding and friction between the heads of the departments and the Commission, and either the virtual abandonment by the Commission of its independence, or the forcing of it to report that the spirit of the Civil Service law is being violated.

It is plainly recognized by the Commission that it is not within the sphere of its regulations as provided for in the Act to place the slightest limitation on the exercise of the powers of the heads of departments as granted under section 21. It is, however, respectfully suggested that if the new system of appointments and promotions to positions in the Civil Service is to be at all regular and efficient, some declaration of policy should be made by the Governor in Council as to the exceptions to the normal process of making appointments to the inside service below that of deputy head, which are to be brought under section 21.

In reviewing the normal methods prescribed for making appointments to positions below that of deputy head, the question naturally arises what necessity was there for making any exception? Obviously none, on the mere ground of the positions being professional or technical, inasmuch as these qualifications, much more than administrative or executive ability, lend themselves to ordinary competitive tests, and they extend to practically all grades of the service. In passing in review the various grades of the service, however, it becomes evident that there is one special feature which cannot be properly covered by the competitive system of selection, however broadly treated. It is obvious that in the interests of efficient administration it is necessary that the minister or head of a department should be able to maintain intimate and confidential relations not only with the deputy head of his department, but with those chiefs of important sections or branches who administer what are virtually independent sections of the service. In such cases it seems reasonable that the selection of such chief officers should be made by the heads of departments without the specific introduction of the competitive principle. In these cases also, the Commission would naturally confine its attention to the character and the requisite knowledge and ability of the person selected by the minister to fill the office.

Under some such limitations of the wholly indefinite authority given under section 21 to depart from the general rule that appointments to positions under that of deputy head shall be made on a competitive basis, the administration of the Civil Service law would be rendered much more certain and effective, and would escape the uncertainty and confusion which are liable to result from a vague interpretation of section 21, and which in turn would be apt to produce friction within the service and a misconception on the part of the public.

The other two sections of the new Act which provide for exceptions to the general rule of appointment under the competitive principle present very little difficulty. Section 22 refers to possible appointments to the positions of messenger, porter, sorter and packer, and other positions in the lower grades, as determined by the Governor in Council. Several of these positions are practically within the grade of common labour, and occasionally specially suitable persons may be found for such work who are not, however, in a position to take sufficiently high standing at a general preliminary examination. Even here, however, the general principle of appointment on the basis of competitive tests is recognized, and section 22 is understood to sanction only special exceptions to the general rule.

Section 23 simply provides for the appointment of temporary clerks when the regular list of successful competitors has been exhausted before the next regular examination takes place.

If the general understanding, which is given in the above memorandum, as to the working of the new system as regards the inside service, is regarded as reasonable and practical, the members of the Commission will submit for the consideration of the Governor in Council the proposed regulations provided for under clause 2 of section 10 of the Civil Service Amendment Act.

Guards' Inspection—Regiment Made Splendid Showing Before Col. Otter.

The Governor General's Foot Guards passed a very creditable inspection last night. The muster was about 380 of all ranks. This is one of the largest, if not the largest, parade the regiment has ever had in the fall. The Guards probably never looked better. The raising of the standard of men during the past few years by the corps has had its effect, and a body of big men they appeared last night. The inspection had been postponed from July, owing to the Quebec trip, and had it been held then there would doubtless have been a much larger parade.

The corps was inspected by Brigadier-General Otter in the absence of the inspector-general. Col. Howard was his staff officer. The inspection was held on Cartier Square. The regiment went through the usual movements with a snap and precision that must have made the officers proud. After the battalion work, the companies were given different movements and the same fine work was manifested there.

At the close of the inspection there was the annual muster. Capt. Foulkes of the Pay Corps was the mustering officer, assisted by Capt. Powell, of the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

Long service medals for 20 years' service in the Canadian militia were presented by General Otter to Q.M.S. Birtch, Paymaster-Sergeant Firth and Band Sergeant Wimperis.

Export Apple Trade.—Further Heavy Losses on Canada's Shipments.

There have been reported heavy losses on shipments of apples from Canada to the English market, and it is feared that last week's shipments from Montreal will show still heavier losses, as the fruit left here in a badly heated condition. A shipper stated that he would not be surprised if the total losses on the fruit above referred to would amount to $50,000, as the bulk of the shipments were not in a fit condition for export. Cables received on Tuesday last from Liverpool reported sales of Nova Scotian Gravensteins at 4s. 6d. to 11s. 6d. for No. 1 and 3s. 6d. to 8s. 6d. for No. 2. When it is considered that the freight on these apples is 80c. per bbl., there will be little left for the consignors after paying commission for selling. It is to be hoped that the shipments going forward that left last week will meet with a better market than some in the trade are apprehensive of. As regards business the market here is very quiet, it being difficult to move round lots. In the west, however, we hear of the sale of 5,000 bbls. at a point east of Toronto at $2 f.o.b., and a lot of 1,000 bbls. at $2.25 f.o.b. at another point east of Toronto.

History and Biography—'The making of Carlyle.' .By R. S. Craig.

Though so much has been written about Carlyle, it is indisputable that much remains to be written. Froude's biography of him, while one of the most interesting books ever written, is on the whole one of the least reliable; the facts, that is to say, are generally correct, but the correct deduction from them has seldom been made. We agree with Mr. Craig that Froude's account of Carlyle's early years is tinged too heavily with the greyness that enveloped the Carlyle menage when Froude knew it; Carlyle in Froude's pages, like Johnson in Boswell's seems to have been born old. It is not necessary for us to follow Mr. Craig through the various stages of Carlyle's early career; suffice it to say that he tells his story in a clear, interesting, and sympathetic fashion. He corrects the popular notion about Carlyle's struggles as a student; the real struggle came later, when Carlyle was wrestling with the law in Edinburgh, and endeavouring to interest magazine editors in German literature. Mr. Craig lays stress upon Carlyle's splendid honesty, independence, and on his loyalty to his family and his wife. On the other hand he finds the peasant trait in Carlyle's "persistent comparison of himself with others, intellectual rejoicing in the want of intellect elsewhere." He was, says Mr. Craig, a "Scottish purified Swift."

Magician's Latest Dream. Nicola Tesla has a Scheme for Telegraphy without Wires.

Value—100.

Nicola Tesla, the electrician and scientist, has for some time had in course of development a project for instantaneous and simultaneous communication to all parts of the earth, and perhaps to some of the nearer planets. His plan does not deal with fireworks, nor with the illumination of a large part of the earth's surface in a hope of attracting the attention of dwellers on Mars, but depends wholly upon the properties of electric waves. Mr. Tesla says:—

'I have had this scheme under consideration for five or six years, and I am becoming more nearly convinced every day that it is based upon scientific principles, and is thoroughly practicable. We know that electric disturbances on the sun are productive of similar disturbances on the earth in the form of thunder showers. Now, why is it not equally conceivable that a disturbance on the earths surface should produce some tangible effect on other planets? The transmission of disturbances on the sun shows beyond doubt that waves of electricity are propogated through all space.

'The objection may be put forward that sufficient electricity to create disturbances cannot be made on the earth's surface, and that we should be wholly dependent upon thunder storms and other phenomena of nature for the success of our experiment. But, on the contrary, we can make all the artificial thunder and lighting we want. There is no difficulty in making electric apparatus with a spark gap of a mile, and if that did not prove effective it could be increased.'

To Use Electricity.

Toronto, Mar. 17.—'If our men, engineers and conductors, would but carry out the simple rules as laid down by the company there would be a great falling-off in the number of railway accidents,' said Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the C. P. Railway, in an interview here last evening. 'Sometimes,' he continued, 'the cause is traced to a broken rail, or a broken car-flange, but these are not responsible for the great majority of the accidents, serious or otherwise, which are happening day by day. We cannot in reason double-track a road when there is hardly enough traffic for a single track, and the same thing applies to installing a block system. As soon as the traffic warrants the expenditure, the move is made. Personally, I look forward to the day when every mile of our road from one coast to the other will be operated by means of block system.

'Electricity is sure to become a great factor in the motive power question. When the time comes for a road to have its trains hauled by the white coal it will not be by any trolley or underground system of power supply, but by locomotives whose batteries can be renewed at intervals along the route. Out west we are going to experiment with electricity on some of our short branch lines.'

The Mining Operations in the Yukon Territory for the Year 1907-1908.

During the last year much grouping has been done whereby a large number of placer mining claims are being operated with one plant. Although the number of operations has decreased, the scale of the work has materially increased. You will notice, in another part of this report, that there are 22 separate operations conducted on the hills of Bonanza creek. This does not mean that there are only 22 claims in operation, but that each operation is a plant of large magnitude operating on a group of placer claims ranging from 10 to 100 in number.

This arrangement has been found necessary to work the many claims already worked by the placer mining methods at a profit. This practice has been general on all the large gold-bearing streams situated within the Dawson mining district.

The hydraulicing and dredging methods are the two large-scale methods of mining in vogue in this Territory. The former is applicable to hillside diggings, while the latter is confined to valleys and creek bottoms. As either of these large methods require large areas of ground to justify the installation of a large plant, it is obvious that its application is only feasible when a large number of placer mining claims can be grouped together.

SUMMARISING DOCUMENTS AND CORRESPONDENCE.

(THIRD DIVISION.)

TORONTO, February 18, 1902.

The Honourable RICHARD W. SCOTT,
Secretary of State,
Ottawa.

I have the honour to transmit herewith the Report of the Commission appointed to inquire into the question of Chinese and Japanese Immigration, in so far as it relates to the immigration of Chinese.

Every interest and industry has been considered, and with each chapter is quoted so much of the evidence relating thereto as was considered necessary to convey the purport of the whole.

In the head-note and summary of each chapter will be found a concise statement of the facts and findings relating to each subject-matter dealt with.

The evidence of course had to be all reviewed before reaching a decision in each case, and it was thought conducive to a full exposition of each subject-matter, that a condensed statement of the evidence upon which the findings were based should be quoted.

In the last chapter will be found a résumé of the whole and the conclusion at which the Commissioners have arrived. The head-note and summary of each chapter and the concluding chapter fully set forth the views of the Commissioners. In quoting the evidence especial care was taken to give the views of all parties who employ Chinese labour, or whose interests might possibly be affected by its exclusion.

I am pleased to say that the Commissioners were unanimous in the conclusion arrived at, as to the necessity of excluding further immigration of Chinese labourers.

That portion of the report relating to Japanese Immigration is well advanced, and will be completed at an early date.

R. C. CLUTE,
Chairman.

JOSEPH POPE,
Under Secretary of State.

EXTRACT from a report of the Committee of the Honourable the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency on September 21, 1900.

On a memorandum dated September 3, 1900, from the Secretary of State, submitting that he has had under consideration the many representations made by the legislature and people of British Columbia on the subject of Chinese and Japanese immigration into that province to some of which he desires to call particular attention.

The minister observes that at a recent sitting of the Legislative Assembly of the province, a resolution was adopted declaring that the Chinese Immigration Act passed at the last session of the parliament of Canada, increasing the capitation tax from $50 to $100 is ineffective and inadequate to prevent Chinese immigration into Canada, and expressing the opinion that the only effective mode of dealing with the question of restricting Mongolian immigration into Canada would be by either increasing the amount of per capita tax to the sum of $500, or by the passing of an Act based on the lines of the Natal Act, known as the 'Immigration Restriction Act of 1897.'

That in the month of May last (1900) two numerously signed petitions from the residents of British Columbia to His Excellency the Governor General in Council, were received, representing that between January 1 and April 1 of the present year (1900) 4,669 Japanese landed in Victoria and Vancouver, and that during the same period 1,325 Chinese landed in Victoria, making a total of nearly 6,000 within the short space of four months, and alleging that the result is 'that the province is flooded with an undesirable class of people non-assimilative and most detrimental to the wage-earning classes of the people of the province, and that this extensive immigration of Orientals is also a menace to the health of the community.'

That the petitioners assert that they are not unmindful of Imperial interests, and while expressing feelings of the greatest loyalty to those interests, they respectfully call attention to what they term a serious inroad upon the welfare of the people of the province and they ask that an Act may be passed prohibiting the immigration of the above-mentioned classes of the people of Canada.

That it has also been alleged in other communications on the subject that there was probability of a great disturbance to the economic conditions existing in the province and of grave injury being caused to the working classes by the large influx of labourers from China and Japan, as the standards of living of the masses of the people in those countries differ so widely from the standards prevailing in the province, thus enabling them to work for a much less wage.

That it is also urged that it is in the interest of the Empire that the Pacific Province of the Dominion should be occupied by a large and thoroughly British population rather than by one in which the number of aliens would form a large proportion.

The Minister also desires to call attention to the many Acts passed by the Legislative Assembly of the Province declaring that Chinese and Japanese persons shall not be allowed to find employment on works, the construction of which has been authorized or made possible of accomplishment by certain privileges or franchises granted by the Legislature, which Acts have been disallowed by reason of the discrimination including Japanese.

The Minister submits that owing to these representations made by the Legislature and people of British Columbia, the Right Honourable the Premier during the last session of the Parliament of Canada, when introducing the Bill authorizing the increase in the capitation tax on Chinese coming into the Dominion from $50 to $100, announced that the government had come to the conclusion that it would be wise at the present time to follow the course adopted by the Government of Canada in the year 1884, and have the complaints and statements referred to, investigated, the inquiry to include the question as to whether the Japanese should be treated as the Chinese were, and whether or not they present the same objectionable characteristics as were alleged against the Chinese and that a Royal Commission would be appointed to investigate and examine into the whole question, making a full report so that the views of the people of British Columbia might be placed before the Imperial authorities.

The Minister therefore recommends that a thorough and full investigation be made, under a Royal Commission, into the foregoing statements and representations, and that Roger C. Clute, of Toronto, Ralph Smith, of Vancouver, and Daniel J. Munn, of New Westminster, be appointed Commissioners for the purpose of such investigation, and that pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 114, Revised Statutes of Canada, entitled 'An Act respecting inquiries concerning public matters,' they as such Commissioners be given the full power of summoning witnesses and requiring them to give evidence on oath or on solemn affirmation, and to produce such documents and papers as they may deem requisite.

The Minister further recommends that reasonable advance be made to the Commissioners to cover living and travelling expenses, that F. J. Dean, of Kamloops, be appointed secretary to the Commission, and that for the purpose of taking such evidence they be authorized to employ a stenographer to take down the evidence, whose remuneration shall be fixed by the Commissioners.

The committee submit the foregoing for Your Excellency's approval.

JOHN J. MCGEE,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

Mr. H. B. AMES (St. Antoine, Montreal). Mr. Speaker, we on this side of the House yield not a whit to the hon. minister (Mr. Brodeur), who has just sat down, or to those who are associated with him, in admitting the desirability of maintaining the friendliest commercial relations possible with that country of the old world with which so many Canadians have ties of blood and affection. Whether success has or has not attended the efforts of the minister in seeking that object, we all agree that the object is one which should be sought. And we would all be willing, I think, to congratulate the minister and the government in so far as success may have attended their efforts. There was no need of the minister, it seems to me, attempting to excuse—almost apologize for—the government in having turned first to France in an attempt to bring into effect this intermediate tariff, which was adopted last session, we understand, for purposes of negotiation. It was natural and right that France should be the first country selected with which to endeavour to make a treaty. The sentimental considerations which bind a large part of the people of this country to Old France are, I think, respected by all Canadians, even those who may not have the same reasons for sharing them.

ENGLISH COMPOSITION.

1.—A letter is received by the Deputy Minister of Justice inquiring as to the following points:—

Is there much variety or contrast observable amongst those who are committed to the Canadian penitentiaries? Does imprisonment appear to have an injurious or beneficial effect upon prisoners? What is the outlook for the reformation of the criminal?

Write a reply to this letter bringing out the following points:—

A strong, wholesome discipline develops self-control. Prisoners, especially those committed for a first offence, are often not true criminals; habitual criminals result from weakness of character, failure to succeed after a term of imprisonment, ostracism by respectable people of those once imprisoned. Many criminals are abnormal both physically and mentally, and are lacking in natural self-control and responsibility.

2. Analyze and make a synopsis of the attached correspondence, which will give in a clear and concise form the important points in it. Candidates are requested to give attention to spelling, writing, punctuation, grammar, and style.

THE ST. ALBAN'S AFFAIR.

(Copy) Lord Monck to Mr. Cardwell.

No. 162. QUEBEC, October 27, 1864.

SIR,—I have the honour to report that on the morning of Thursday, the 20th instant, I received a telegram, dated the previous day, from Mr. Gregory Smith, Governor of the State of Vermont, of which I enclose a copy, marked A, informing me that a party of armed men from the province of Canada had invaded the State, robbed the banks of St. Albans, and committed other depredations. As no mention of this outrage appeared in any of the morning papers of the 20th, I was at first inclined to doubt the authenticity of the telegram, and therefore addressed to the Governor of Vermont the telegram, copy (B) enclosed.

I, at the same time, caused a telegram to be addressed to Mr. Coursol, Police Magistrate at Montreal, desiring him to proceed immediately to the frontier with a force of police, and to assist in the arrest of the perpetrators of this outrage, if they should make their appearance on Canadian soil.

I also telegraphed to the lieutenant general commanding, requesting him to give directions to the military quartered at St. Johns to hold themselves in readiness to co-operate with Mr. Coursol and the police, should any necessity for their services arise, which request was at once complied with by Sir W. F. Williams. Shortly after I had taken these steps, a telegram was received from Mr. Coursol by the Attorney General informing him that he had been applied to for assistance in the detection and arrest of the perpetrators of the outrage by some of the inhabitants of St. Albans, and that he had sent with them a force of police for that purpose and very shortly after a telegram arrived from the same officer, announcing that several of the persons engaged in the attack on St. Albans, had been arrested, and a large amount of the money stolen from the banks had been recovered.

On receiving this information, I sent the Governor of Vermont the telegram (copy enclosed marked C).

The steps adopted by the police authorities were successful, and thirteen of the parties concerned in the attack on St. Albans have been arrested, and are now in custody in Canada; a large amount of the money stolen from the banks has also been recovered. I received on the 21st from the Governor of Vermont, the telegram (copy enclosed, marked D).

Preliminary investigation, preparatory to a formal demand for the extradition of the prisoners is being held at St. Johns, where the captured men are in confinement, and I have been notified by telegraph from Her Majesty's representative at Washington, that an application for the delivery of these men to the authorities of the United States is now on its way from thence. I am happy to be able to say that there is no reason to believe that any British subject has been in any way a participator in the affair. I enclose extracts from several newspapers which I think give a fair account of the translations. I enclose a letter copied from the Evening Telegraph, of Montreal, and addressed to the editor of that paper, by a Mr. Bennett H. Young, one of the persons in custody, from which you will observe that he asserts that the enterprise was engaged in with the consent and under the authority of the President of the so-called Confederate States of America, and that the perpetrators are commanding officers of those states.

As far as I have been able to learn, no sympathy with the persons engaged in this outrage has been expressed in Canada, and the Press throughout the province unanimously denounce the attack upon a peaceful and unarmed community. I have deferred, until to-day, making any official report of this transaction, in the hope that I might thereby be enabled to give it more in detail, and with greater accuracy. I shall not fail to keep you informed of the results of the investigation which is now being held at St. Johns, before Mr. Coursol, and I hope the steps which I have felt it my duty to take in the matter will meet your approval.

I have, &c.,

To the Governor of Vermont, U.S., Montpelier.

I have this morning received a telegram purporting to be signed by you, in these terms: "A party of raiders from the province of Canada have invaded this State, have robbed all the banks in St. Albans, killed several citizens and are plundering and destroying property." Is this genuine? I have given directions that measures shall be at once adopted for the arrest of the offenders, if they should return to Canada. You may rely on cordial co-operation and assistance from this Government. Answer immediately.

(Signed) MONCK.

(C)

To the Governor of Vermont, Montpelier.

Since my last telegram I have received official reports from my own officers confirming the statement in your message of yesterday. Measures have been adopted to give your officers every assistance in the detection and arrest of the raiders, if they should appear in Canada. I have just learned by telegraph that six of the robbers, with a large amount of money, have been arrested this morning at St. Anne's Bridge.

(Signed) MONCK.

From the Governor of Vermont; received Oct. 21, from Montpelier.

Have just received advices, informing me that strong efforts are being made by the parties arrested in your province, to hasten their trial before a magistrate, before time can be given to prepare the proper and necessary evidence. It is reported that the trial is set for Saturday (to-morrow). I would respectfully urge your interference, so far as it can consistently be given, to delay the trials and to give all proper opportunity to furnish evidence, and I would also request your influence to secure such trial before an able and impartial judge. Please communicate to me your views by telegraph to St. Albans. I am informed that the parties under arest, having plenty of money, have employed the best counsel.

(Signed) J. GREGORY SMITH,
Governor of Vermont.

To the Governor of Vermont, St. Albans.

Your telegram has been received. You need entertain no apprehension that the law will not be impartially administered. An able magistrate, Judge Coursol of Montreal, has charge of the case.

Quebec, Oct. 21, 1864.

(Signed) MONCK.

From the Governor of Vermont:—received Oct 21, from Montpelier.

Your first telegram, acknowledging receipt of mine, with your last, were received at the same moment last evening. Have also received advices of the active aid directed by you in arresting the raiders. From the latest official reports, I learn that the raiders to the number of 20 or 30, well armed, entered the village of St. Albans, robbed the three banks to the amount of over $200,000; stole horses sufficient for the use of each man, fired indiscriminately upon the citizens, unarmed, wounding three, one mortally; set fire to one of the hotels, and immediately started for your province, all being accomplished within the space of about 45 minutes. A company of volunteers, from among our citizens, numbering about fifty, organized as quickly as possible, and started in pursuit, pursuing them into Canada. Please accept my hearty thanks for your expressions of consideration in our efforts to recover the plunder and bring offenders to justice.

(Signed) J. Gregory Smith.
Governor of Vermont.

No. 179. November 19, 1864.

Sir,—Referring to my despatch (No. 162) of Oct. 27, I have the honour to report to you that persons answering to the following names were arrested by the Canadian authorities, on the evidence of United States citizens, for having taken part in the attacks on the banks at St. Albans, Vermont:—

Samuel Eugene Lackey, Squire Turner Travis, Alexander Pope Bruce, Charles Swazer, George Scott, Bennett H. Young, Caleb McDowall Wallace, James Alex. Doty, Joseph McGrosty, Samuel Simpson Gregg, Dudley Moore, Thomas Bronsdon Collins, Marcus Spurr, William H. Hutchinson.

The preliminary inquiry to enable me to issue warrants for the extradition of these persons, has commenced at St. Johns, but subsequently the prisoners, for the convenience and by the consent of all the parties concerned, were removed to Montreal, where they are now in custody, and where the examination proceeded till Wednesday, November 16, when, on the application of the prisoners' counsel, the magistrate granted an adjournment until December 13, to enable the prisoners to bring forward material evidence.

I have the honour to transmit, for your information, copies of all the depositions and statements made in the case, which have been forwarded to me by the magistrate.

An application has been made by the government of the United States for the extradition of these men on a charge of murder and robbery, but I am not empowered to issue my warrant for that purpose until they shall have been fully committed by the magistrate. At present you will observe that they are held in custody on remand only.

No. 196. Quebec, December 15, 1864.

Sir,—Referring to my despatches noted in the margin, I have the honour to report that the prisoners who had been arrested for having taken part in the late attack on St. Albans, in the State of Vermont, and to whom a month's time to procure evidence had been allowed, were discharged at Montreal on Tuesday last, the 13th inst., by the police magistrate Mr. Coursol on the ground that he had no jurisdiction to hear the case.

" 173, 5th Nov.
" 183, 28th "
" 179, 19th Nov.
" 185, 28th "

I enclose a number of the Montreal Gazette, containing the judgment of Mr. Coursol on the question.

It appears that by the Imperial Statute passed to give effect to the treaty of extradition with the United Staes, 6 & 7 Vic. Cap. 76, it is enacted in the 5th sec. that "if by any law or ordinance to be thereafter made by the local legislature of any British colony or possession abroad provision shall be made for carrying into complete effect within such colony or possession, the objects of this present Act, by the substitution of some other enactment in lieu thereof, then it shall be competent to Her Majesty, with the advice of Her Privy Council, (if to Her Majesty in Council it should seem meet, but not otherwise) to suspend the operation within any such colony or possession, of this present Act, so long as such substituted enactment shall continue in force there, and no longer."

The Provincial Act, to give effect to the treaty (Consolidated Statutes of Canada, Cap. 89) was passed on the 30th May, 1849, and by an order of the Queen in Council, dated January 8, 1850, the operation of the Imperial Act of Canada was suspended in favour of the substituted provincial statute. In 1861, an Act was passed in the Canadian Parliament repealing certain clauses of the first provincial Act, and subsituting other provisions in their stead.

This amending Act by an order of the Queen in Council, dated October 11, 1861, was left to its operation.

The argument of the counsel for the prisoners, which was adopted by Mr. Coursol, was that the repeal of the portion of the substituted provincial Act, by the amending statute of 1861 annulled the suspension of the Imperial Act, and that that law not having been duly suspended in favour of the amending Act, the proceedings should have been taken under the provisions of the Imperial Act.

I have been advised that the decision of Mr. Coursol is not well founded in law, and fresh warrants have been issued for the apprehension of the discharged prisoners, but I have thought it right also to issue my warrants under the Imperial statute, so that if Mr. Coursol's decision shall be upheld, proceedings may, in that event, be taken under the Imperial Act.

I venture to suggest that the opinion of the Law Officers in England should be taken as to the propriety of passing an order in council suspending the Imperial Act in favour of the combined provisions of the two Canadian Statutes, and so putting the question to rest, at all events in reference to future cases.

I have, &c.,

No. 206. QUEBEC, December 24, 1864.

SIR,—I have the honour to inform you that five out of the thirteen persons concerned in the late attack on St. Albans, in the State of Vermont, on whose discharge I addressed you in my despatch, No. 196, of December 15, have been rearrested under warrants issued for their apprehension by a judge of one of the superior courts.

I have, &c.,

No. 209. QUEBEC, December 30, 1864.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your despatch, (No. 98,) of the 9th inst., respecting the recent attack on St. Albans, suggesting that if the proper legal tribunals should decide that the persons in custody for that outrage have not been guilty of any offence for which they can be delivered up to the government of the United States, I should consult my legal advisers as to whether the facts disclosed on their examinations do not establish an offence against the Sovereignty of the Queen, punishable by the laws of Canada.

I have the honour, in reply, to state that at a very early stage of the proceedings I consulted the Law Officers verbally on this point, and the opinion they always expressed to me was that no evidence had been given which would enable them to proceed against the prisoners on the grounds alluded to.

I have requested them again to read over the depositions with a view to your suggestion, and I have now the honour to transmit to you a copy of their written opinion on this question.

I may add that owing to the decision of the police magistrate, on a technical point, by means of which the prisoners were discharged before they went into the evidence to support their own views in the matter, the Law Officers have had before them up to this time only the case for the prosecution. I have already informed you that five of the prisoners have been rearrested, and are now undergoing examinations before judges of the Superior Court at Montreal, and it may be that in the evidence for the defence some facts may be elicited which will show that they have rendered themselves liable to punishment under the laws of Canada.

I will not fail to watch the case closely, and to inform you from time to time of the facts disclosed on the examination.

I have also informed you in my despatch (confidential) of November 10, of the measures which my advisers have determined, with my full sanction, to lay before Parliament at its meeting on January 19, and for the adoption of which the facts of the present case appear to me to furnish a strong additional argument.

(a) Adherbal ubi intellexit eo rem processisse ut regnum aut relinquendum esset aut armis retinendum, necessario copias parat, et Iugurthae obvius procedit Interim haud longe a mari prope Cirtam oppidum utriusque exercitus consedit et quia dici extremum erat, proelium non inceptum. Sed ubi plerumque noctis processit, obscuro etiamtum lumine milites Iugurthini signo dato castra hostium invadunt: semisomnos partim, alios arma sumentes fugant funduntque: Adherbal cum paucis equitibus Cirtam profugit et ni multitudo togatorum fuisset quae Numidas insequentes moenibus prohibuit, uno die inter duos reges coeptum atque patratum bellum foret. Igitur Iugurtha oppidum circumsedit, vineis turribusque et machinis omnium generum expugnare aggreditur, maxime festinans tempus legatorum antecapere quos ante proelium factum ab Adherbale Romam missos audiverat.

(b) Itaque cum multis ex rebus intelligi potest maiores nostros non modo armis plus quam ceteras nationes verum etiam consilio sapientiaque potuisse; tum ex hac re vel maxime quod in impios singulare supplicium invenerunt. Qua in re quantum prudentia praestiterint iis qui apud ceteros sapientissimi fuisse dicuntur, considerate. Prudentissima civitas Atheniensium, dum ea rerum potita est, fuisse traditur. Eius porro civitatis sapientissimum Solonem dicunt fuisse, eum qui leges quibus hodie quoque utuntur scripserit. Is cum interrogaretur cur nullum supplicium constituisset in eum qui parentum necasset, respondit se id neminem facturum putasse. Sapienter fecisse dicitur cum de eo nihil sanxerit quod antea commissum non erat, ne non tam prohibere quam admonere videretur. Quanto maiores nostri sapientius qui cum intellegerent nihil esse tam sanctum quod non aliquando violaret audacia, supplicium in parricidas singulare excogitaverunt, ut quos natura ipsa retinere in officio non potuisset ii magnitudine poenae maleficio summoverentur. Insui voluerunt in culeum vivos atque in flumen deiici.

(c) Cogito mecum quam multi corpora exerceant, ingenia quam pauci: quantus ad spectaculum lusorium fiat concursus quanta sit circa artes bonas solitudo quam imbecilli animo sint quorum lacertos umerosque miramur. Illud maxime revolvo mecum: si corpus perduci exercitatione ad hanc patientiam potest qua et pugnos pariter et calces non unius hominis ferat, qua solem ardentissimum in ferventissimo pulvere sustinens aliquis et sanguine suo madens diem ducat; quanto facilius animus conroborari possit ut fortunae ictus invictus excipiat, ut proiectus, ut conculcatus exsurgat. Corpus enim multis eget rebus ut valeat: animus ex se creseit, se ipse alit, se exercet. Illis multo cibo, multa potione opus est, multo oleo, longa denique opera: tibi continget virtus sine apparatu sine impensa. Quicquid facere te potest bonum, tecum est. Quid tibi opus, ut sis bonus. Velle.

Redditaque Eurydice superas veniebat ad auras,
Pone sequens—namque hanc dederat Proserpina legem—
Cum subita incantum dementia cepit amantem,
Ignoscenda quidem, scirent si ignoscere Manes:
Restitit, Eurydicenque suam, jam luce sub ipsa,
Immemor heu, victusque animi respexit. Ibi omnis
Effusus labor, atque inmitis rupta tyranni
Foedera, terque fragor stagnis auditus Avernis.
Illa, Quis et me, inquit miseram et te perdidit, Orphea,
Quis tantus furor? Eu iterum crudelia retro
Fata vocant, conditque natantia lumina somnus,
Iamque vale: feror ingenti circumdata nocte
Invalidasque tibi tendens, heu non tua, palmas.

II. Translate into Latin:

(a) I fear he will take the city by storm.

(b) He asked them what they had seen.

(c) O that you would do what you have undertaken to do.

(d) We did not prevent them from defending their country.

(e) I do not doubt that the Romans were a great people.

(f) He declared that he would have come to our rescue if he had known that we were in any danger.

(g) After their army had been defeated, the citizens surrendered in order that they might not suffer a worse fate.

(h) We are told that Scipio Africanus, on one occasion had an interview at Ephesus with Hannibal whom he had defeated in the famous battle of Zama. To Scipio's question whom he considered the greatest general of history, the Carthaginian replied:—'Alexander the Great, because with a small band of soldiers he conquered countless hosts and traversed the most distant regions which no Greek had ever hoped to visit.' When questioned whom he would put second, he said that Pyrrhus had been the first to measure camps, and that no one had ever surpassed him in the taking of strong places, or in the disposition of his forces; and besides he had possessed the art of winning men's minds to such an extent that even Italian peoples preferred to be subject to a foreigner like him rather than to the Roman people who had long been supreme in that country. When Scipio went on to ask him finally whom he put third, he said without hesitation, 'Myself.' The other smiled and asked, 'What would you have said if you had beaten me?' 'In that case,' he replied, 'I would have put myself at the top of the list before Alexander or Pyrrhus or any one else.'

Plucky Pit Boy.

London, April 19.—Dressed in a well-worn coat and corduroy trousers, with a faded blue shirt and iron-bound clogs, a pit boy stood in the midst of a fashionable throng at Claridge's Hotel. He was Harry Murten, aged 17, who had come from Barnsley to receive the silver medal of Our Dumb Friend's League for his pluck in risking his own life to save that of a little black colliery pony named Prophet.

The incident happened at the Woolley Colliery, where Murten and the pony have worked together for four years. The pony, pulling three empty trucks, was being driven by the boy up an incline in the colliery workings, when the roof cracked above them. Earth and stones fell all about them, but instead of immediately rushing from the spot Murten stayed behind and liberated the pony from the trucks. A moment afterward ten tons of earth fell where the pony had been standing. "Had I left poor old Prophet, he would have been dead for sure," said the lad.

Just as he would have stepped from the cage at the pit-head, Murten came forward at Monday's meeting. A lighted safety lamp swung in his left hand, and for the purposes of a faithful representation his face was blackened with coal dust. The heartiness of his welcome overcame his shyness, and he managed a half-bow and smile of thanks as Julia Marchioness of Tweeddale handed him the league medal.

SCARCITY OF WHEAT.

The opinion of experts in connection with the supply of breadstuffs differs as to whether the high prices ruling are due to the corner in wheat at Chicago or to the partial crop failure in Argentina. It is pointed out that the world's supplies are now too widely distributed for values to be dominated by a single market. At the same time it has recently become apparent that there is a 16,000,000 bushel shortage in Argentina, and that the available world's supply of wheat in sight for the next four months will barely be enough for England, Germany and Italy, or over 2,000,000 bushels per week less than formerly. Taking this in conjunction with the report that wheat is selling at $1.50 per bushel in Kansas, and that Kansas expects to be importing flour from Minnesota before midsummer, something that has not happened for over twenty years, the situation takes on a decidedly serious aspect.

PENMANSHIP.

The house occupied by Gibbon, and in which he wrote the last half of his immortal work, is still in good preservation and is the grand object of attraction to all travellers. 'It was here'—to quote the beautiful passage in which Gibbon has perpetuated the memory of the event—'it was here on the day, or rather on the night of the 29th June, 1787, that I wrote the last lines of the last page of my history in a summer-house in my garden. After laying down my pen I took several turns in a covered walk which commands a prospect of the country, the lake and the mountains. The air was temperate, the sky was serene, the silver orb of the moon was reflected from the water, and all nature was silent. I will not dissemble the first emotions of joy on recovery of my freedom, and perhaps the establishment of my fame; but my pride was soon humbled, and a sober melancholy was spread over my mind, by the idea that I had taken an everlasting leave of an old and agreeable companion, and that whatsoever might be the future fate of my history, the life of the historian must be short and precarious.'

The Canadian people are displaying an intellectual activity commensurate with the expansion of their territory, the development of their natural resources and their accumulation of wealth. The scientific, historical and political contributions of three decades make up a considerable library, and prove conclusively that a national spirit is already animating the thoughtful class of the people. But although Canada can point to some creditable literary achievements of recent years, yet there is one branch of literature that has never won marked success, and that is the department of fiction. The progress in the future will be much greater, owing to the wider distribution of wealth, the dissemination of a higher culture, and a firmer confidence in the opportunities that the country offers.

SUMMARIZING DOCUMENTS.

Extract from Report of Dominion Archivist.

In 1831, vessels coming to Montreal continued to report at Quebec. After remonstrances, partial relief to the merchants and ship owners of Montreal was granted, the superintendent of customs residing at Montreal having been authorized by a provincial Act to collect the provincial revenue there, but the relief was not very great, as the Crown duties had still to be settled for at Quebec, to the great loss and inconvenience of merchants, shippers and consignees. The committee of trade at Montreal represented that the navigation of the St. Lawrence between Quebec and Montreal was rendered speedy and certain by the employment of steam tow-boats, but the necessity of entering the vessels at the Quebec custom-house caused a delay of one and sometimes of two days in unloading. Additional delay was only avoided by the consignee of the vessel paying the estimated amount of the Crown duties, which were often payable by twenty different consignees and could only be collected after the quarterly returns had been made by the Montreal officers to Quebec. (Payment of these it had been proposed to secure by bond, not by cash). As a result of the cash payments being insisted upon, instances annually occurred of individuals carrying off their goods from the province without repaying the general consignee. In addition to this, there were the inconvenience and trouble of making post entries to correct the first estimate of the Crown duties. Other expenses of a similar kind were incurred, and so great was the difficulty of obtaining repayment, that sufferers would rather sumbit the first loss than take the expensive measures necessary to secure a remedy. It was complained also that if it was desired to take a barrel of flour from a Montreal bonded warehouse, a certificate had to be produced that the duty had been paid in Quebec, so that it took nearly a week to get the barrel of floor into consumption.

The burdens laid upon shipping coming to Montreal are stated in the memorial to have been exceptional in the case of that city, no other instance being known of a merchant compelled to pay duties on his importations at a distance of 180 miles from the port of discharge, the expense and inconvenience thence arising being equivalent to an additional tax. Nor was this all the annoyance the merchants felt; they complained, also, that the tavern keepers of Montreal were placed on a better footing than the merchants and ship owners, in respect to the payment of duties, a circumstance which they did not look at with complacency. With regard to vessels, the owners of those built in Montreal were obliged to go to Quebec for a certificate of registry, and if the master of a vessel belong to, or consigned to Montreal, was to be replaced by another, the owner or agent of the vessel had to take the expensive journey to Quebec to grant the necessary bonds. The words of the memorial in 1831 show the change in the relations between the trade of Quebec and Montreal that then existed, as compared with the present conditions of the two ports. The memorial stated that the vessels resorting to Montreal bore a small proportion to these entering Quebec, but already the memorialists anticipated that by the improvements in the river, vessels from sea would land at Montreal the whole of the goods for its own district, Upper Canada and the adjoining frontier of the United States which, at the date of the memorial could, it was urged, be safely estimated as three-fourths of the whole importations.

So far back as 1790, the merchants of Montreal applied by memorial for the establishment of a custom-house independent of Quebec, but this was strenously objected to by the Naval officer, who urged that were the prayer granted, the passage between Quebec and Montreal would be taken advantage of by the country merchants, shop keepers, publicans, &c., to carry on an illicit trade "to the injury of the revenue and fair trader." Other reasons were given why the petition should not be granted, but they were chiefly of a personal character. The objections of the Naval officer, which were given effect to, and the memorial for a separate custom-house at Montreal rejected, are in series Q volume 49, p. 48, and the memorial from the merchants in Q 57-1, page 1.

In 1799, the merchants of Montreal objected strongly to the establishment of a separate custom-house at Montreal, the obstacles in the way of trade on account of the sole custom-house being at Quebec, having been to some extent removed. From the memorial of 1790, it appears that the cargoes of vessels for Montreal were obliged to be landed at Quebec, "which must be attended with very heavy expense for agents, "wharfage and labourers, besides the waste that will happen on cargoes of liquor by "landing.....What is of still greater consequence, the loss of time which may "arise, it being well known that the delay of a few hours waiting for a clearance up-"wards, has occasioned vessels to be many weeks in performing a voyage of sixty "leagues." It is scarcely necessary to remark, in reference to the long delay in the river, that there were no steamers at that time and that sailing vessels had to make their way, assisted or retarded by the wind, as it was favourable or the reverse. The reason given by the merchants in their memorial of 1799 why they did not repeat their application of 1790 for the establishment of a separate custom-house was, that when the application was refused, the instructions given by the commissioners of customs gave such relief and there was so much greater facility for their import and export trade, that there was no need to do so. After pointing out various improvements that might be effected, the memorialists of 1799 conclude "that a separate and indepen-"dent custom-house may introduce intricacies, difficulties, delays and expense beyond "what exists or can be foreseen, and if so, render the names of redress extremely "tedious not to say impracticable." (Q. 84, page 16.)

The objectionable system of paying the officers by fees was done away with in the custom-house at Quebec on January 5, 1826. In the spring of 1829, a minute was received by Sir James Kempt from the Treasury, and the substance was communicated to the Assembly with the statement which accompanied it, showing the charge for salaries, heretofore defrayed by fees. The Assembly referred the subject to a special committee, who reported that it was too late in the season to deal properly with the question. The statement of the establishment of the customs sent by the Treasury contained no details, so that a schedule of the salaries, which had been furnished to the Assembly by the collector of customs early in the season, was indicated as the only detailed list in possession of the governor. The schedule shows that the officers received salaries to the amount of £7,348.10s., the list including two tide surveyors, one at Quebec and the other at Montreal, their fixed salaries being £30 a year, with the addition of five shillings a day, when employed. Besides the staff at Quebec, a surveyor was stationed at Montreal with a salary of £100, and a waiter and searcher at £200; at Gaspé, a sub-collector received £150, and an officer with the same rank at New Carlisle, received £120. Later in the year (1829), a list was sent from the Treasury to the Colonial office, showing some considerable reductions in the salaries of the principal officers, for which compensation was to be made from the Crown duties, equal to the reduction, but the lords of the Treasury did not consider they had "authority "to grant to the officers at Quebec a percentage on collecting any of the duties, sub- "sequent to January 5, 1826, when the fixed salaries commenced" (Q. 191-2, page 226). The accommodation at Quebec for the custom-house was by no means suitable, and the commissioner, on the report of the collector and comptroller, recommended to the lords of the Treasury the purchase of a house belonging to the late Receiver General, Mr. Caldwell. The purchase, however, could only be made at public auction, in consequence of a difference of opinion between the governor and the Assembly on the question of who was to bear the loss on Caldwell's deficiency. In Hawkin's "Picture of Quebec," published in 1834, the new custom-house there is described as having been so far lately completed. "It is a plain stone edifice, well and substantially built."

MR. BUTLER'S REPORT.

SIR,—Pursuant to instruction I made an inspection last week of the books, vouchers, &c., of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in Montreal, to ascertain the amount of expenditure made by the Grand Trunk Pacific upon the Prairie and Mountain sections of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway from its inception to June 30, 1905, and have the honour to report as follows:

Prairie Section.

Expenditure	$241,505 76
Less refunds	317 28
	$241,188 48
Add proportion of preliminary expenses	106,433 00
Add proportion of general and legal expenses	88,465 66
Total	$436,087 14

Mountain Section.

Expenditure	$ 49,232 82
Add proportion of general and legal expenses	47,702 57
Total	$ 96,935 39

I would draw attention to the item of proportion of preliminary expenses in the statement of the prairie section, amounting to $106,433, this being a portion of a voucher submitted to me for $162,000, in round figures, but for which subvouchers to the extent only of $106,650 were shown me—an amount in excess of the proportion charged—but the details were insufficient to enable me to state whether they were a proper charge against the prairie section or not. If it is thought to be a proper charge against this section, then the total of that section as given by me in this report will be correct. If not, that total should be reduced accordingly.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

March 14, 1907.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson,
Minister of Railways and Canals, Ottawa.

My Dear Mr. Emmerson,—Referring to the conversation which I had with you to-day in regard to the route of the Trent Valley canal from Lake Simcoe to the Georgian Bay, I beg to protest against a selection of that route being made until there has been a proper survey of the route from the east end of Kempenfeldt Bay to Nottawasaga Bay upon which an estimate of the cost of construction can be made.

It is quite apparent from the reports which you showed me me to-day that no proper estimate can be made from the report of Mr. Walsh, based on the reconnaissance survey which has been made. I therefore urge you, and through you the government, not to make a selection until you have had a proper survey made of this route upon which an estimate of cost can be based, and I urge you to immediately take the necessary steps to have such survey made.

Yours faithfully,
(Sgd.) LEIGHTON McCARTHY.

SHORTHAND (80 words a minute).

Despite commercial depression, there is a spirit of hopefulness in the people, Colonists are seldom otherwise than optimistic. But on] every hand there is a demand for a policy that will bring permanence to commercial conditions, and which is wisely] taking the form of a call for an addition to the agricultural population.

Judging from the experience of Canada and] New South Wales, that appears to offer the only reliable remedy to the discouraging commercial situation. The study of the] conditions throughout the world prove that no country can hope to flourish on only one industry and more especially if] it is of a mining character. To expect South Africa to prosper because millions of value in the products of] the mines are exported annually is contrary to all economic laws. The development of the agricultural possibilities of South Africa] is more important than all the mining opportunities that may be capable of development on the continent. Wealth] derived from the cultivation of the soil in any country invariably remains a permanent asset.

South Africa can more readily] support millions of population in its agricultural possibilities between Table mountain and the Zambesi than Canada can between] Winnipeg and the Rocky Mountains. Established facts are agricultural development] and intensification in farm culture will create new markets, and bring in its train the establishment of manufacturing industries, without] which no country can hope to have attained the full measure of its strength or power.

In promoting agricultural settlement,] natural and climatic difficulties may have to be overcome in certain districts, but science has mastered these elsewhere. Prejudices] may have to be allayed incident to the introduction of a new agricultural population, but statesmanship and patriotism can solve] that difficulty.

The whites of South Africa may abandon all hope of solving the native problems on proper lines, or] even of maintaining their influence with the native population, unless there is considerable addition to their own forces. To fail] in their responsibilities on this point is to abandon duties that have become national in their character and magnitude.

British] statesmen and British capitalists are alike interested in every phase of this South African question. They all have much at] stake in the future of this country. Every] colony would welcome South Africa joining in the march of material prosperity] that has marked colonial development and government in the other British possessions during recent years.

AUDIT OFFICE, Ottawa, June 4, 1907.

SIR,—I inclose herewith copy of a letter which I have sent to the Deputy Minister of Militia and Defence in reference to advances on] account of Ross Rifle contract and have to request that you will bring the matter to the attention of the Treasury Board at your earliest convenience.]

According to the ruling of the Department of Justice the government is obliged to advance to the contractor all amounts expended by him on labour] and materials entering into the manufacture of the rifles, up to 75 per cent of the cost of the rifle. These advances have been made] from time to time and payment in full has also been made for all rifles delivered and accepted by the government, but the contractor has] failed to fill his part of the contract as out of five alleged orders, the first for 12,000 rifles and the] next four for 10,000 each, he has completed only one order, viz., the second one. There are 3,000] of the first order undelivered, 3,000 of the third order and the whole of the fourth and fifth orders undelivered, while advances] have been made of the full 75 per cent on the first four orders and $84,941.04 on] the fifth order, and, so far as I am aware, no steps have been taken by the government to enforce the fulfilment of the contract,] while the contractor is claiming further advances on the fifth order.

I have directed the Deputy Minister of Militia and Defence to refrain from using] his letter of credit for the purpose of making further advances and would respectfully suggest that you advise him to the same effect. In the] issue of certificates for frther credits in his favour I shall issue them only on condition that this restriction be observed and, if he decides] to make further advances, direct application for audit before payment must be made to this office.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

DEPARTMENT OF MILITIA AND DEFENCE, OTTAWA, June 4, 1907.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, with further reference to the question of advances to the Ross Rifle Company,] and shall lay it, and all the correspondence which has passed between your department and this with reference to this subject, before my minister immediately] upon his return from the Colonial Conference. Your obedient servant,

SHORTHAND (120 words a minute).

Lying in Portsmouth Harbour is a fine old ship, which brings back to our mind the first admiral who ever lived. The ship is the Victoria, on board which the] brave Admiral Nelson was killed, nearly a hundred years ago, in the great fight at Trafalgar.

Before a boy is passed as a sailor, he has to serve some time] on a training-ship, where, among other things, he has to learn how to handle a rifle and cutlass, and to help with the firing of the big guns. While] he joins his ship he is told off to some special work. Perhaps he acts as a messenger or a bugler, until the times comes when he is rated as] an ordinary seaman. Would you like to know how the sailors pass their time on board ship. Soon after day-break they turn out, lash up their hammocks, take them] on deck and stow them away in the nettings. Then they wash, have breakfast and are inspected by one of the officers. After breakfast they go to their work,] practice seamanship or gunnery, and have rifle and cutlass drill. At a quarter to twelve the decks are cleared up, and at noon dinner is ready. After dinner there is] more work till four, when supper is served; and soon afterwards the men are free to do as they like, and pass the time in spinning yarns, writing home or] singing. At half-past seven or eight, hammocks are piped down, and those who wish can turn in. About an hour afterwards lights are put out and only those men] who have to work the great ship, or to keep watch, remain awake.

There are many dangers on the sea and sailors have to be careful as well as brave.] Sometimes a poor fellow falls overboard, and then his mates hasten to throw him a lifebelt, so that he can keep himself afloat until they launch a boat. The] pilot is a very important person who guides the vessel into port. The coastguard is generally an old sailor, who lives on shore, and watches our coasts.

PENMANSHIP.

The house occupied by Gibbon, and in which he wrote the last half of his immortal work, is still in good preservation and is the grand object of attraction to all travellers. "It was here"—to quote the beautiful passage in which Gibbon has perpetuated the memory of the event—"it was here on the day, or rather on the night of the 29th June, 1787, that I wrote the last lines of the last page of my history in a summer-house in my garden. After laying down my pen I took several turns in a covered walk which commands a prospect of the country, the lake and the mountains. The air was temperate, the sky was serene, the silver orb of the moon was reflected from the water, and all nature was silent. I will not dissemble the first emotions of joy on recovery of my freedom, and perhaps the establishment of my fame; but my pride was soon humbled, and a sober melancholy was spread over my mind, by the idea that I had taken an everlasting leave of an old and agreeable companion, and that whatsoever might be the future fate of my history, the life of the historian must be short and precarious."

DICTATION.

NOTE.—This paper is not to be seen by the candidates. The Examiner in charge will read over each section slowly and distinctly. Time allowed, 30 minutes.

The Canadian people are displaying an intellectual activity commensurate with the expansion of their territory, the development of their natural resources and their accumulation of wealth. The scientific, historical and political contributions of three decades make up a considerable library, and prove conclusively that a national spirit is already animating the thoughtful class of the people. But although Canada can point to some creditable literary achievements of recent years, yet there is one branch of literature that has never won marked success, and that is the department of fiction. The progress in the future will be much greater, owing to the wider distribution of wealth, the dissemination of a higher culture, and a firmer confidence in the opportunities that the country offers.

'The SECRETARY OF STATE FOR WAR.—Mr. Chamberlain and Gentlemen,—On the last occasion when I had the pleasure of attending here, Lord Selborne opened the Conference on the question of Imperial defence from the standpoint of the Navy, and we have before us with regard to the Army a Notice of Motion formulated by the Government of New Zealand to the effect: "That it is desirable to have an Imperial Reserve Force formed in each of His Majesty's Dominions over the seas for service in case of emergency outside the Dominion or Colony in which such Reserve is formed. The limits within which such Reserve Force may be employed outside the Colony wherein it is raised to be defined by the Imperial and Colonial Governments at the time such Reserve is formed, and to be in accordance wtih any law in force for the time being respecting the same. The cost of maintaining and equipping such Imperial Reserve Force to be defrayed in such proportion and manner as may be agreed upon between the Imperial and Colonial Governments."

'Although I heartily concur with the terms of the Motion generally, I may perhaps be allowed to say that what I may be able to say today is not in any way based on that resolution. The question of our Imperial Land Forces is one which has not been brought forward either by the momentary impetus of the late war, or by anything but a desire for a settled policy in this respect, and I would venture to point out that our whole progress in this country for the last 20 years has been to some such end as that which we are now asking you to put your seal upon. National defence had been allowed to go very much backward during the "seventies." During the "eighties," Sir, very considerable progress was made, especially after Lord Randolph Churchill's resignation as Chancellor of the Exchequer, which was based upon and which formed a subject of a trial of strength as to whether our coaling stations for the Navy and national defences should be maintained. Since then attempts have been made from time to time to estimate what our land forces might be called upon to undertake. Those attempts have become more necessary year by year. It is practically impossible to exclude from our minds the necessities not of offensive but of defensive action for the maintenance of our Colonies and Dependencies all over the world, and the Government have, within the last two years, definitely stated, I think almost for the first time, how they adjust our land forces at home, and what proportion they hold in readiness for the protection of our interests in other parts of the globe.

'Perhaps I might recapitulate the views which I put before the House of Commons, now 18 months ago, on behalf of the Government, and which, after long discussions, were accepted, and have been generally agreed to by Parliament. We are prepared—and our organization enables us in the future—to send 120,000 regular troops abroad to any part of the British Empire which may be threatened. We keep up a home field army of another 120,000 men; we keep 190,000 men for our garrisons; we have a large number—somewhere between 100,000 and 200,000—employed in various positions for the defence of London and for strategic positions which might be threatened in case of invasion. But large as these preparations may sound, they are certainly not deemed too large, by our military advisers, in view of the possibility of our at any time losing the command of the sea, and I venture to remind the Conference that what Great Britain does off her own bat towards defence of Colonies and Dependencies, is not limited by her power to send 120,000 men to any threatened position in case of emergency. We have close upon 80,000 British troops in India. We have always some 30,000 in the Colonial garrisons, and at present—and probably for some long time to come—we must, in view of South Africa, look to keeping a larger number than that. Therefore, we have, either abroad at this moment or liable to go abroad on any emergency, close upon a quarter of a million of men. And I would point out that this is not a force kept for ambitious schemes or offensive operations or for an attempt to involve ourselves in the great quarrels of our neighbours in Europe. We have only got to look to the illustrations of the late war to see that in fixing 120,000 men as our contingent, we are rather under than over the mark of what we might be called upon to send, having in view that we have had to send double the number, with your assistance, for the defence of two of our Colonies.

'I recognize that in bringing these subjects before you I am bound to show that the mother country is doing her part. I do not think that anybody will contend that a nation which keeps 110,000 or 120,000 men permanently abroad under a system of voluntary enlistment, and is prepared to send the same number in the case of emergency, is not doing her share in protecting her Colonies and Dependencies, which are relying upon her assistance. On the other hand it is held—speaking in this room by our military advisers it is strongly held—that circumstances may occur in which it is most desirable that we should have a call on further troops. Of course we should have a certain number at home, which, if the sea is safeguarded, we should, as we did in the case of South Africa, send out; but the whole secret of success in war is time, and we can never count on having so much time as we have had in the late war. We should never count—either in respect to policy or as to time—on having an enemy who would enable us to make up during the war the deficiencies which we found at the beginning. I should like to speak, if I may, quite frankly to the Conference on this subject. In the Boers we had an armed enemy—not an army—shrewd and brave, and provided with good weapons; but they neglected at the beginning of the war obvious opportunities—obvious and many opportunities. I am not a tactician, but I have studied the opinions of those who have written and who have given me their advice. I might point out that there were incidents earlier in the war, there were occasions, when a powerful and determined enemy, properly organized, could have taken advantage of our early reverses, and could have moved with great effect upon our communications. That was not done because the forces were not an organized army. Again, in individual battles there were many opportunities of which a determined leader, who had an organized force at his disposal, would have taken advantage to break our line—very often a long extended one—and would have put our troops to a much more severe test than even they were put to. I only mention that fact for this reason, that we have to consider what will be the effect if we found ourselves pitted against European troops. We should have both these contingencies, which were neglected by the Boers, to look to. My object in mentioning this is to remind you that we had largely to rely—both in our own and in our Colonial levies—on relatively untrained troops. I admit to the full that our levies, that is to say, our yeomanry and other hastily levied troops, differed extremely in their composition and in their military quality. They all improved enormously after some months; but no General commanding British troops would have been willing, in the condition in which many of them went out—nor would it have been fair, to pit them against European troops, and the same, in a lesser degree, holds good as regards the Colonial force sent to our support. They differed, and they were bound to differ exceedingly, in their military quality, especially at the beginning, and on first landing; and it is not disrespectful to them to say that, with the training which they had received before they landed, there was a considerable number of those troops which no General would have had a right to pit against European troops without further training, and it is exceedingly important to us in laying down our plans of action for the future to know to what extent we can depend in an emergency upon Colonial support. Of course, I realize in regard to all these questions that we should not ask for—that we should go too far if we asked for any general promise of support in an emergency which has not arisen; but what I do trust very strongly is this: that in case of an emergency, and in case of different Colonies being willing to come to the support of the Mother Country in such emergency, they should be in a position to do so with a body of troops, however moderate in number, which could be put in line with our own regular troops against a European Power. I am not, of course, speaking of action on the Continent of Europe, but it will not be necessary for any of us to go far to conceive cases in which in support of our Colonies it might be necessary to send a large British force, and in some cases in quarrels in which Great Britain's interest would be considerably less than that of the Colony affected. Therefore, I am not asking that this should be regarded simply as a donative on the part of the Colonies out of loyalty. I ask it rather on the ground of reciprocity, and I ask it also because, if you take some parts of the world in which our interests might be threatened, it must be perfectly obvious that it would not be in the power of the Mother Country to perform her part of the business effectively without some support.

'Take, for instance, the case of China, We have recently come to an agreement with Japan—an agreement which you will recollect, is not one for offensive action, since it only comes into force in the case of aggressive action by other Powers. Obviously in any plan of campaign which might be found necessary to protect our trade with China against encroachment, and against aggression, we should be bound, and we should wish, to give Japan, our ally, every support in our power. It is equally obvious that our interests would be strongly threatened in other parts of the globe at the same time. A campaign between two great Powers is not fought out solely on the spot at which the quarrel has arisen. In the case of any trouble which threatened our Indian Empire, we are bound to send large reinforcements from here. In the case of war which involved European Powers our striking effect would necessarily be exercised on some of their dependencies. That is what Great Britain ought to be prepared to do; but by propinquity and also from other causes nothing could assist us more supposing that quarrel, forced upon us by others, also obtained for us the support of the different Colonial Governments, than that we should be able to count on being able to support our ally in China with a small body, but, at the same time, a well organized body of Colonial force from those Colonies which are nearest and which are most conveniently situated for supporting us in China.

'Well, now, what is the present position? We have had a memorandum which I think has been probably read by all the authorities who are present, and which shows that we have nominally of all ranks a very large permanent force in Australia, something like 27,000 men; in Canada, 38,000; in New Zealand, 17,000; and making up with South Africa, say, probably, something like 100,000 men. Well, what is the military value of the force? That is the question we have to put to ourselves, what is its military value for the defence of the Colonies themselves, and what is its military value for assistance to the Empire at large, to the extent to which it is asked to contribute. Well, I hope I shall not be accused, if I am frank, of in any way disparaging our Colonial troops. I began by saying that all, and more than all, that may be said as to their diversity may be said as to the diversity of the Imperial forces outside the regular army, but the diversity is exactly what my military advisers are engaged in reducing to the best of their ability, so that we may know exactly what we have to depend upon.

'Take the case first of all of Canada; Canada has nearly 40,000 men. We know that in no part of the Empire has better fighting material been found in the recent war than among the Canadians, but I see from the last annual Report from the General Officer Commanding the Canadian Militia, a report which was referred to in high terms in a recent debate on the Militia in the Canadian Parliament, that the city corps have absolutely no training whatever in the field duties of a soldier, and that the rural corps "will never be made even fairly fit to take the field with the limited period of annual training that they receive under existing conditions." In the urban corps it is further stated to be impossible at present to give anything beyond theoretical instruction in the more important duties of a soldier, such as scouting, outpost work, entrenchment and tactical exercises. As regards the cavalry the general officer regretted his inability to report that as cavalry they can be considered to be in any instance more than barely efficient. Beyond that, we know that Canada has at present no trained staff, or a system of training of staff officers, and very recently a rifle has been adopted in Canada which, although carrying the same cartridge as our British rifle, is of a different pattern, which in itself we think is a little unfortunate, as breaking the uniformity and the interchangeablity from the one to the other in case troops are employed together. Anybody who reads the report will see that, however fine might be the patriotic ardour and keeness of Canada at a given moment, troops hastily improvised from such material can only be placed by a General against trained troops with very considerable caution.

'Well, then again, in regard to Australia, there was a military Committee of Inquiry which was assembled last year by the Commonwealth Government to report on the organization and the state of instruction of the guards of the various Australian States. Those reports point out much that I daresay might have been said with equal truth of our organization here no more than 15 or 20 years ago, but I hope we have progressed here. The troops vary very much in quality, and are deficient as regards the departmental corps which are necessary to accompany them in the field, Army Service Corps and Ordnance, and Army Medical Departments. In some States there are none. Victoria has only a reserve of 17 rounds of small arms ammunition per rifle. Western Australia only 28 rounds reserve, and again there has not been any military administrative staff to deal with supply or other arrangements, and only in one State is there periodical inspection of ammunition and warlike stores. The Engineer units do not receive a continuous annual training, and like the great variety of armaments and ammunition, anybody who reads those reports will see that however magnificent the material, however loyal and patriotic the feeling, you can only treat contingents which are got together on the spur of the moment, and hastily improvised, as a moral force, a moral support to the Empire at a critical moment, but not one on which the Empire would be justified in relying in any way to the exclusion of its own regular troops, and my point is that cases must and will arise in which we shall have to ask, in which we shall require a larger force than we have of our own, and in which the Colonies who send it in on the ground that they think us worthy of support in a particular emergency should be prepared to send us reliable forces.

'Now, your time is of value, and I do not want to enlarge on the many other features which are put before me by my military advisers on this subject, but what I would ask is this, that out of this very large number of men who are only trained in some degree in the Colonies, we must look, even if it was for only one in four to be specially trained, and to be held in readiness for such an emergency. I propose that those men should be trained with a liability to oversea service, that they should realize that they are a part of the Army Reserve of the Imperial Force, that their services are absolutely pledged in the event of the Government to which they belong proffering assistance to the Imperial Forces in the emergency. I would ask that they should receive such training as might be agreed upon between our military authorities and the Government concerned, and that they should be fully organized and fully equipped with a view to acting together and drilling together in the battalions of regiments with which they would take the field. I do not want to go into the details of the question, because I think perhaps it is a question where we want first to have the principle decided. I do not want to go into the questions of what their status would be with regard to other corps; whether there should be any attachment to the regiments at home; whether there should be any exchange of units which has often been talked about, and was talked about at this Conference in 1897; whether the officers who are to accept service in this particular force should have any claim on Imperial Commissions.

'All those I think are questions which we must take up and deal with, but of course, there is the great question of expenditure. I would point out that this is not a large financial question. The number of men asked for is so comparatively small that it is unlikely that there would be a difficulty in getting men to pledge themselves, and the reserve pay which we give after all only amounts to £9 per man per annum. That reserve pay, over a force of 20,000 men, would only amount to £180,000 a year over the whole of the Colonies, and I am by no means prepared to say, in looking to the last paragraph of Mr. Seddon's motion, that it would not be a fair thing to ask the Imperial Government to assist in that respect in case they really had a call on these troops. Of course, if these troops are entirely under the control of the Colonial Government, and if their Colony says, which it very possibly would, "We will not pledge ourselves to send you any men until we know the emergency and until we have the assent of our Parliament for agreeing to take part in that particular emergency,' it would probably be held that so long as the Colonial Government kept the control as to the employment of the troops, they should pay them. For ourselves, if it is held that any troops are part of our recognized Army Reserve, I think it would not be unreasonable for the Imperial Exchequer to bear some portion of the charge. I will not develop the question further, but I would point out that when I have spoken of £180,000 divided between the whole of the Colonies, I am speaking of a relatively small figure compared to that which has been recently added to our Estimates. On a most careful review by the Cabinet of the necessities of the case within two years—the years 1900 and 1901—we have added no less than £9,000,000 sterling to the Peace Estimates for the Army, and therefore the expenditure which I suggest may possibly not be grudged by the Colonies, though I think it may be met by retrenchment in some other quarters. In respect of figures it would only represent an expenditure in the whole of the Colonies of one-fiftieth of the sum which, in two years, the Imperial Government has had to take upon its shoulders. I would only urge before I sit down that these proposals are dictated not in the least by any idea of entering into an ambitious competition with other nations as to the extent of our land armaments. But up to now Great Britain has always been the last in the field. We cannot afford to be the last in the field. If we are forced into defensive action for any of our dependencies we are bound to be able to strike as quickly or quicker than any other Powers. That is the object of the whole of our present organization at the War Office, which has advanced most rapidly within the last two or three years, and I sincerely trust that the Colonial Governments may see their way to giving us, in this particular form, the support which they have given us in so unstinted a manner under the circumstances of the late war.'

FRENCH AND ENGLISH.

1. Translate into French:—

The warders, struck with his rich attire and noble countenance, suffered him to approach the ground over which the queen was to pass somewhat closer than was permitted to ordinary spectators. Thus the adventurous youth stood full in Elizabeth's eye when a trifling accident happened which attracted her attention towards him yet more strongly. The night had been rainy, and just where the young gentleman stood, a small quantity of mud interrupted the queen's passage. As she hesitated to pass on, the gallant, throwing his cloak from his shoulders, laid it on the miry spot, so as to ensure her passing over it dryshod. Elizabeth looked at the young man, who accompanied this act of devoted courtesy with a profound reverence, and a blush that overspread his whole countenance. The queen was confused and blushed in her turn, nodded her head, hastily passed on, and embarked in her barge without saying a word.

ENTRÉE DE MARMONTEL AU COLLÈGE.

Je fus logé selon l'usage du collège, avec cinq autres écoliers, chez un honnête artisan de la ville, et mon père, assez triste de s'en aller sans moi, m'y laissa avec mon paquet et des vivres pour la semaine: ces vivres consistaient en un gros pain de seigle, un petit fromage, un morceau de lard et deux ou trois livres de bœuf; ma mère y avait ajouté une douzaine de pommes. Voilà, pour le dire une fois, qu'elle était toutes les semaines la provision des élèves les mieux nourris du collège. Notre bourgeoise nous faisait la cuisine et, pour sa peine, son logement et même les légumes de son petit jardin qu'elle mettait au pot, nous lui donnions, par tête, vingt-cinq sous par mois; en sorte que, tout calculé, hormis mon vêtement, je pouvais coûter à mon père de quatre à cinq louis par an. C'était beaucoup pour lui, et il me tardait de lui épargner cette dépense.

SHORTHAND (80 words a minute).

Despite commercial depression, there is a spirit of hopefulness in the people. Colonists are seldom otherwise than optimistic. But on] every hand there is a demand for a policy that will bring permanence to commercial conditions, and which is wisely] taking the form of a call for an addition to the agricultural population.

Judging from the experience of Canada and] New South Wales, that appears to offer the only reliable remedy to the discouraging commercial situation. The study of the] conditions throughout the world prove that no country can hope to flourish on only one industry and more especially if it is of a mining character. To expect South Africa to prosper because millions of value in the products of the mines are exported annually is contrary to all economic laws. The development of the agricultural possibilities of South Africa is more important than all the mining opportunities that may be capable of development on the continent. Wealth derived from the cultivation of the soil in any country invariably remains a permanent asset. South Africa can more readily support millions of population in its agricultural possibilities between Table Mountain and the Zambesi than Canada can between Winnipeg and the Rocky Mountains. Established facts are agricultural development and intensification in farm culture will create new markets, and bring in its train the establishment of manufacturing industries, without which no country can hope to have attained the full measure of its strength or power.

In promoting agricultural settlement, natural and climatic difficulties may have to be overcome in certain districts, but science has mastered these elsewhere. Prejudices may have to be allayed incident to the introduction of a new agricultural population, but statesmanship and patriotism can solve that difficulty.

The whites of South Africa may abandon all hope of solving the native problems on proper lines, or even of maintaining their influence with the native population, unless there is considerable addition to their own forces. To fail in their responsibilities on this point is to abandon duties that have become national in their character and magnitude.

British statesmen and British capitalists are alike interested in every phase of this South African question. They all have much at stake in the future of this country. Every colony would welcome South Africa joining in the march of material prosperity that has marked colonial development and government in the other British possessions during recent years.

AUDIT OFFICE. Ottawa, June 4, 1907.

SIR,—I inclose herewith copy of a letter which I have sent to the Deputy Minister of Militia and Defence in reference to advances on account of Ross Rifle contract and have to request that you will bring the matter to the attention of the Treasury Board at your earliest convenience.]

According to the ruling of the Department of Justice the government is obliged to advance to the contractor all amounts expended by him on labour and materials entering into the manufacture of the rifles, up to 75 per cent of the cost of the rifle. These advances have been made from time to time and payment in full has also been made for all rifles delivered and accepted by the government, but the contractor has failed to fill his part of the contract as out of five alleged orders, the first for 12,000 rifles and the next four for 10,000 each, he has completed only one order, viz., the second one. There are 3,000 of the first order undelivered, 3,000 of the third order and the whole of the fourth and fifth orders undelivered, while advances have been made of the full 75 per cent on the first four orders and $84,941.04 on the fifth order, and, so far as I am aware, no steps have been taken by the government to enforce the fulfilment of the contract, while the contractor is claiming further advances on the fifth order.

I have directed the Deputy Minister of Militia and Defence to refrain from using his Letter of Credit for the purpose of making further advances and would respectfully suggest that you advise him to the same effect. In the issue of certificates for further credits in his favour I shall issue them only on condition that this restriction be observed and, if he decides to make further advances, direct application for audit before payment must be made to this office.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

DEPARTMENT OF MILITIA AND DEFENCE, OTTAWA, June 4, 1907.

SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, with further reference to the question of advances to the Ross Rifle Company,] and shall lay it, and all the correspondence which has passed between your department and this with reference to this subject, before my minister immediately] upon his return from the Colonial Conference. In the meantime, in compliance with your request, I forward copies of orders given from time to time] to the Ross Rifle Company for rifles.

As regards the first order for 12,000 rifles, the contract with the Ross Rifle] Company, of which you have a copy, is the order.

I forward, herewith, a copy of a letter to the Ross Rifle Company from my] predecessor, dated November 22, 1904. This letter has been accepted by the minister and the Ross Rifle Company as an order] for 20,000 rifles, in addition.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

The Auditor General.

SHORTHAND (120 words a minute).

Lying in Portsmouth Harbour is a fine old ship, which brings back to our mind the first Admiral who ever lived. The ship is the Victory, on board which the] brave Admiral Nelson was killed, nearly a hundred years ago, in the great fight at rafalgar.

Before a boy is passed as a sailor, he has to serve some time] on a training-ship, where, among other things, he has to learn how to handle a rifle and cutlass, and to help with the firing of the big guns. While] he joins his ship he is told off to some special work. Perhaps he acts as a messenger or a bugler, until the time comes when he is rated as] an ordinary seaman. Would you like to know how the sailors pass their time on board ship? Soon after daybreak they turn out, lash up their hammocks, take them] on deck and stow them away in the nettings. Then they wash, have breakfast and are inspected by one of the officers. After breakfast they go to their work,] practice seamanship or gunnery, and have rifle and cutlass drill. At a quarter to twelve the decks are cleared up, and at noon dinner is ready. After dinner there is] more work till four, when supper is served; and soon afterwards the men are free to do as they like, and pass the time in spinning yarns, writing home or] singing. At half-past seven or eight, hammocks are piped down, and those who wish can turn in. About an hour afterwards lights are put out and only those men] who have to work the great ship, or to keep watch, remain awake.

There are many dangers on the sea and sailors have to be careful as well as brave.] Sometimes a poor fellows falls overboard, and then his mates hasten to throw him a lifebelt, so that he can keep himself afloat until they launch a boat. The] pilot is a very important person who guides the vessel into port. The coastguard is generally an old sailor, who lives on shore, and watches our coasts.

TRANSLATION FROM ENGLISH INTO FRENCH.

[Time: 2½ hours.]

N.B.—Render the meaning as exactly as possible, paying attention also to form. A literal translation must be frequently inaccurate.

Translate into French.

(a) In the United States, the control of administration is the prize of victory in a Presidential election, and the vanquished faction gets no chance of office for four years; but it can make its influence felt in legislation. The Speaker of the House of Representatives, who is one of the managers of the party dominant in that Chamber, will take care that there is a majority of his own associates on every one of the important committees by which the Acts of Congress are shaped. But he would not venture to exclude his opponents altogether. The composition of the committees is supposed to correspond roughly to that of the House; so that, in each of these legislative councils, there will be a quota of members of the defeated party, able to take some part in the moulding of legislation. The right of the minority may not in practice amount to very much, but it is at any rate not ignored. Similarly, in the French Chamber, the various bureaux are supposed to be fairly selected from the different groups of which the assembly is composed.

(b) It would have been remarkable indeed if many orders had gone abroad under such discouragement. Meanwhile the home demand was increasing fast; a mighty continent was to be subdued to the service of man; the natural increase of population was supplemented by hosts of immigrants; and no materials to-day contribute more to economic development than iron and steel. They were required for machinery, engines, locomotives, rails, bridges, and ships; now, in addition, steel is in demand for the huge trucks employed in the transportation of heavy goods in the United States, and also for buildings. No country in the world utilizes steel so much for building purposes as the United States. At present it is the rule in America to construct tall edifices in the form of steel cage-works with walls which consist of brickwork or masonry and are built in between the steel pillars, to serve as shields against the weather and not as supports. Steel being demanded on so large a scale, it is not surprising that it is now produced on a scale unequalled in any spot in Europe.

DOMINION COMMERCIAL LEGISLATION.

(c) In the British North America Act of 1867, 'the exclusive legislative authority of the parliament of Canada' was recognized as extending to 'all matters' included in 'the regulation of trade and commerce,' 'the raising of money by any mode or system of taxation,' 'navigation and shipping' 'currency and coinage,' 'banks and banking.' (b)

The extent to which the powers conferred by this statute were immediately acted upon will be apparent on referring to the first customs act passed by the dominion parliament, 31 Vic., c. 7. But the term 'exclusive,' above cited, is not to be understood as limiting the inherent legislative powers of the Imperial parliament.

And although for a time the restriction upon the imposition of differential duties continued to be enforced, at least to the extent of requiring the governor-general to reserve any bills of this nature for the special consideration of her Majesty's government, yet upon the issue of revised instructions to the Marquis of Lorne, upon his assumption of the government of Canada, in October, 1878, these directions were omitted, and the Imperial government were content to rely upon the prerogative right of disallowance, as a sufficient security against the enactment of any measures, by the parliament of Canada, that should be of such a character as to call for the interposition of the royal veto.

(b) See the B.N.A. Act, 1867, sec. 91.

TRADUCTION DU FRANCAIS EN ANGLAIS.

(Temps alloué, 2 heures et demie.)

N.B.—Rendre le sens aussi exactement que possible, tout en soignant la forme. Une traduction littérale ne peut être toujours juste.

(a) Comme tout corps délibérant, le Conseil des ministres doit avoir un président Chez nous, on peut même dire qu'il en a deux, de telle sorte que tantôt l'un tantôt l'autre, selon les cas et d'après certaines règles, préside à ses délibérations: l'un est le ministre qui porte le titre officiel de président du Conseil des ministres, l'autre est le Président de la République.

En Angleterre, nous le savons, il en est autrement. Par suite d'une tradition bien établie et plus que séculaire, le monarque n'y préside jamais les Conseils de cabinet, mais bien le premier ministre; et c'est, en principe, seulement par l'intermédiaire de ce dernier que le monarque communique avec le Cabinet. Mais en France, lorsque le gouvernement parlementaire s'introduisit avec la monarchie constitutionnelle, cette règle ne se fit point recevoir. Sous la Restauration, où les souvenirs et l'étiquette de l'ancien régime exerçaient encore une grande influence, la règle s'établit naturellement que le Conseil des ministres délibérait en présence et sous la présidence du roi. Cette pratique se maintint sous la Monarchie de Juillet; mais en même temps s'affirma le principe que le Cabinet pouvait délibérer à part, hors de la présence du Chef de l'Etat, lorsqu'il le jugeait convenable. Casimir Périer revendiqua même ce droit avec une netteté particulière.

n'ont pas plus d'intérêt à leurs chances de gain qu'à leurs risques de pertes?

(c) RICHESSE COMMERCIALE ET INDUSTRIELLE DE LA PROVINCE DE QUÉBEC.

La richesse matérielle de la province de Québec, au point de vue commercial et industriel, les statistiques suffisent pour la constater.

C'est à plus de 200 millions de francs que s'élève tous les ans la seule exportation de Québec (1). Quelles richesses cette province livre-t-elle donc en si grande abondance à l'étranger? Ce sont celles surtout que lui fournit la nature même, et que lui procure sa situation pour ainsi dire privilégiée. Ce sont ses forêts, d'où sort chaque année une valeur de 50 millions de francs; ce sont ses pêcheries maritimes et fluviales, ce sont ses mines, c'est son industrie, c'est surtout enfin l'agriculture qui, en produits directs ou en transit, fait sortir annuellement par ses ports une valeur de 100 millions de francs.

L'industrie ne fait que naître, mais elle est déjà florissante, et donne un démenti à ceux qui accusent les Canadians d'inactivé et de stagnation.

La plus importante de beaucoup est l'industrie des cuirs; elle occupe à elle seule 22,000 ouvriers et ses produits fournissent le tiers de l'exportation totale des objets manufacturés. Son centre principal est Québec, où, dans cette partie de la ville basse qui s'étend le long de la rivière Saint-Charles, se pressent de nombreuses et importantes manufactures.

Vient ensuite le sciage des bois, ayant son centre à Hull et à Ottawa, et qui fournit encore un gros chiffre à l'exportation; une foule d'autres industries enfin, plus modestes dans leur développement, mais dont l'ensemble donne un total important.
